Call on J. F. Armstrong for coal. He handles the best grades at lowest prices.

Mr. Collishaw, representing the Imperial Oil Company, has been in town this week.

Rev. R. O. Morse, class of '91, was married at Peabody, Mass., on 29th ult. to Miss Nettie Saunders.

Kings College, Windsor, is to have a course of lectures this winter. They are to be delivered in Convocation Hall.

It is reported that the last meeting of the Acadia Athenaeum society was one of special interest. Dr. Jones gave one of his able addresses.

Rev. Z. L. Fash, class of '91, publishes a Thanksgiving Sermon in the Liverpool Advertiser. The sermon was preached at a Union Thanksgiving service in Liverpool, where Mr. Fash is pastor of the Baptist church.

The Rhetorical Exhibition of the Junior class will be given in College Hall on Tuesday evening, 18th inst. As the class is large and contains many ladies and gentlemen of ability, it is expected the exhibition will be of a high order.

But a small audience greeted the Harmonic Concert Co., at their entertainment in College Hall on Friday evening last. Those who did go, were well satisfied with the concert. The quartette singing was excellent, and the solos by Mr. Newman and Mrs. Taylor were much enjoyed.

It is probable that the Athenaeum society of Acadia University will not be able to secure a lecturer for the month of December. The committee have corresponded with several leading Liberal politicians, but owing to the impending elections and numerous meetings in different parts of the provinces, they are unable to secure a speaker. Explanations and announcements will be made later.

The first of a course of lectures, arranged for this winter by the members of Wolfville Division, S. of F., was held on Monday evening in the Baptist church. The speaker on this occasion was Geo. E. Corbett, Esq., of Annapolis, his subject being "The Evils of Intemperance, and the Way Out." The church was well filled. Mr. Corbett is a practical and forcible speaker, and held the close attention of the audience for over an hour.

As a temperance speaker he has the advantage of knowing whereof he speaks, and the experiences he related of his life before and since he associated himself with the temperance movement were very interesting. Mr. Corbett is an active business man of Annapolis, and an energetic and faithful temperance worker. At the close of his remarks, Rev. Wm. Brown, of Lower Horton, was called on and responded with a short and stirring address. Excellent music was furnished by the choir of the church and others.

Mr. W. A. Reid, Dressmaker, will be in Wolfville every Tuesday from 10.30 a. m. till 4.30 p. m., at his residence of Mrs. B. Palmer, to take orders. If

Shall We Have One?

We have heard several of our prominent young men talking of late, with reference to the advisability of organizing a debating society. There is no question as to the usefulness of such an organization. No better way of bringing out the ideas, and instilling new ones into the mind of our young men, can be had than an institution of this kind. In this day, when the issues of politics, and the various social problems are being so much discussed, it is the privilege and duty of every young man to be posted, and qualified to form an opinion on these matters. The young men of to-day are soon to legislate for the country, and to wield the sceptre of law and justice. Organizations of this kind are being conducted in many of the towns and villages throughout this province, with interest and profit to the members. Many of our prominent lawyers, orators and politicians trace their first effort to societies of this kind. Why should not Wolfville have one? We are behind in hardly anything. Let us hear what the young men have to say on the question.

MR. EDITOR,—In a late issue of the ACADIAN I strove to impress the people of this community with the benefit of a college education in conducting a physical contest. The educated man also possesses a great advantage in the important field of literature. The inferiority of a literary article composed by one not college bred, can be readily noted even by the most careless observer. The weakness of the uneducated lies chiefly in their inability to use classical words. It is seldom that a production of the unlettered averages more than two or three classical words to the line. In the last issue of the Acadia Athenaeum appears an editorial article which averages five. Knowing that the excellence of an author depends upon his ability to use classical words, an individual had either better seek a college education or give up all hopes of a literary career.

The same article intimates that some of our citizens, through the columns of the ACADIAN, are assuming an hostile position towards the young men of Acadia. If you have not the learning of a Milton, I bid you, oh citizen, beware! With your insignificant Saxon words, such as bee-hive or bridge, you will only appear an object of contempt to the "college fraternity." The young Acadia student can competently sit down to his classical Lexicon, copy out a few words and you are overcome.

VIGIL!

Cold in the head—Nasal Balm gives instant relief; speedily cures. Never fails.

There is some talk of holding an International Historical Exhibition in 1897, to commemorate the 400th anniversary of the discovery of Canada by Cabot. Toronto is agitating the matter, expecting the exhibition to be held in that city.
