Treasure Cave Of London.

Visit of the King and Queen—Underground Tour in the Wine Vaults—£250,000 Pile of Plumes.

The King and Queen, with Princess Mary, paid a long visit on Saturday afternoon to Dockland and spent two crowded hours among the treasure stores of London's commerce.

Their first visit was to the Cutler-street warehouse of the Port of London Authority, with its five golden acres of merchandise, an "Aladdin's Cave" with goods worth £3,000,000.

"In the large room devoted to cigars, principally from Havana and the Philippines, the King took great pleasure in speculating on the best brands. At one point he remarked, indicating a large bundle of half-crown cigars, bulging one either side of the hand with which they were tied, "Surely those are packed too tight." But on a closer examination he added, "Ah, I see they are green, so I suppose it won't matter very much."

In the tea department His Majesty was informed that the majority of the stores were from India and Ceylon.

"Personally," said the King to one of the storemen, "I prefer China tea, and nearly always drink it when I can obtain it. The flavour is more delicate." The Queen agreed.

The Queen and the Plumes.

The interest of the Queen and Princess Mary was aroused by a pile of gorgeous ostrich feathers. The value of the store was said to be a quarter of a million pounds.

The Queen was informed that the better feathers the largest, had gone down in price on account of the fact that the smaller plumes are now in fashion. Similarly the price of the smaller plumes had increased.

"I think that is a pity," said her Majesty. "The larger plumes are much prettier."

In the art department the King showed that he was a connoisseur. One of the conductors of the party said that most of the articles came from China. The King remarked, "Surely those carved ivories are from Japan, and very fine examples, too, of Japanese work."

Visit to the Wine Vaults.

From the Cutler Street warehouse they passed to the warehouses of the London Docks. Here they entered on what her Majesty described as "quite an adventure."

This was a visit to the underground wine vaults. Workmen had set up all night making special lamps for the party. In these vaults each visitor carries a safety lamp fixed to the end of a stick, to find the way in the darkness. The lamps are also used in order that the keeper of the vault may know how many people are in the vaults. Carrying these lamps, the royal party set out on their underground adventure, and afterwards they tasted some of the port.

While in the vaults the Queen was told of a famous rat-catcher of the vaults—a cat which had been locked up for the occasion. The Queen expressed her anxiety to see it. The rat was sent for and the cat released. It showed its joy by jumping up on Princess Mary's shoulder.

Daughter Of Erin.

To-morrow afternoon and night that well known Irish melo-drama will be staged by the R. I. & Dramatic Company. The performance promises to be the best yet and the names of those in the cast are sufficient assurance of that. A feature will be specialities between the acts by Mr. T. H. O'Neill, under whose direction the play is being produced, and by Mr. H. H. Goodridge and Mr. A. Summers. To-night the play will be finally released.

READ PAPER.—Mrs. John Campbell read an interesting paper on the "Wrongs of Women" at Saturday's meeting of the Current Events Club. At the close teas were served by Mrs. W. Fraser.

THE DOCTOR SAID "I CAN'T HELP YOU"

Suffered 10 Months with Kidney Complaint. Gin Pills Cured.

Dunvegan, Inverness Co.

I am perfectly cured of Kidney complaint after using Gin Pills. Six hours after taking the first Pill I obtained relief, and now after three months I feel as well as ever.

I suffered ten months and the Physician attending me advised me to go to the Victoria Hospital at Halifax, as he could do nothing more for me. I may add that I used a great deal of medicine, and strictly followed my physician's directions regarding diet, etc., but without avail, until providentially I learned of your most excellent remedy. I am recommending Gin Pills.

Its use insures the bread, biscuit and cake against contamination from the cheap, improper or injurious ingredients from which lower priced baking powders may be made.

S. U. F. At Middle Bight.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—The S.U.F. Lodge at Middle Bight, was the scene of a very happy event on Monday night, the 9th inst. When Bro. F. F. Furneaux, J.P., Past Master, was greeted with an agreeable surprise. The Worthy Master, Bro. R. Hibbs, having called the Lodge to order, informed Bro. Furneaux in a few appropriate words, that the Society was pleased to show some tangible recognition and appreciation of the long service rendered by him as Lay Reader in Foxtrap Mission, and proceeded to read the following address which was formally presented to Bro. Furneaux. His reply to which we also append.

Dear Bro. Furneaux.—We the members of the Society of United Fishermen's Lodge, No. 33, having learned with regret of your decision to retire from active work in All Saints Church, Foxtrap, and lay down the Lay Readership in which capacity you have so zealously laboured during the last thirty-seven years, feel that we cannot permit this opportunity to pass without placing on record and conveying to yourself in person, some evidence of our appreciation and heartfelt thanks for the long years of service so ungrudgingly given in God's service.

Standing at its close and looking back over more than a third of a century of faithful work, devoid of earthly recompense and too often hampered by this poor world's ingratitude, we see much in your career to inspire our own lives and prompt us to better deeds. In days of sickness and adversity you were ever ready to minister to the afflicted in body, as well as to keep the door of God's House open for Divine Service, and we feel that the motive which actuated you on behalf of Christ's Church and its congregation was that of a true Christian spirit, which will surely reap its reward in God's own best way.

In conclusion we ask you to accept this small gift, inadequate as it is, as a slight token of our esteem and regard, and it is our earnest hope that you may long be spared to enjoy, a rest well won, after life's work well done.

We are, on behalf of the S.U.F., your faithful friends and Brothers:

R. Hibbs, W. Master; Ed. Jones, C.O.; George Fagan, S.O.; Chas. Fagan, D.M.; S. Petten, L.O.; J. Perrin Purser; Reuben Butler, P.M.; Wm. Mercer, P.M.; Chas. Haines, P.M.; Fred Butler, P.M.; Jos. Butler, P.M.; Jos. Fagan, P.M.; Jas. Scott, P.M.; Wm. Fagan, P.M.; Jos. Dawe, P.M.; Ed. J. Kennedy, P.M.; Bros. C. R. Rendell, R. Haines, Ed. Tilley, Peter Greenslade, Wm. Anthony.

REPLY.

To the Worthy Master and Brethren of the Society of United Fishermen, Lodge 33.

Dear Brethren—I sincerely thank you for your flattering and kind address, and the beautiful easy chair you have presented to me. Your presentation was quite unexpected, and I value very highly the kind sentiment that prompted such an action.

As Lay Reader in the Mission of Foxtrap for over thirty-seven years it gave me great pleasure to perform that office, although I often thought myself unworthy to do so, and it is a very great happiness to me now, to see by your kind words and the beautiful present accompanying it that my services were appreciated. Hoping, dear Brethren, that the Society of United Fishermen, of which I am proud to be a member of, will by God's blessing for many years work in harmony and love together, and prosper in the good work they are joined together to perform, viz. to relieve the sick, the suffering, and those in distress, and I know such acts will be fully recompensed, perhaps not now but hereafter. As it is said in the Holy Bible, "Inasmuch as you did it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

Again thanking you for the address and easy chair, the latter I shall enjoy very much to rest in and will always be a reminder to me of your kindness and good fellowship.
I am, dear brethren,
Yours fraternally,
FRANCIS F. FURNEAUX.
