The Busy Dominion. The Toronto Globe has concluded its series of "growing time" reports. Among the places covered by the Globe's special correspondence are: Montreal Hammton, London, Brantford, Welland, St. Thomas, Chatham, Paris, Barrie, Calgary, Smith's Falls, Collingwood, Kingston, Brockville, Carleton Place, Stratford, Woodstock, Oshawa, Belleville, Newmarket, St. Catharines, Toronto Junction, Hamilton, Winnipeg, Midland, Seaforth, Owen Sound, Peterboro, Cobourg, Lindsay, Quebec and Parry Sound. These have all the same tale to tell-factories working overtime, work plentiful, wages advanced In many lines, business brisk, and a hopeful and buoyant feeling among all classes. The threnody of three years ago has given place to a pean of prosperity. The country is enjoying not an artificial boom, but a solid growth that bids fair to be permanent. The development of the Northwest promises, W nothing else does, to sustain this progress. That part of the Dominion has been given a great impulse by the magnificent harvest of the present sea-This will react, and is reacting, on the Eastern Provinces, which are the supply depots of the Northwest. With the tide of immigration flowing to Canada at last, and industrious settlers filling up the vacant lands of Man-Itoba. Assinibola. Alberta and Saskatchewan, there will be an expanding volume of purchases from Ontario and Quebec, the manufacturing provinces of the Dominion.

But the country's future is not based on its agricultural possibilities alone Mineral production is increasing in evary province, and British Columbia especially is likely to become one of the greatest gold-bearing regions in the world. Smelting and refining industries will, of course, follow in the wake of mining operations. In the Kootenay and Rossland district, the growing mining population affords a new and profitable market for the food prodthe more general adoption of mixed farming. The coal mines of the Crow's Nest Pass country are also enlarging their output at a phenomenal rate, and will prove another source of lasting progress to a province whose riches are only beginning to be discovered.

In Ontario mineral production shows a steady, if not a sensational, increase. The future of Ontario would be assured if it had merely its agricultural resources to rely on, but it is so abundant-Ly blessed with every form of natural wealth that it will always remain the premier province. In its illimitable supply of pulpwood is the foundation of an industry already large, and certein to reach enormous dimensionsperhaps to lead the world in pulp and paper production. In the Maritime Prowinces there are also new elements of permanent prosperity. Millions of outside capital have been attracted, and will create an iron and steel industry on a vest scale. This is practically a discovery for the Eastern Provinces, and will infuse new vigor into every Where Wealth Is a Burden.

The life and character of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt are being extensively reviewed. The late multi-millionaire seems to have been singularly free from the blemishes of his class. Although inheriting his millions, he lived and worked indefatigably, and made his own career; but he was not wholly preoccupied by his business effairs that he neglected higher and better things. He cultivated his mind and was a patron of the fine arts. He was a man of marked simplicity of character and was sincerely religious. He gave large sums and much of his time and energy to charitable end Christian enterprises, but he never posed as a philanthropist or even got a reputation as such. He regarded his wealth as a trust, to be administered by him carefully and conscientiously and with a due sense of responsibility to those who were associated with him or dependent spon him. This is where the moral comes in. The riches that fell to Cornelius Vanderbilt, instead of bringing him the happiness and enjoyment which are the legitimate fruit wealth, utterly crushed him. He was disabled at 53 years of age and died at 56, literally worn out by the demands of his vast possessions. He was president, vice-president or director of some 50 corporations, and to do his entire duty by all these with the painstaking zeal characteristic of the man, he sacrificed his life. While such a spirit is to be admired. Mr. Vanderbilt's career, with its untimely end, points to the folly of building up or even retaining a fortune which is too unwieldy to be handled by a consci-

The Ottawa Fair-one of the three greatest exhibitions in the Province—is behind $9,000 this year. The Western has fared better than any of them.

The Toronto Mail insists that the Dominion expenditure has increased $22,-000,000 in three years, while Mr. Foster puts it at $10,000,000. Figures never lie, but those who handle them sometimes do-make mistakes.

The imports of the Transvaal were $104,000,000 last year and the exports $54,000,000. This is a large trade for so small a country, thanks to the enterprising foreign element. Every trading nation has an interest in the prosperity of the Uitlanders.

The Venezuelan arbitration proceedings have concluded at Paris and the award may be made on Monday. The Americans once threatened to fight Great Britain over this question, but they now take less interest in it than in Admiral Dewey's dog.

The New York Sun is nothing if not sarcastic. Speaking of the Dewey celebration and the different points of interest for the visitors to New York, the

"When Sunday comes, it is true, they will miss the preachers of great fame, who once made the town notable, for scarcely one remains; but they find many churches of tasteful and impressive architecture and services of a pomp and solemnity unknown in the simpler days of the star preachers."

The report of the British consul in Venezuela, Mr. Haggard, on bird-hunting, will rouse the indignation of all friends of feathered life. As to aigrets Mr. Haggard says that the number of birds killed in 1898 for this purpose was 1.538.738. No less than 870 birds have to be killed to produce less than 21/4 pounds of the smaller feathers. "It is to be feared," adds the consul, "that this waste will within an appreciable time exhause the supply."

What Others Say.

Montreal's Mistake. [Montreal Star.]

Those Montreal bonus that were sold for par by the city are now offered for sale by private holders at 106%. The extra. $200,000 would have made a lot of new sidewalks, but, of course, the aldermen could not be expected to take that view of the case.

A Society Event.

[Sydney, N. S. W., Bulletin.] Lady Darley wishes attention called to the fact that a pair of stockings worn by her Majesty the Queen, and made especially for her, will be on view this afternoon at the bazar to be held in St. James' parish hall in aid of the sisters of the church. She stockings were sent out by one of the Queen's dressers to a friend in Australia, and later on fell into the hands of Mr. Pope, who has kindly sent them to Lady Darley.

> Erain Pressure. [Hamilton Times.]

The Vancouver World tells of an operation performed upon the skull of a man there to make room for his gray which had become over-developed by much study and learning. At one time an uneducated man, he took to study, and as he grew in wisdom his brain also grew, so as to outgrow the limits of the skull, causing insanity. An operation brought a cure. The fact that many of our best educated men are cranks may be accounted for in a similar way. A twenty-horse brain power confined in a one-horse power skull might cause lots of trouble.

Growth of the British Empire.

[Chatham Planet.] These figures give some idea of the great expanison of the British Empire during the present century: In the year 1800 the approximate area of the British Empire was 2,012,183 square miles, including all its continental and insular possessions, and the popula-tion of the empire was 31,417,000. Of area 200,000 square miles was in India, with a population of 14,000,000 In 1899 the approximate area of the empire had grown to 12,596,608 square miles, and the population is 414,410,-000. The area of the possessions of the empire in Asia is 1,794,216 square miles; in Africa, 3,748,220 square miles; in North America, 3,618,650 square miles, and in Australia 3,175,350 square miles. The population of the United Kingdom itself is only 40,200,000. Wherever this expansion has taken place the beneficent effects of a superior system of government have been felt.

The Irrepressible Case Dismissed by Justice Ferguson.

Defense Allowed to Amend Statement of Defense-Nen-Jury Sitting.

The Simms vs. London case came up at yesterday afternoon's session of the non-jury sittings, and the action was dismissed with costs by Mr. Justice. Ferguson. Plaintiff asked for the upsetting of the last municipal election, and the restraining of the mayor, alderen and water commissioners and Hospital Trustee McCormick from further acting in their office capacities. It was contended that the breakwater bylaw was illegal, in that the corporation had no right to take the opinion of the electors in such a matter, and that scrutineers were appointed to be in the polling places at the time of the election, which was illegal, because the voting at the election was supposed to be secret. Another ground was that the scrutineers were paid and hired at $2 a day for the purpose of canvassing for the election of the mayor and others. Simms asked that the money thus paid out, as well as for the printing in connection with the bylaw, be repaid by the aldermen who

Mr. Bantram, for the plaintiff, in opening the case, said the matter was wholly a question of law, and that Mr. Meredith, for the corporation, tacitly admitted all the facts, but disputed that the statement of claim showed no cases of action. Mr. Mere dith was asked to sustain his statement of defense, but had no evidence to offer. Mr. Meredith was then allowed by the court to amend his answer, to include a denial of all the plaintiff's charges. Mr. Bartram objected to allowing the amendment without an affidavit of merit, but was overruled, the court holding that it must have been only a slip on the part of counsel for the defense. Mr. Bartram was then called upon to proceed, but replied that he had no evidence ready, as he had not counted on an amendment to the answer. case was then dismissed. Mr. D. Fraser represented the water commissioners; George C. Gibbons, Q.C., represented Mr. McCormick; Ald. McPhillips the aldermen of Nos. 1, 2 and 3 wards, and Campbell Becher the aldermen of wards 4, 5 and 6.

The action of Walter Alkcroft against Llewellyn A. Morrison, of Toronto, for possession of certain machinery, was decided in favor of the plaintiff. The claim for damages for alleged unlawful detention was not allowed. Hellmuth & Ivey for the plaintiff; Perrin & Pope for the defense. Woodworth vs. Thompson, brought by a contractor against W. J. Thompson, of King street, was referred to the local master. The action is to recover for extras alleged to have been done in connection with the contract. Gibbons for plaintiff; Meredith, Judd Dromgole for the defense.

Buried at Hamilton.

Hamilton, Sept. 27.—The funeral of Mrs. James Brown, of Hamilton, took place today from her late residence here. Deceased was the eldest daughter of the late William Cameron, sen. of London. Mr. John Cameron, of the London Advertiser, and Mr. L. K. Cameron, Queen's printer, of Toronto, are brothers of the deceased, and Mrs. Blackett Robinson and Mrs. H. Blount are sisters. She leaves her husband, two sons and two daughters. They are: Mr. Cameron Brown, managing director of the Belleville Sun, and Redfern Brown; Mrs. Booth, wife of Rev. Dr. Booth, Presbyterian clergyman, of Erie, Pa., and Mrs. Reed, wife of Mr. J. E. Reed, barrister, of the same place. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. G. Shearer, of Hamilton, of whose congregation deceased had long been a valued member. In a few sympathetic words the reverend speaker paid tribute to the usefulness and high Christian character of the departed. At the funeral mentioned above were present: Mrs. Cameron Brown was also accompanied by her father, the Hon. Geo. W. Ross, minister of education. Mr. Hugh Brown, of Detroit; Mrs.

TETTER ON HANDS CURED

I had been troubled with tetter for several years. At times my hands would be sore all over, so that I could not use them at all, and were so so that I could not use them at all, and were so tender that clear water, even, smarted like fire, and it spread over arms, neck, and face. I had been treated by physicians, but without benefit, when I began the Curicura remedies. I found ratiof before I had taken the first bottle. I used three or four bottles of Curicura RESOLVENT, one cake of Curicura Soar, and one box of Curicura (ciniment), and it has never troubled me since.

Wiekham, Queen's County, N. B., Sept. 25.-Mr. G. L. Worden, commissioner of the civil courts here, is em-phatic in his indorsation of the great medicine, Dodd's Kidney Pills: "Dodd's Kidney Pills," he says, "have been a wonder and surprise to myself. After over twenty years of suffering with my back and kidneys, I am well. Not the least painful part of my trouble was the pain, frequency and poor success in urinating. After using Dodd's Kidney Pills I enjoy the nat-ural comfortable feeling in the particulars above referred to. I feel like a young man, though 76 years of age. recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to sufferers, as they do as they are advertised to do."

The wholesale slaughter of birds for fashionable purposes still continues. The last two consignments included $,000 birds of Paradise.—Daily News.

Spare us. ladies! 'tis for you That the fowlers snare us, That they ruthlessly pursue With their guns and scare us.

Tis for you that we do fly Sreaming, wounded, through the sky, Tis for you we drop and die-Spare us. ladies, spare us!

Ladies, hear our widowed wail! Be a little kinder! Look upon the bloody trail Fashion leaves behind her. Look upon this slaughtered heap, Where our hapless brothers sleep, Look, oh ladies, look and weep, As ye linger near them: And these fledgelings, hear them cry When their parents come not nigh, Calling in their agony

Birds of Paradise, forsooth! Shame, ye mortals, shame! Give us, an ye love the truth. Give another name. Spare your irony; the jest Doth not fit you well; Look upon this bleeding breast Look on this deserted nest And call us, as befits us best Call us birds of Hell.

Those that cannot hear them.

Nay, but, ladies, can it be. You, so fair and pretty, Are the tyrants whose decree Means our endless misery?

That your eyes, so fair to see Hold no drop of pity? Nay, we will not wrong you so! Think upon our sorrow.

And ye surely will forego These poor plumes ye borrow. One brief, passing vain delight Ye will sacrifice. Once again in sunshine bright
