A Hotel-Keeper's Appeal.

About a week ago J. W. Martin, of the Hub restaurant, was fined $20 by Police Magistrate Parke for obstructing the view into his bar-room by means of a curtain. Mr. Martin decided to appeal from the decision of the magistrate, and yesterdy the appeal was heard before Judge E. Elliott. The evidence was again heard, and the case argued. The principal objection to the conviction was that the license commissioners had no power to pass such a regualation compelling hotel-keepers to draw their window-curtains back during prohibited hours. Judgment was reserved. T. Macbeth for appelant, T. G. Meredith for the chief of police, and J. B. The Oil Trade Bad.

A Petrolea dispatch says: The oil trade has been in a very unsatisfactory condition for the refluers for some time past and they have been running their establishments at a less. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Consumers' Oil Company, limited, held at London yesterday, it was decided to go into voluntary liquidation, because of the above-mentioned fact. The assets are reported to be considerably in excess of the liabilities, and it is expected that the creditors will be paid in full. Fred Wolfe and Wm. English were appointed liquidators.

London Lodge of the Ancient Order of the Mercer of th recitations and musical selections, was rendered by the scholars, who acquitted themselves very creditably. The pastor, Prof. Fowler, then delivered a brief address in his usual happy style, in which he referred, in commendatory terms, to the performance of the children, and emphasized the importance of training the young in the ways of truth and righteousness. He paid a tribute to the faithful and efficient manner in which the officers had performed their respective duties, and expressed himself as gratified at the growth of the school during the past year. A closing hynn was then sung and the benediction pronounced. Altogether the entertainment was much in advance of the congiven by the school last year. To Mr. Harry Roberts, the clorister of the school, great credit is due for the manner in which osolid keep them quiet then, eager as they were to receive their donations from the mysterious Santa Claus. Who the personator of this inimitable visitor at Christmas was is a mystery.
