The Funeral Services on the occasion of the Death of the Rev. WILLIAM CROOK, late Senior Minister of the Irish Methodist Conference, containing :—

The Address in the Centenary Chapel, Dublin, by the Rev.
ROBERT MASARON, D.D. ; the Address in Maryborough, by the Rev. JOHN F. MATHEWS ; the Funeral Sermon, by the Rev. JOSEPH W. M'KAY, and a copious Sketch of his Life and Character. Edited by his eldest son, the Rev. WILLIAM CROOK.

“Appropriate and touching memorials of a man who was beloved and venerated by multitudes. The ‘Sketch’ is truly characteristic ; drawn by a filial hand, but faithfully. It comprises no little of the history of our Hibernian work, which is related with many a sparkle of the writer’s vivacity.”—Wesleyan Methodist Magazine.

“The Rev. William Crook was a noble specimen of sanctified humanity ; robust in constitution, decided in piety, inflexible in principle, fervent in spirit, vigorous in intellect, and abundant in labour, for nearly half a century he was an eminent and successful minister of Jesus Christ. The tributes which affection has paid to his memory are but a just appreciation of his excellencies ; and the Sketch of his Life and Character, furnished by his intelligent and devoted son, has the charm of graphic and life-like delineation, flushed with the delicate hues of tender filial affection. It will be read with peculiar interest and spiritual profit.”—Methodist New Connexion Magazine.

“A beautiful book in every point of view. It relates to a man whom I esteemed and loved from the time of our first acquaintance. My visits to Ireland led me to form a high opinion of the Irish preachers generally ; but no one made a more deep and favourable impression upon my heart than the honoured subject of this Sketch.”—Rev. Thomas Jackson.

“Valuable and well-arranged reminiscences of my ever dear and honoured friend, your late Father, and will form a suitable introduction to a larger history which I hope that you will by and by find time to give the Church.”—Rev. Dr. Hannah.
