At the meeting of the Young People's Society of the Presbyterian of Paris in Woodstock, Rev. Dr. Mackay, president of the Eastern Presbyterian Society, delivered a stirring opening address. The Awful Turk!

He Is Closely Watched.

Britain at the Dardanelles With a Strong Fleet.

Big Guns May Behold Destruction and Death.

The Lion's Power Must Give the Armenians Justice.

Brighter Days in Store for an Oppressed People.

October, 24.—Dispatches from the best European sources, assure us that the Turkish Government has not yet fully complied with the demands made by the powers for reforms in matters concerning the welfare of the oppressed Armenians, and crushed Armenians. England, urged by the united entreaties and prayers of her people, has taken a firm and determined stand, and maintains a powerful fleet near the entrance of the Dardanelles, ready to compel the cruel Turk to do justice to a people who have long groaned under terrible cruelties and injustices. We are informed that even if the British fleet were to fight against a combination—perhaps Turkey and Russia—they will not hesitate a moment, no matter what the cost of the struggle may be. While we sympathize with the oppressed Armenians, let our thoughts revert for a moment to our own enslaved and suffering people in this Canada of ours. They are numbered by thousands, and are in some respects more oppressed than the people so cruelly ruled by the bloodthirsty Turks. Instead of armored warships and batteries of modern artillery, as a means of delivery, our suffering people have only the Celery Compound, that God-given remedy that "makes people well." By the aid of Paine's Celery Compound—that strong deliverer and rescuer—every sick man and woman can be cured of the chains of disease. The rheumatic, neuralgic and dyspeptic soon find a cure. Headaches, sleeplessness and nervousness that make life a burden, are banished forever. A man who is nearing a grave from kidney and liver complaint, heart disease and the troubles that arise from impure and poisoned blood, are quickly released from sufferings and agonies; their lives are renewed, and a happy future placed before them. Are these results and grand physical reforms not worth looking after? A suffering and diseased individual will gladly consent with his whole fortune for health. The use of Paine's Celery Compound entails no such sacrifice. In very many cases a few bottles have sufficed to cure people who had been given up by the doctors. The record of Paine's Celery Compound in the past is a perfect guarantee of what it can do for all who seek for a new and better life. This wonderful medicine stands far above all other medicines in the world. When compared with the ordinary medicines of the day, it is as much superior to all as the diamond when compared with common glass. Paine's Celery Compound has proved a life-saver for many a man and woman when all other human means failed. Common sense, the claims of your family and the duty you owe to your friends and society call upon you to demand that you do as others have done. Use Paine's Celery Compound and make yourself happy and well.

ORGANIZED CHARITY.

Ways and Means of the Association's Establishment

Discussed by the Members of the Committee—How the Plan Works in Buffalo—Suggestions by Committee Members.

A meeting of the committee having in hand the consideration of the ways and means of forming the proposed organized association of charities was held in the city hall last evening. Miss Carling and Mrs. Levine were the only ladies present. The gentlemen in attendance were C. F. Compin, Dr. Arnot, T. R. Parker, Frank Plant, Adjutant Taylor, S. A., Warren Rodney, Ald. Wm. Heaman, Ald. Parnell, John Labatt, J. Pocock, Talbot Macbeth, and A. Talbot (secretary). Mr. Compin was chosen chairman.

Letters of regret at inability to attend were read from Ald. Geo. W. Armstrong, Joseph T. Marks, E. N. Tilley and A. Thompson. Mrs. Shuttleworth declining to act on the committee on account of her time being already so much occupied.

Mr. Compin stated that the meeting was called to take into consideration the financial aspect of the question. He asked Dr. Arnot if he had any suggestions to make.

Dr. Arnot said he had understood that some members were going to write to places where a similar scheme was in operation, and until they received that information he did not know how the committee could proceed. The doctor said that he had heard a good deal at the late meeting about charity overlapping. He did not think it would hurt if some of the cases worthy of charity did receive a little at times.

Very often they were subject to a great deal of "underlapping." The organization was not so much to prevent overlapping as to prevent poverty, and the time springing therefrom, which was fostered to a great extent by the indiscriminate and sometimes careless method of giving charity. The only financial suggestion he could make was that he knew a number of citizens who would be willing to subscribe for the first year at least. There was no doubt that the organization could be successfully conducted in a place the size of London. It was working successfully in about 300 American cities and towns, some having a population as low as four, five or six thousand. He also advocated the employment of an experienced man, such as an organizing secretary, for a short term in order to launch the organization successfully.

Mr. Talbot Macbeth said that from reading reports of other charity organizations he thought it could be conducted for $500 or $600 a year. Mr. Warren Rodney, superintendent of the Barber Paving Company's work in the city, gave a short outline of the plan of work in vogue in Buffalo. First he said that the committee named to deal with the matter of organizing was altogether too large. He advocated the formation of a sub-committee to draft a plan for raising money. The work in Buffalo was remarkably successful. It was a distributing organization entirely, and included a labor bureau, and men who were registered there were given preference on public works. The first money was raised by contributions from leading merchants. Anyone could become members of the society by paying a fee—$5 for a first-class membership and $2 for second-class.

T. R. Parker gave an interesting account of the workings of the Children's Aid Society, and the incidents of poverty met with by the society's agent.

Mr. J. Pocock, representing the Irish Benevolent Society, said he did not know whether the constitution of the society would permit of its affiliation with the proposed organization. It had been organized primarily to assist unfortunate arrivals from Ireland, and after a while had started the idea of Christmas cheer, principally because the people the society was most interested in were given the "cold shoulder" by other charitable bodies.

Mr. Pocock spoke of Mr. Sam Grigg's admirable talents in charitable work, and did not think it necessary to go outside the city for an expert. Adjutant Taylor, S.A., gave a detailed statement of the work of the Workmen's Hotel and showed how the army and the society could work harmoniously together.

T. R. Parker thought that if the organized charities could have a person to do the clerical work of the office that the agent of the Children's Aid Society could be associated with the outside work. The office would cost $400 or $500, and Mr. Sanders could be obtained for a couple of hundred dollars. This would make the minimum expense for the year about $700, as an office could be obtained free of charge in the city hall.

Ald. Parnell thought it was a wrong idea to spend a great deal of money in salaries which could be better used for purposes of charity.

Talbot Macbeth said that the visiting and investigating in societies, whose reports he had read, was done by "friendly visitors," free of charge.

Mr. Parker pointed out that Mr. Sanders was clothed in authority by the Ontario Government, and as a police officer could command respect. He said that a junior clerk could be employed at $25 or $30 a month to do the office work. In reply to a question he said that Mr. Sanders received $450 from the Humane and Children's Aid Societies.

Dr. Arnot said that there was nothing to prevent a smart girl or young man from doing the work at $30 a month—$150 for the six winter months. The other expense could not amount to more than $100 a month, for less than $300 the experiment could be tried. If it prevented six men from becoming paupers it was worth $1,000 a year.

Miss Carling said that there was a balance of $50 or $70 in the bank from last year's charity concert, and it was proposed to hold another concert shortly.

It was finally decided that Miss Carling and Mrs. Talbot Macbeth, with any other they wish to associate with them, make a canvass to ascertain whether the amount required for immediate work ($300) could be forthcoming, and that the committee meet again on Monday evening in the council chamber.

It was also decided to recommend that the membership fee be $1 per annum, instead of $2.

PARMELEE'S PILLS possess the power of acting specifically upon the diseased organs, stimulating to action the dormant energies of the system, thereby removing disease. In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the body. Dr. D. Carswell, of Carswell's postoffice, Ont., writes: "I have used Parmelee's Pills, and find them an excellent medicine, and one that will sell well."

WANTS A DIVORCE Because His Wife Refuses to Support Him.

Des Moines, Oct. 23.—Franklin M. Harrison, a prominent farmer, has sued for a divorce from his wife. He alleges cruel and inhuman treatment, and asks for $5,000 alimony. He also charges that his wife defrauded him of a large sum of money. When they were married, he says, she possessed a large amount of encumbered property. She took his money to pay off the claims, but kept the property in her own name. Having obtained all his money, Mr. Harrison says his wife now refuses to support him.

ALTON CRAIG.

There was a large crowd of prominent sporting men at the Alton Craig Driving Park Tuesday afternoon to witness a matched race between Wilderlee, a chestnut stallion, owned by Thomas Berry, of Hensall, and Nellie Bruce a bay mare, owned by a syndicate of Alton Craig gentlemen. Wilderlee was driven by D. Bell, of Elfr; Nellie Bruce being handled by D. A. McEwen, of Alton Craig. Both horses are well known throughout Western Ontario, and the result was awaited with interest by local sports. The strong wind prevailing made the conditions for fast work somewhat unfavorable, which accounts for the rather poor time made by the winner. Summary:
