POETRY. TWO DOROTHY'S.

A little maid with downcast cyes, And folded hands and serious face, Who walks sedately down the street, Her dainty dress all smooth and neat, Each curl and ribbon in its place :

A dove-like maid with brow demure, Beneath her bonnet's shady brim, Who quiet sits within her pew, And gravely reads the service through, And joins in every hymn ;

The sweetest maid that could be found From Cuba to the Bay of Fundy ; A flower, the loveliest that springs, A saint, an angel without wings, -That's Dorothy on Sunday.

A little maid, in breathless haste, With glowing cheeks and tangled hair, Who races up and down the street. And with her skipping, tripping feet Is here, and there, and everywhere ;

A saucy maid, with cap askew Upon her rumpled yellow curls, With twinkling feet and chattering tongu And breezy skirts about her swung In swift, ecstatic whirls

The merriest maid that ever shocked The servile slaves of Mrs. Grundy . A bird, a spark of dawning light; A romp, a rogue, a witch, a sprite, -That's Dorothy on Monday. -MARGARET JOHNSON, in St. Nicholas for July.

When the heart is filled with love to God, there is no room for sin. But, young man, to you I owe not only an obligation, in common with those you saved this evening on the mountain, but my thanks for your respectful and pious manner in assisting in the service at a most embarrassing moment. I should be happy to see you sometimes at my dwelling, when perhaps my conversation may strengthen you in the path which you appear to have chosen."
