

A PRECIOUS INHERITANCE.

CHAPTER XXI.

The Sisters.

Her struggle had been a terrible one, and it was not over yet, for with her it was more than a matter of pride and love. Her daughter's rights had been set at naught; a wrong had been done to death; the child who slept beneath the pine had been neglected; nay, in life, had been, perhaps, despised for an intruder, for one who had no right to call her grandmother; and shuddering she cried, "Why was it suffered thus to be?" Then, as she thought of white-haired Hagar Warren, she raised her hand to curse her, but the words died on her lips, for Hagar's deed had brought to her much joy; and now, as she remembered the bounding step, the merry laugh, the sunny face, and loving words, which had made her later years so happy, she involuntarily stretched out her arms in empty air, moaning sadly, "I want her here. I want her now, just as she used to be." Then, over the grave of her buried daughter, over the grave of the sickly child, whose thin, blue face came up before her, just as it lay in its humble coffin, over the deception of eighteen years, her heart bounded within one wild, yearning throb, for every bleeding fibre clung with a death-like grasp to her, who had been so suddenly taken from her.

"I love her still," she cried, "but can I take her back?" And then commenced the fiercest struggle of all, the battling of love and pride, the one rebelling against a child of Hagar Warren, and the other clamoring loudly, that without that child the world to her was nothing. It was the hour of Madam Conway's humiliation, and in bitterness of spirit she groaned, "That I should come to this! The first, and Margaret, my bright, my beautiful Margaret next. Oh, how can I give her up when I love her, best of all—best of all!"

This was true, for all the deeper, stronger love of Madam Conway's nature had gone forth to the merry, gleeful girl whose graceful, independent bearing she had so often likened to herself, and the haughty race with which she claimed relationship. How was this illusion dispelled? Margaret was not a Conway, nor yet a Devonport. A servant girl had been her mother, and of her father there was nothing known. Madam Conway was one who seldom wept for grief. She had stood calmly at the bedside of her dying husband, had buried her only daughter from her sight, had met with many reverses, and shed for all no tears, but now they fell like rain upon her face, burning, blistering, as they fell, but bringing no relief.

"I shall miss her in the morning," she cried, "miss her at noon, miss her in the lonesome nights, miss her everywhere—oh, Margaret, Margaret, 'tis more than I can bear! Come back to me now, just as you are. I want you here—here where the pain is hardest," and she clasped her arms tightly over her heaving bosom. Then her pride returned again, and with it came thoughts of Arthur Carrollton. He would scoff at her as weak and sentimental; he would never take beyond the sea a bride of Hagarish birth; and duty demanded that she, too, should be firm, and sanction his decision. "But when he's gone," she whispered, "when he has left America behind, I'll find her, if my life is spared. I'll find poor Margaret, and see that she does not want, though I must not take her back."

Sluggish Liver Action

Causes indigestion, constipation and bilious headache—Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills the cure.

"Sluggish liver has been my trouble," writes Mrs. I. F. Smith, Paris, Ont., "and I have been greatly benefited by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have taken medicines from several good doctors, but none ever did me the same amount of good as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, as I could not keep up and do my work if I did not use these pills when the bilious spells come on, and I have recommended them to many."

"Dr. Chase's medicines were about the only kind that came into my father's house 40 or 50 years ago, and they were always satisfactory."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are prompt, definite and direct in their action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, and are therefore the most effective treatment obtainable for biliousness, indigestion and constipation. 25 cents a box, 5 for $1.00, at all dealers, or Wm. PROMINENT RAILROAD MAN

STRONGLY ADVISES HIS FRIENDS TO TRY GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

"I have been a Pullman Conductor on the C. P. R. and Michigan Central during the last three years. About four years ago, I was laid up with intense pains in the groin, a very sore back, and suffered most severely when I tried to urinate. I treated with my family physician for two months for gravel in the bladder but did not receive any benefit. About that time I met another railroad man who had been cured by taking Gin Pills, after having been given up by a prominent physician who treated him for Diabetes. He is now running on the road and is perfectly cured. He strongly advised me to try Gin Pills which I did, with the result that the pains left me entirely. FRANK S. IDE, BUFFALO, N. Y. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50. Sample free. her lips, when a footfall echoed along the hall, and Arthur Carrollton stood before her. His face was very pale, bearing marks of the storm he had passed through, but he was calm, and his voice was natural as he said: "Possibly what we have heard is false. It may be a vagary of Hagar's half-crazed brain."

For an instant Madam Conway had hoped so, too, but when she reflected, she knew that it was true. Old Hagar had been very minute in her explanations to Margaret, who, in turn, had written exactly what she had heard, and Madam Conway, when she recalled the past, could have no doubt that it was true. She remembered everything, but more distinctly the change of dress, at the time of the baptism. There could be no mistake. Margaret was not hers, and so she said to Arthur Carrollton, turning her head away as if she, too, were in some way answerable for the disgrace.

"It matters not," he replied, "whose she has been. She is mine now, and if you feel able, we will consult together as to the surest method of finding her."

A sudden faintness came over Madam Conway, and while the expression of her face changed to one of joyful surprise, she stammered out, "Can it be I hear aright? Do I understand you? Are you willing to take poor Maggie back?"

"I certainly have no other intention," he answered. "There was a moment of the memory of which makes me ashamed, when my pride rebelled; but it is over now, and though Maggie cannot in reality be again your child, she can be my wife, and I must find her."

"You make so so happy, oh, so happy!" said Madam Conway. "I feared you would cast her off, and in that case it would have been my duty to do so, though I never loved a human being as at this moment I love her."

Mr. Carrollton looked as if he did not fully comprehend the woman, who, loving Margaret as she did, could yet be so dependent upon his decision; he made no comment, and when next he spoke he announced his intention of calling upon Hagar, who she possibly could tell him where Margaret had gone. "At all events," said he, "I may ascertain why the secret, so long kept, was at this late day divulged. It may be well," he continued, to say nothing to the servants as yet, save that Maggie has gone. Mrs. Jeffrey, however, had better be let in to the secret at once. We can trust her, I think."

Madam Conway bowed, and Mr. Carrollton left the room, starting immediately for the cottage by the mine. As he approached the house, he saw the servant who for several weeks had been staying there, and who now came out to meet him, telling him that since the night before Hagar had been having crazy, talking continually of Maggie, who she said, "had gone where none would ever find her."

In some anxiety, Mr. Carrollton pressed on, until the cottage door was reached, where for a moment he stood gazing silently upon the poor woman before him. Upon her bed, her white hair falling over her round, bent shoulders, her large eyes shining with delirious light, old Hagar sat, weaving back and forth, and talking of Margaret, of Hester, and "the little foolish child," who, with a sneer upon her lip, she said, "was a fair specimen of the Conway race."

"Hagar," said Mr. Carrollton, "at the sound of that voice Hagar turned toward him her flashing eyes, then with a scream, buried her head in the bed clothes, saying: "Go away, Arthur Carrollton! Why are you here? Don't you know who I am? Don't you know what Margaret is, and don't you know how proud you are?"

"Hagar," he said again, subduing, by a strong effort, the repugnance he felt at questioning her, "I know all, except where Margaret has gone, and if on this point you can give me any information, I shall receive it most thankfully."

"Gone!" shrieked Hagar, starting up in bed; "then she has gone. The play is played out, the performance is ended and I sinned for nothing!"

"Hagar, will you tell me where Maggie is? I wish to follow her," said Mr. Carrollton; and Hagar answered, "Maggie, Maggie—he said that lovingly enough, but there's a catch somewhere. He does not wish to follow her for any good—and though I know where she has gone, I'll surely never tell. I kept one secret for nineteen years. I can keep another as long."

Besides quickly curing this trouble, Douglas' Egyptian Liniment has proved its worth in both human and animal disorders, such as rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, sprains, burns and inflammations. have someone with her besides that vexatious Jeffrey."

Mr. Carrollton promised compliance with her request, and then went immediately to the depot, where he learned that no one had entered the cars from that place on the previous night, and that Maggie, if she took the train at all, must have done so at some other station.

London Boys to Learn Trades in Training Ships

Lord Northampton's Novel and Attractive Scheme Seems Almost Certain to be Realized.

London, May 1.—Before long, it is hoped, there will be established on the Thames, off Temple Bar, if the Government is sympathetic, a training ship, in which boys in "blind alley" world—van boys, errand boys, messengers, junior clerks, etc.—will learn the rudiments of some skilled trade. Lord Northampton's scheme is novel and attractive.

The ship—when it has been procured—will be fitted with club-rooms, reading room and gymnasium. Workshops will be fitted up on board, and the boys will be taught such useful trades as carpenter, wheelwright, coach builder, blacksmith, farrier, saddler, harness-maker, etc.

Friday will be an off-night, and will be given up to concerts and lectures, while on alternate Saturdays there will be route marches on shore. It is proposed to form the boys into a corps to be known as the "Imperial Marine Artificers," and for the first year it is intended to limit the number to 300 non-commissioned officers and artificer apprentices, although it is possible that provision may be made for 100 more boys.

It is estimated that the annual cost of the corps, including wages, maintenance of the ship, and all other expenditure, will be £1,395. Already half of the money required for the initial outlay has been privately promised, and an appeal is to be made to the citizens of London to provide the balance. It is hoped that the Government will assist the scheme to the extent of supplying a ship.

Neuralgia and Sciatica

Caused great suffering for 25 years. Nothing effective until Dr. Chase's Nerve Food Medicines were used.

"It affords me pleasure to speak favorably of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills," writes Mr. W. T. Collins, Morpeth, Ont. "I have been a sufferer for 25 years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried nearly all the remedies advertised without one particle of benefit until I began the use of Dr. Chase's medicines. Before I had finished two boxes of the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I noticed considerable benefit in my condition. I have so much confidence in these medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends."

In severe cases of this nature the combined use of these medicines brings results which are both surprising and satisfactory. The Kidney-Liver Pills regulate the action of kidneys, liver and bowels, while the Nerve Food enriches the blood and builds up the nervous system. Wm. H. Ransom, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BAKED UDDERS CURED IN 24 HOURS BY DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN LINIMENT

Here is the opinion of Mr. Robert Harkness, a leading resident of Tamworth, Ont.:

"Having had wonderful success with Douglas' Egyptian Liniment on my stock, I feel it my duty to write you. Our cattle were troubled with caked udders, so bad in fact that we thought they would lose the use of them. We applied the Liniment but twice, and in twenty-four hours we could milk without any trouble."

"When anything goes wrong in our home or stables, this excellent Liniment is always called for, and never fails to give instant relief."

Should this letter will catch the eye of those who are suffering from caked udders.

Besides quickly curing this trouble, Douglas' Egyptian Liniment has proved its worth in both human and animal disorders, such as rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, sprains, burns and inflammations. It has healed, without blood poisoning or other complication, serious wounds, sores and bruises. 25c at all dealers. Free sample on request. Douglas & Co., Napanee, Ont.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES GARGET IN COWS.

The Woman Who Courts Old Age.

(By Dr. Edith B. Lowry.)

If you would keep young, keep your mind active. An intellectual back number doubles her age. Keep your mind alert. Go some place where you will meet strangers, or at least people you are not well acquainted with. If you continually talk with the same people, you soon learn their opinions on all topics and there is no pleasure nor benefit to be derived from a conversation. That is why many husbands and wives find it impossible to keep up an interesting conversation if left alone for a few hours. Each has heard the opinions of the other so many times that there is nothing to be expressed. How different this would be if each had been talking with other people, or had been reading current literature and had some new ideas to express.

A woman owes it to her husband, to her children, and most of all to herself to keep mentally active. She is not doing her full duty to anyone when she allows her household tasks to absorb her entire time. Now do not mistake me and think I would have anyone neglect any real duties. That is farthest from my intention. But a woman can keep her house as well, nay even better, if at the same time she keeps her mind active. So many women settle down, become household drudges and lose their attractiveness soon after marriage. A man appreciates a good housekeeper, but he always values an enjoyable companion. As one man expressed it, "A man would rather go without a pie once in a while and have his wife meet him at the door with an attractive smile." Sometimes he would enjoy a bowl of bread and milk, if enlivened with cheerful conversation, more than he would an elaborate dinner when seated opposite a tired and fault-finding woman.

Cultivate Your Enthusiasm.

Take a real live interest in the things about you. Get enthusiastic! It won't hurt you to get quite excited in your enthusiasm once in a while. It is the dull, prosaic life, lived without interest, that ages one. You need a change.

Take some exercise. You need it. Many a woman would like to get out and play with her children, or the neighbor's children, but she is afraid of what the neighbors will say and so she sits indoors and grows old.

Never mind what your neighbors say. Do the things you would like to do and keep your youth. You, and you alone, are the creator of your destiny. It is you who is growing old.

In order to have time for both mental and physical exercise, plan your work carefully in the morning and then avoid hurry, worry and getting frustrated. Learn self-control, and if your well-laid plans seem to be going all awry, take the interruptions coolly. Fold your hands, if necessary until the interruption is over. Remember there is another day coming. Tomorrow will be better.

England May Regain Supremacy.

London, May 2.—England, which in the old days held the acknowledged supremacy of the world in almost all the rowing championships, hopes to regain the world's sculling title in a race which has just been arranged between Richard Armit, of New Zealand, and Ernest Barry, of England. The race between the two professionals will take place on the Thames, near London, on July 29.

The like of the coming match has not been rowed on English waters since 1896, when Jake Gaudaur, of Orillia, Ont., defeated J. Stanbury, of New South Wales.

English scullers were undefeated from the first race in 1851 until 1878, when New South Wales took the title. Since that day England has never owned a champion of the world, and has had but few scullers who have even thought it worth their while.

Prescription 'A'

Is the one and only genuine preparation that cures Indigestion and Dyspepsia in all its forms. It is quite a daily occurrence to hear a person say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache. I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing." I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach after eating, that is (if I am able to eat). My heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion, and I am just as tired when rising in the morning (even worse) than when retiring at night. I often awake in my sleep and imagine that I am going to suffocate, and very often afraid to go to sleep again. I have to take particular good care of what food I eat. All these symptoms make my life not worth living."

So, why do you insist on suffering from all these unnecessary symptoms when STAFFORD'S "Prescription 'A'" will do the work.

This genuine preparation is manufactured by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld.

FOR STICKING EVERYTHING. In patent pin-stopper tubes. Vest Pocket Size, 10 cents. Large Size Tubes, 20 cents.

SECCOTINE is an intensely strong adhesive for joining new or factory surfaces in wood, leather, iron, paper, pasteboard, cloth, glass, ivory, bone, etc., etc. It is unequalled for office use. Better than any other adhesive. It is immensely stronger than gums, pastes, a much smaller quantity required. It replaces glues and cements in the manufacture of small fancy articles. The general uses of SECCOTINE are too numerous to mention. A tube goes a very long way. It requires no heating or other preparation. Keeps for years, and always liquid and ready. It sticks to wood and cements all articles of all materials.
