John Was Huffed.

In the olden time a woman in the north of Scotland went to visit her hus-band, who was condenned to be hanged on the following day. The doomed man began to give his last instructions to his wife preparatory to bidding her fare-well, when all at once she broke in upon the conversation, and exclaimed: "By the well, when all at once she broke in upon the conversation, and exclaimed: "By the by, John, whair will I plant the tatties this year?" The unfortunate man, as may be imagined, grew exceedingly in-dignant at the indifference of his wife, and exclaimed, angrily: "What need I care whaur ye plant them?. The mo like-ly to need ony o' tiem." "Hech," repliet the woman, turning to the warder with a wag of the head, "oor John's luffed because he's gaun to be hanged the morn." and marched out of the call.
