With a new airplane in which he flies to and from his work in the coke ovens at Gates, Penn., Edmund Henriques takes unchallenged his position as the most modern of the modern and affluent gentlemen who earn their daily luxuries by toil. Aside from the utilitarian value of the craft, Henriques intends to use it as a means of transportation on his pleasure jaunts. He can attend any Sunday baseball game from New York to Chicago and be back on Monday before the whistle blows.

SUMMER CARE OF POULTRY

(Experimental Farms Note). There is a tendency among some people to believe that poultry do not require any special care during the Summer months, and may be allowed practically to shift for themselves. While it is true that conditions are more favorable for growing stock, and for egg production in adult stock, yet at no time of the year is more care necessary to prevent disease and vermin than during the warm Summer months. Poultry kept in close, stuffy sleeping quarters cannot be kept in the best condition of health, and are fit subjects for the ravages of lice and mites. It would be much better to have wire netting put in place of the glass windows in order that more fresh air might circulate in the house.

A very strict watch must be kept for any evidence of lice or mites as soon as warm weather commences. If lice are present on the birds, treat each bird individually with some Blue Mercury ointment, or some reliable dusting powder, and if red mites are present on the perches or walls, the birds should be removed from the house for a day or two, and the building thoroughly fumigated, followed by a really good cleaning of every part of the interior. A thorough occasional white-washing of the whole interior of the house will make the place more sanitary. Poultry confined to yards where there is no natural shade from the hot rays of the sun, should be provided with shelter of some sort; sunflowers or arctic chokes planted in the yards and protected until they get a start, will provide most excellent shelter from the sun. Colony houses scattered through an orchard or cornfield make a very desirable place for the growing stock.

Filthy drinking vessels are the cause of a great many troubles in the poultry yards, which is kept in clean vessels in a sheltered place will benefit the stock to a large extent. Be sure that the young growing stock are well fed, to promote growth, and that they are given liberal rations where there is abundance of green feed and also animal feed in the form of insects, worms, etc.

Cull out the old stock that you do not intend to keep over for another year, and sell them early while the price is higher and while they are in good condition before they commence to moult.

BIG STRAWBERRIES

Mr. Sterns Vance, Glenholme, has brought into town some of the largest and most delicious "Senator Dunn" strawberries ever seen in Truro. One berry girl a little over six and one half inches and "big ones" were the rule all through the patch of nearly half an acre that had a most prolific yield.

Mr. Vance has the five inch product of the "Forest Lawn Gardens" "licked" to the finish. These berries are grown in rich soil with clover as a protection from the sand or earth.—Truro News.

WINDSOR WOMAN WAS KILLED BY TRAIN

Miss Sarah Siverlight, Aged Eighty Years Was Struck by the D. A. R. Express.

Windsor, N. S.—Miss Sarah Siverlight, over eighty years of age, was instantly killed last Thursday evening when struck by the express from Yarmouth at Mapleton crossing, three miles from Windsor, and within sight of her home. Miss Siverlight had lived all her life at Mapleton and loved to roam about the country. She had spent most of her afternoon at the homestead and was returning home, being very deaf she did not hear the warning signal and applied the brakes, but the unfortunate woman stepped directly in front of the train and her body was hurled to the side of the track.

Miss Siverlight made her home with her cousin, Miss Mary J. Frizel.

Her brother, William Siverlight, is the station master at Mapleton, the express was slowing down at the time of the accident, as a stop was to be made at Mapleton station only a short distance from the crossing. The deceased had had many narrow escapes from passing autos on account of her deafness.

Special visitors' days have been set aside on Tuesday and Thursday of each week between the hours of two and four. A visit to the Odd Fellows' Home is time well spent and the courteous treatment accorded visitors by the Superintendent and Matron is a feature worthy of recognition. One family of seven children are now living at the home and seem more than content with their lot. The Home itself is a magnificent structure, and the furnishings are beyond compare.

BUSINESS MAN'S NARROW ESCAPE

What might have been a very serious accident occurred on Friday afternoon. Mr. F. C. Bishop, of the Bishop Company, was examining a revolver in his store when in some way it became discharged. The bullet went through the wall and entered the adjoining store, passing very near the proprietor. Fortunately no one was injured.—Acadian.

Guard Baby's Health In The Summer

The Summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, which are cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentery come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles, or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
