THE EQUITABLE LIFE.

The Toronto Star speculates upon the plight of Mr. Borden if the Laurier Government should be beaten on the Autonomy Bill. It discovers that he could not get a single Catholic to enter his Government or any man who represents a constituency having a large percentage of Catholics. This is precisely the argu-the facts no doubt we should find they ment set up by Hon. Mr. Fielding in his speech on the subject. That might, if true, be a practical view of the case to take in support of the Government's did you see a healthier, happier, more did you see a healthier, happier, more did you see a healthier, happier, more position—a sort of we-can't-help-ourselves policy-but it cannot be considered a logical argument in favor of interference with provincial rights in the

The Conservative amendment does not raise a question of separate schools, or of race or creed, but a question of what powers it is wise to give to the new provinces. Men may differ from the Government on this without being either bigots or intolerants. The bigots and intolerants, the stirrers up of strife, the fomenters of creed and racial dislike, are the narrow-viewed mortals who are seeking to obscure the issue, to make it appear as something That is amply demonstrated by the obing false charges against honorable op-

BACK TO THE LAND.

Nearly every writer on social economics for the past twenty-five years has dwelt upon the great evils incident to, and the possible dangers arising out of, the rush of the rural population to the great cities which become congested as a consequence. London, New York and Chicago are Examples of this tendency. The poor of London, for instance, are so numerous and the opportunities for the received season of the Legislature of the properties of the day in Great Stratuly on the verge of starvation, the majority of whom, so far as our religious and moral systems are concerned, may be described as model, may be described as model properties of the Prope examples of this tendency. The poor of London, for instance, are so numer-novelist, has been employed by the America, and particularly upon the Northwest portions of Canada, as a field in which to continue this work. He has been in Canada for some weeks and is now on his way home to make his report, which, judging from the speeches he has made, will be entirely favorable to the scheme. While in Eastern Canada Mr. Haggard, along with Commandant Booth-Tucker of the Salvation Army, who were guests of the Canadian Club at Ottawa and Toronto, delivered most interesting ad-the movement which the Salvation Army has in hand. At Ottawa, describing the situation in England, he said: "At the present moment in England, I believe, we have but one-seventh of our population living on the land. In the United States, matters are very little better. And so it is in other countries—everywhere the land dwellers heap themselves in the cities. And what happens to them The litigious proceedings now under when they go there? How many sucway in connection with the affairs of the | ceed? Not one in five, I say. The ceedingly unsatisfactory, and should, as a matter of fact, be rendered impossible. The chaos in the affairs of the Equitable will not have been in vain if some plan is discovered to prevent its repetition."

THE REAL CULPRITS.

"Now, that is what is going on in the great city. Let us look at the other side of the question. Let us go to places like Fort Amity, where I saw the colony of the Salvation Army. As your President told you, I am not at liberty to in any way forestall my report; but I can say this—ther I went to the schools as Army. As your Press.

am not at liberty to in any way that there I went to the schools, as I did in other places, and saw the childern. The parents of these Fort Amity children were taken from a great city, the city of Chicago, where mostly they were working as day laborers. They were working as day laborers. They were working as day laborers. Once removed from the tainted atmosphere of London slums to the free, life-giving air of the prairies, with definite prospects and profitable employment in view, there can be little doubt of success.

British Columbia can always get plen ty of attention from Eastern Canada when it comes in conflict with the commercial or political interests of the latter that it is not, and in the process are lay- jections being raised to the tax on commercial travelers and the alien exclusion law. When British Columbia has a grievance against the Dominion Government on any score it is discreetly overlooked by the Eastern press and politi-

Unfortunately for the experiment, the and, to some extent, perhaps, to illluck. Troubles rarely come singly, and they were fated to have just such an experience. One of the worst instances of their unlucky fate was a serious fire, which, owing to the settlers being cooped up in one large building, was disastrous. Through lack of business precaution the colony lost heavily on a contract which was taken in North disastrous. Through lack of business precaution the colony lost heavily on a contract which was taken in North Vancouver; and also on a shipment of lumber, which was seized by the creditors. Then, of course, there was the split between the Kurlkka wing and those opposed to him, both as to his communistic views and his free love principles, which he tried to incorporate as one of the distinguishing features of the colony. As a consequence the population was considerably reduced, probably to a third of what it formerly was. Matters were brought to a crisis recently. The townsite of Sointula, which was deeded to the colony some time ago by the Government, and contains practically all the assets of the company, we understand, is heavily mortgaged. The liabilities, which greatly exceed the assets, however, are largely represented by wages due to the colonists themselves.

Notwithstanding these facts the out look for the colonists, so far from being due to the colonists of the Land Act, and with the creditors of the Land Act, and with the creditors of the company, are rather bright than otherwise. One moral, so far as Scanadians are concerned, is to patronize home companies over which they can exercise some measure of control. The East From the success self in regard to the situation as follows:

"The controversy has led to a widespread distrust of insurance companies, and has raised the question whether the funds of large companies are employed for purely speculative purposes, a contingency the very hint of which must necessarily cause apprehension in the great numbers of people who, painfully and with much self-denial, invest their money in insurance. In perhaps the majority of cases, insurance represents the entire savings of a frugal life. It is wery evident that its condition is exceedingly unsatisfactory, and should, as "Now, that is what is golds on in the coefficial perial per

Common citizenship means in the long run physical admixture, with a resultant population below the standard in physical and moral worth of each at present.

Owing to our continuous and with agricultural land to fall back upon, the colony has all the elements of a self-sustaining community, that can be developed and expanded with great benefit to the Province as well as to the individual members.

That the left-land developed and expanded with great benefit to the Province as well as to the individual members.

That the latter are possessed of the right kind of stuff is well demonstrated in what they have done and what they have endured during he past four years. WAR EAGLE AND CENTRE STAR

Sir,—In yesterday's Colonist there appeared some statements relative to the costs of the War Eagle and Centre Star mines, Rossland, reprinted from the Spokane Spokesman-Review, which may mislead those unacquainted with the general unreliability of that newspaper's mining information. The Colonist quoted the Spokesman-Review as having said: "Mr. Cronin says the mines are now making or title until all the conditions were fulfilled and the colonists had resided for seven years on the land. With the exception of schools, they were to provide for all their own public works. It was stipulated, too, that the improvements could be performed all in one place, instead of upon each eighty acres.

There were other conditions as to the settlers becoming British subjects and educating their children in English.

There were grave doubts as to the success of a colony organized on such a basis, but as the settlers were anxious to carry out their own system, and the Government took no risk, there were no serious objections to their making the trial. In fact, if all the conditions were fulfilled there could be no objection. Everything was carried along smoothly for a time. The settlers went to work with a will, and very soon had made considerable improvements. As many as 325 settlers took up their abode, living with all things in common.

Information. The Colonist quoted the Spokesman-Review as having said: "Mr.
Cromin says the mines are now making money on $9 ore. That figure is of considreable interest, as the reports of Edmund B. Kirby, the late general manager, show et that the costs ran about $12 a ton."

From the last published report of the Centre Star Mining Co., that for the finantell year ended September 30, 1904, I quote the followings. Total ore produced, 79,053

balance, $7.894.25.
Corresponding figures from the War
Eagle Co.'s last published report, viz: to December 31, 1904, are as follows: Total ore produced, 61,064 tons; less sent to mill, 4,304 tons; total ore sold, 56,760 tons. Real or full assay value, $12.18 per ton;
smelter's gross assay value, $9.58 per ton;
direct smelting charge, including freight rect smelting charge, including freight com the mine, $4.46 per ton; smelter's net he late general manager, Mr. Kirby, said The cost of ore production has been rought down to $2.24 and the total cost of per ton. It will be noted that these figures are considerably lower than any record attained in the past history of the mine."

In contrast to the reckless assertion of the Spokesman-Review (no one who knows Mr. Jas. Cronin would for a moment think that he had made such a gross misstatement), that Mr. Kirby's costs ran about $12 per ton, it is here seen that the company's own published statement, presented to the stockholders after Mr. Kirby's retirement from the general managership and adopted by them as correct, showed an adopted by them as correct, showed an excess of receipts over expenditures of $88,153.93 from 61,064 tons of ore, averag-ing $0.58 per ton smelter's value. Further comment would appear to be unnecessary.
