Marshall, Spader & Co. wired J. G. Beaty, 14 West King-street, at the close: Wheat—Lower British consols and weakness in the stock market at the start, both reflecting the uncertainty of the political position abroad, caused a repid early advance. Nervousness was a factor thruout the session and all kinds of reports were current. Selling against privileges and liberal realizing were followed by a substantial reaction. The drought in the winter wheat states is becoming critical and complaints are comfing in from a wide section. The Modern Miller comments on the urgent need of moisture, especially in the winter wheat states. We believe in keeping the long side in mind on the breaks, particularly if there is no change in weather continues perfect thruout the belt, and there is good reason to believe in an early movement of better than the usual quality.

Oats—Weak at Buffalo.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Beeves—Receipts, 2675. Steers, in fair demand and steady; bulls and cows, in light supply: steers, 44 to $6.50; bulls, $2.85 to $3.10; cows, $1.40 to $3. No exports to-day.

Calves—Receipts, $3. No exports to-day.

Calves—Receipts, $57. Market, weak to $4.50; grassers and fed calves, $3.50 to $4.50;

Oats—Were firm early, but developed easiness later on.

Provisions—Were quiet. Later realizing sales in lard and selling of deferred deliveries by packing interests brought about small declines.

Estimated receipts for to-morrow 10,000 hogs.

Wheat—There has been a strong and higher market in wheat to-day, but a good portion of the advance was lost, due to liberal realizing sales by local bulls. The situation abroad is still unsettled and will probably make a nervous market here until something definite develops one way or the other.

Corn—Trade was light with prices quite firm.

Oats—There was very little doing in the oats pit and nothing special to note.

WEST IN GREAT SHAPE.

Flattering Report Written by a Well-Known Canadian Journalist.

E. W. Thomson, the Canadian, writng in The Boston Transcript, describes the west as he sees it to-day. He dates his letter from Brandon, Sept. 28. He

"Just as Winnipeg has changed its aspect by laying down asphalt and granolithic sidewalks all over the place. granolithic sidewalks all over the place, so with Brandon, 'the wheat city,' the second town of Manitoba, 135 miles west of 'The Beg.' Here the change has been wrought in three years. Imagine a place of 15,000 people all on granolithic; not one old ramshackle house in it, all the residences either newly painted, or stone, concrete or brick; every house with its vegetable and flewer garden; were headsome but not pompous with its vegetable and flewer garden, many handsome but not pompous dwellings; the main streets having such bank, insurance and loan company buildings, such store fronts, etc., as might dignify a place of 100,000 souls. "Spread the vision over no flat of land, but over a prospect rolling and rising high and far back from a fine street the Assimboing Conceive some river, the Assiniboine. Conceive some great government structures on the bluffs of the opposite shore. See interminable vistas of fields of wheatwhen the sky is overcast, and when the sky is overcast, and when the sun shines. Then you have a faint picture of beautiful Brandon.

"How the city council contrives to keep the tax rate down to 20 mills while simply lavishing improvements on the place must remain a mystery, except on the theory that municipal government here is vastly more honest than ment here is vastly more honest than ment here is vastly more honest than ment here is vastly more honest than the country of the city, whose beauty and prosperity are so well understood all over Canada, that these might have been taken for granted even in writing for Bostonians.
