Butter Supply Continues Shor -Eggs Are Plentilul,

There was a fair-sized market this There was a fair-sized market this morning, though hay and oats were practically the only offerings. Hay was very plentiful, as it has been for the greater part of the week, and as a result there was a still lower drop in the prices offered. The highest figure paid on this morning's market was $15, while $14 to $14 50 there the puller prices and many loads. were the ruling prices, and many loads went below even these figures.

Outs on the other hand remained firm, selling from $1.25 to $1.22, the majority going in the neighborhood of the higher.
