

DUBLIN CITY TO WELCOME ROYALTY

Preparations Are Under Way at Castle For Social Activity.

THE PEOPLE'S ATTITUDE

Expectation That Georges Personal Popularity Will Prevail.

Dublin, Feb. 15.—Great preparations already are under way in Dublin to welcome King George when he pays his state visit to Ireland after his coronation, the date of which now is announced to be set for some time in July. Men already are at work furnishing up the dingy old castle and the viceregal lodge where the King and Queen will reside during their stay in the Irish capital.

The problem of a municipal welcome presents a good deal of difficulty. The Dublin corporation, of course, is intensely national in feeling, and the question of its attitude toward the official head of the state that keeps Ireland in bondage is a subject for earnest discussion. It is hoped, however, that the political situation with regard to home rule will be far enough advanced by that time to justify the welcome and showing them that Ireland under its own government will stand upon its own feet.

It may be well to emphasize the fact that King George personally is not generally popular in Ireland, for it is one of his most earnest ambitions to crown his reign by a settlement of the vexed problem of Ireland on home rule lines. In fact, he is an uncommonly shrewd politician, and he feels that if he as

King of Ireland had the Lords and Commons of Ireland to deal with they would be a bulwark against the growth of that revolutionary and anti-religious socialism which is becoming such an imminent danger in England.

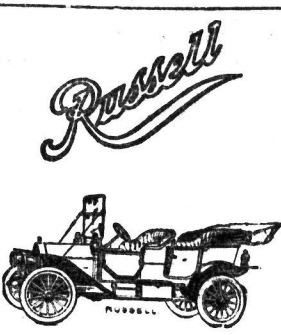

Journal Attacks the King.

It is unfortunate that this time should have been selected by a little paper known as Dean's to attack the growth of that revolutionary and anti-religious socialism which is becoming such an imminent danger in England. The paper has no influence in Ireland, but its utterances have been seized upon by the English enemies of home rule as an evidence that Ireland is not to be trusted to govern itself, and are being reprinted broadcast in England with the idea of inflaming opinion against Ireland.

An interesting feature of the situation is that the same English papers which have been inciting the "Claret" revolutionaries to armed revolt against the King's Government in the event of the passage of a home rule bill, are now calling for the prosecution of the misguided Dublin men who are urging their fellow countrymen to similar revolt if things go the other way.

Ireland Has Food Surplus.

The danger of war between Great Britain and Germany has been under discussion in England for some years now, but until recently no one considered the effect of such a war on Ireland. It is a matter of common knowledge that England is dependent for food supplies on the command of the seas, and that any nation that could intercept this command for even a short time could starve England out. During the last week a number of writers have been discussing Ireland's position in such an event, and the verdict is indeed rather a comfortable one. At present Ireland imports foodstuffs to the value of $12,000,000 a year, but it exports food to the value of $17,000,000. It seems rather a strange situation for a country to export food in order that it may buy back other food, but the fact is, of course, that Ireland's exports are of the finest quality.

CANADIAN IDEALS GOING TO SMASH

According To Mr. Foster, Who Blames It to Reciprocity.

Dr. Neelley, From the West, Shows How Great Will Be Benefit to Canada of Agreement.

Ottawa, Feb. 14.—The reciprocity debate was resumed this afternoon by George E. Foster. He began where he left off Thursday night. Mr. Foster threw into the debate today all of his energy and sarcasm. He said Americans took little pains to disguise the fact that they coveted Canada's natural resources, which they desired to draw away to their manufacturing industries.

He Fears the Trusts.

"This arrangement," said Mr. Foster, "will not have been in operation five years before the big trusts and moneyed interests of the United States will own everything that is loose in this Dominion in the way of natural resources. What they do not wish to buy from the man in Canada, they will take out of him by force. They will raise and sell up so many properties under their own direction in this country. They will command the natural resources. They will take Canadian lands out of the coat, catch the fish, fell the trees, raise the cattle, and do the mechanical and exhausting work, but all the progress and the increase of producing the raw material, these they covet for themselves. And the tendency of this arrangement is to put it within their power to carry out this purpose. The broad effect will be to leave the rougher processes to the people of Canada and as for the people of the more highly paid to the Dominion of Canada."

Paints a Dull Picture.

Mr. Foster's future under reciprocity, the dull and most depressing colors. He devoted some time to criticizing the reciprocity agreement because of its admitted instability in that it cannot be known how long it is to be valid. "This finance minister," said Mr. Foster, "says he does not know how long it is to be valid. It can be made invalid any day by the Legislature of the American Congress. He chooses to make it so. Under these circumstances what money will invest in it? Will this man who has money to invest in manufacturing enterprises invest in Canada or in the United States? Can you whisper in his ear to be careful."

First One Industry will be attacked.

and it will go by the board, the other industries will be attacked. Will sensitive long-sighted capital looking for investment invest itself on this side of the line? No, sir. Has this people just a sense of what is due to it as a responsibly governed people? I don't believe it. But it is hard not to believe it at the present time.

Sees Perils to Ideals.

Mr. Foster said that the minister who went to Washington to negotiate the agreement had no mandate from the people. He said that the Canadian people were just the opposite. They were not interested in the agreement, but they were interested in the national life of Canada and in the independence of the Canadian people.

A Strong Reply.

Dr. Neelley, Liberal member for Hamilton, replying to Mr. Foster, gave a vigorous refutation to the recalcitrant points. He took direct issue with the member for North Toronto in respect of the majority of the arguments advanced by him and showed that so great would be the benefits of the agreement would be the benefits of the agreement.

Three Boxes of Dean's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

They can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. M. Larnour, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "I take pleasure in recommending the benefit I have received by using Dean's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with backache and was so bad I could not leave my own floor. I was advised to try Dean's Kidney Pills, which I did, and with the greatest benefit. I only used three boxes and I am now as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back or kidney trouble."

There are Wolves in Sheep's Clothing, Says Rev. Dr. Patterson.

"How much evil has come into this world through men mistaking friends for enemies and enemies for friends," said Rev. Dr. Patterson, in St. Andrew's Church, last night.

When a vineyard owner is down because they mistook an enemy for a friend," on the other hand, how many have turned traitors from true friends who appeared to stand between them and some coveted desire? How many men in London tonight are not Christians because they fear it would interfere with their business or their pleasure? There are wolves in sheep's clothing, there are enemies in friendly guise.

Dr. Patterson took as the subject of his sermon the story of Ahab and Naboth, whose vineyard Ahab coveted. Through the cunning and contrivance of Jezebel, Naboth was accused of blasphemy and death, and the vineyard became Ahab's. Ahab did not directly effect the death of Naboth, but he was the cause of it. He was the cause of the death of Naboth, and he was the cause of the death of Naboth.
