

THE FARM.

THE HOUSEHOLD.

TO KILL TICKS.

Cool oil and salt, well rubbed in, will make ticks let go. It should be well rubbed in, and then repeated in about a week.

AN ARTICHOKK CROP.

Jerusalem artichokes are similar but slightly inferior to potatoes in nutritive value, says the Rural World, but owing to their immense yield and cheapness of raising, are much more valuable to stock, and particularly as hog food.

MERINO WOOL.

The fleece on the merino ram should be dense, well set and standing well up under pressure, and, if pressed down, should have sufficient elasticity to return quickly to its upright position.

NEED OF LIGHT.

Domestic animals, especially growing stock, do not thrive without a copious supply of light. Fatiguing stock put on plenty of weight in darkness, but this is not thrift; it is cruelty, and their flesh is not fit for human consumption.

A USEFUL HINT.

Diseases are often communicated by feeding horses in stalls which have been occupied previously by diseased animals. Such stalls should first be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

FREEDING MANGOLDS.

The best way to feed mangolds, says Professor Stewart, is to run them through a pulper and then mix this pulp with the ration of grain or ground feed and cut hay.

THE USE OF COAL ASHES.

Coal ashes are of no value as a manure. On very heavy soil, however, they are valuable as a divider of the soil, acting in the same manner as sharp sand. Hence, in all situations where the garden is a stiff clay the application will be indicated, and they should be yearly given to the soil.

A MAD STONE.

W. R. Sonner, of Fort Worth, Tex., has a mad-stone that has been used over one hundred times and with good success. It has a history. In 1843 Captain Wilson, of Alabama, killed a white deer, and knowing the Indian theory, looked in its stomach, and there found a stone as large as a goose egg that resembled a petrified sponge.

PRESERVED QUINCES.

Use the orange quinces. Wipe, pare, quarter, and remove all the core and the hard part under the core. Take an equal weight of sugar. Cover the quinces with cold water. Let them come slowly to a boil.

VEAL CUTLETS BRAISED.

Lard some veal cutlets on one side, and place them on a layer of minced onion and carrot in the bottom of a stewpan; add rich stock enough to cover them completely, and let them cook. Serve them with nice brown gravy made with stock strained.

POTATO CROQUETTES.

For croquettes mash your potatoes, season with butter, milk, salt, a dash of nutmeg and a dash of cayenne pepper; add the beaten yolk of an egg. Beat thoroughly; and mould up into balls or oblongs; roll these in egg and then in fine cracker crumbs and fry in boiling lard.

HASHED MUTTON.

Mince an onion and fry it in butter to a brown color, add a tablespoonful of flour, stir well, pour in enough stock or broth to make the sauce, with a dash of vinegar, pepper, salt and spices to taste. Let the sauce give a boil, then strain it, and, when cold, put in the slices of meat, well trimmed of any outside parts, and a good allowance of pickled gherkins cut in slices. Let the whole get warm by a gentle simmering, and keep it hot till wanted for table.

TO FRY FISH.

To fry fish, wipe dry, rub with salt, roll in flour; have ready in frying pan a generous lump of sweet butter, adding a little beef dripping, to prevent the butter scorching. When smoking hot, lay in the pieces, crowding if necessary, cover with a tight fitting lid, and tilt the frying-pan often, to prevent burning. When you think it done on one side, turn and brown the other; remove the lid and serve immediately. The steam serves to cook quickly, the butter giving a most delicious taste, and it does over a clear, steady fire, there will not be a trace of greasiness.

STEAMED POTATOES.

Cook in your steamer with the skins on until they are mellow to the heart and the skins crack all over. Take these off, lay the potatoes in a deep dish, press each one hard enough to crack it and pour over them a cupful of rich, hot milk, in which has been stirred and boiled a tablespoonful of butter melted in a tablespoonful of prepared flour. Pepper and salt to taste.

RASPBERRY PIE WITH CREAM.

Lino a pie plate with good paste and fill with raspberries sweetened abundantly. Lay the upper crust on evenly, but do not fasten by pinching or pricking the outer edges. When the pie is baked set aside to cool. The crust should be cold and stiff when you fill it to cover the contents with a cup of whipped cream, sweetened with powdered sugar. Replace the upper crust, sift sugar over it and send to table.

BARLEY PUDDING.

Take a quarter of a pound of Scotch or pearl barley. Wash and simmer it in a small quantity of water, and add milk and flavoring as for rice puddings. Beat up with sugar and nutmeg, and mix the milk and barley in the same way. It may be more or less rich, by adding eggs, cream or marrow. Put it into a buttered dish, leaving room for six or eight ounces of currants, and an ounce of candied peel, cut up in small pieces. An hour will bake it.

DRILLED TOMATOES.

Cut large, firm tomatoes, when you have pared them, crosswise in thick slices and broil on an oyster broiler. Lay on a hot dish and pour over them a sauce made thus: Three tablespoonfuls of oil and the same of vinegar, yolks of three raw eggs beaten light, a teaspoonful of sugar and half as much, each, of mustard and salt, with a pinch of cayenne. Put sugar, pepper, salt and mustard into the vinegar and beat to a froth. Beat the oil, drop by drop, into the whipped yolks, and when you have a rich creamy mixture stir the boiling vinegar into it gradually. Set in a vessel of hot water and stir until scalding hot.

DUSTINGS.

Put new milk into an earthen pan and set on the stove until it is quite warm; then set it aside and it will produce excellent cream for coffee.

Kitchen tables may be made as white as snow if washed with soap and wood ashes. Floors look best scrubbed with cold water, soap and wood ashes.

Sick people, or invalids, are often annoyed with flies. The trouble may be obviated by hanging a certain of mosquito netting, long enough to sweep the floor, over the door.

To take spots of paint off wood, lay a thick coating of lime and soda mixed together over it, letting it stay twenty-four hours, when wash off with warm water, and the spot will have disappeared.

A liquid glue that is always ready for use can be made by filling a glass jar with bits of broken glass and putting over it acetic acid. Place the jar in water over the fire, until the glue is all dissolved and the process is complete.

M. Van Halle, a Frenchman, counsels us if we would preserve the flavor of our vegetables not to wash them before cooking if it can be avoided. The vegetables should have the dirt removed with a brush or a cloth, or if washing be indispensable, it should be done rapidly, immediately before placing them in the saucepan.

A bottle of turpentine should be kept for every house, for its uses are numerous. A few drops sprinkled where cockroaches congregate will often drive them off; also ants, or black. Moths will flee from the odor of it. It will take ink stains out of white muslin, when added to soap, and will help to whiten clothes when added to them while boiling.

In papering a wall for the first time, it is important that, after being damped, the walls be well wiped down with damp cloths, frequently renewed, previous to applying the paper. If this precaution be neglected, the almost imperceptible fine dust will be collected in the damp paste, giving the paper a streaked dirty appearance, which no after treatment can efface.

A salad of oranges may be made by taking four thin-skinned oranges, and if it can be had one or two blood-red ones. Cut them in slices across the sections, remove the seeds and serve them, one piece overlapping another, with the slices of the blood-red ones at equal distances apart. Sift sugar over them and a little brandy. A glass of maraschino will make the salad delicious.
