Towels at $20 a piece are among the luxuries shown beneath glass cases in some of the linen stores. They do not seem of the linen stores. They do not seem even distantly related to the heap of huckaback and damask which the flingers of the multitude handle on the bargain counter. They are as line as slik, the bird's eye weave of the background close and soft. They are big affairs. They have drawn work as delicate as lace, and embroidery almost as fine as that on christening robes for their adornment. Sometimes the embroidery is of pale pink and blue, but usually it is in linen tints. But it would require a multi-millionaire to use them without feeling that she was committing a descoration as well as an extravagance.
