In consequence there was no electripower through the city up to noon The cars have not run since last night and all industries operated by dynamos are at a standstill. The Quebec Chronicle was not printed until this afternoon owing to the lack of power The pontoon of the Quebec and Levis Ferry company was swept from its noorings and carried across the river where it crashed into the sheds of the St. Lawrence Navigation company, completely wrecking both. Damage was done in the neighborhood of fifteen thousand.

The government steamer Druid was struck by another portion of the pontoon and slightly damaged, and it in turn, struck the steamer Canadienne, which also suffered injury while the launch of the government steamer was swamped. The fierce gale lashed the river several feet higher than the average height and dozens of barges are high and dry along the flats and will have to remain in their present positions until the high tides next spring. One schooner laden with potatoes was carried completely over the tracks of the Q. R. L. & P. Co., while
