he would have insisted upon asking to be paid 28 cents per lb., and that he would not stand by and allow his firm to be put to a loss of $45,000. That at least is the conclusion I came to. I am now rather surprised to find that apparently this was done against the advice of Mr. Gosling. He states so, and I unhesitatingly accept his statement. I withdraw, qualification, the suggestion that the loss of $183,000 by Harvey & Company was saddled on the Colony by Mr. Gosling's advice, and have only to regret that those responsible for the conduct of the Food Control Board did not act upon his objection, and thereby save the taxpayers of the Colony $183,000.00 and so avoid their
