True Bill Returned by Grand Jury -Movement To Place Wires Underground.

HAMILTON, Jan. 10.—(Special.)—J. D. Chilman and Joseph Acheson will have to face trial on the charge of robbing the Canadian Express Company's office here last September, of 78500, the grand jury his afternoon having returned a true bill against the two young men on the charge. The grand jury hearing in the case, which was in camera, and which began vesterday afternoon, occupied nearly all of to-day, and it was not until late in the afternoon that the case was finished. The trial is set for to-morrow morning, This is the only case with which the present grand jury has to deal.

Cold Disturbed Judge.

The cold weather temporarily put the machinery of justice in Hamilton out of business this morning, when the frigid atmosphere in the court room, where the winter assizes of the high court are being held, forced Justice Teetzel to adjourn court for an hour to allow the room to warm up. At the end of the hour, the court room was still too cold for comfort, and Justice Teetzel and council in the cases to be tried sought protection from their overcoats, which they were beneath their court gowns.

The troubla was caused by the fireman of the court house opening the windows last night to ventilate the room, and leaving them open too long.

A verdict for $1500 damages was rendered this afternoon by the jury which Several small fires, such as usually follow in the wake of a cold spell, kept the city firemen on the jump to-day. At 2.30 this afternoon, a small blaze at Hand's fireworks plant on West Kingst., called out the department. A fire at 118 South James-st., at 6 o'clock destroyed a stable and burnt a horse to death, and about an hour later the fire fighters were called to the corner of Locke and Canada-sts. where a little fire was quietly extinguished. Excellent Type of Outdoor Girl.

By Margaret Bell.

Louise Rutter is not one bit afraid of an interview. She told me so herself, when I called on her yesterday at her apartment in the Prince George. It was so comforting, too, to know that my call had not been heralded by any dreadful forebodings. For interviewers, you know, are usually looked upon as ugly griffins who will pounce on your every statement and mangle it into a thousand shreds.

But there sat Miss Rutter in the City Officials Deny Charges Made by Laborers.

There has been some complaint raised at the city hall because, it was alleged, the city were employing Italian laborers and discriminatig against Englishmen and Canadians. It was claimed that when conditions required that a certain number of men should be laid off it was the Teutonic element that suffered. Among the reasons assigned for this action were that the Englishmen and Canadians had requested the 25 cents a day raise, which was to come into force on January I. Again some of the men out of employment say that the Italians purchased their jobs by their votes. The whole affair is denied by the officials in the works department, who claim that nothing of the kind has ever existed in work undertaken by the city.

But there sat Miss Rutter in the calmest kind of repose, altho at first there might have been just the silgntest bit of nervous curiosity visible in the fingering of her locket, the shifting in her chair, or perhaps it was merely a bit of superfluous nervous energy so common among thespian followers.

Quite the most interesting study I have met in some time, Miss Rutter. She combines the dignity and reserve of the refined English woman, the cordiality of the American, which she is, and the charm of both. Now, who could be more interesting than that? For the sake of the matines girls who may be curious to know just what she is like off the stage, let me say that she is dark, with beautiful dark brown eyes, an exception profile, "like Boden hauser's Madonna," one of the critics aptly expressed it, and long, tapering fingers. She is an excellent type of winter girl, and had just come in from a long tramp.

"Just in your honor, I have turned on the heat," she said by way of introducing herself. "I never have it turned ducing herself." The rever have it furned.

The half yearly statement was received from the auditors and showed a balance in the bank of $2,816.82.

"Do you know the very first thing I do when I come to a town?" she continued.

I did not.

"I hunt around till I find a zoo. I'm perfectly crazy about animals. We had the greatest time finding your Riverdale Park, people told us to take so many different cars. And I should mention, as a passing comment, that the Toronto car system is not the best in the world."

Alas, she had noticed it too! These thespian folk seem to be particularly unfortunate in this respect. Just a couple of weeks ago, May Robson dropped a similar comment.

Success has at last come to scientists who for years have sought some effectual method of removing the outer facial skin in cases of unsightly complexions, which would be both painless and entirely non-injurious.

The new process is so simple, the means so ord nary, so inexpensive, the wonder is that no one had discovered e change when selling their own planes, the old firm of Heintzman & Co. 193.

It has been amply demonstrated that common mercolized wax, to be had at any drug store, completely removes, by gentle absorption, all the withered, life-igs cuticle, showing the youthful, rose-like skin underneath. The mercolized wax is applied at night—like cold cream, but not rubbed in—and washed off in the morning. The absorption also cleaneses clogged pores, increasing the skin's breathing capacity and capillary control will be the chairman.
