There's the Old-time Christmas Gladness in the Gift of a Victrola

For Who Can Resist Its Spell? Music Meets Every Mood: Soothes Us When We're Sad, Cheers Us When We're Gloomy, and When We're Gay, Verily it Responds as a Lark Responds to the Joy of the Morning. And the Finest Music the Art of the World Creates Lies at the Tip of the Victrola Needle.

Victrola XI.

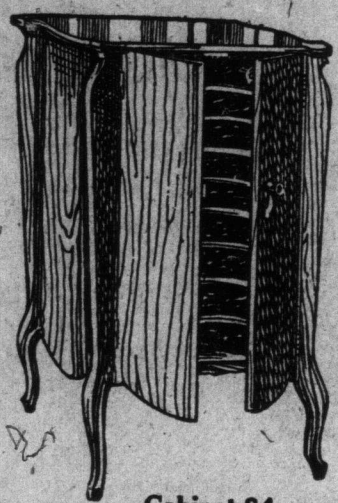

Victrola XI. A handsome Victrola in this mahogany or oak, with record cabinet beneath. It boasts the automatic brake, which stops the machine as soon as a record has been played. Price $161.00.

THE new display rooms for talking machines in the Musical Instruments Department are ready—fourteen of them, sound proof, and equipped with every modern comfort and convenience for the inspection of machines and the hearing of records—the largest number of rooms of the kind to be found, we believe, in any Music Showrooms in Canada. As for Record Service, you have the signal advantage accruing from immense and complete selection and three deliveries daily. Telephone in the early morning for the records you want and they will be at your house in the early afternoon.

Victrola X.

Victrola X. The lowest priced of the Cabinet machines, which is 41 1/2-16 ins. high, with record shelves in the lower part. It may be had in mahogany or oak, and all the metal parts are nickel plated. Price $117.50.

Cabinet 84

Cabinet 84. Equipped with shelves for Record Albums, and with ample space on top for a machine, this graceful Cabinet may be had in mahogany, fumed oak (No. 85), or golden oak (No. 88). It is priced at $18.00.

Victrola VI.

Victrola VI. A splendid machine in this, of oak, with nickel-plated metal parts. It has brake and speed regulator and may be wound while playing. It costs but $41.50.

Victrola VIII.

Victrola VIII. This Victrola is an excellent, medium-priced machine. Its cabinet is of oak, and as the illustration shows it has a cover. The price is $68.00.

Victrola XVI.

Victrola XVI. This handsome case may be had in mahogany or oak. It stands 49 1/2 inches high, and contains 20 Victor Record Albums, which means accommodation for 200 records. All the metal parts are 24-karat gold plated and the instrument is a thing of great tonal beauty. Price $288.00.

Cabinet 65

Cabinet Number 65—Eminently practical in arrangement and pleasing in appearance is this cabinet of fumed oak, (No. 67), golden oak, (No. 65), or mahogany (No. 66). All the metal parts are nickel plated to harmonize with the machine, which may be placed upon it. Its price is $18.00.

Victrola XIV.

Victrola XIV. This Victrola, so dignified in line, is 48 inches high, and represents mechanical excellence in an exceptionally high degree. The cabinet contains 20 Victor Record Albums, each holding 10 records. It has automatic brake and indicator, and a speed regulator. Its cost is $225.00.

Victrola IV.

Victrola IV. This popular machine stands 34 1/2 inches high, and the cabinet is of oak. It is equipped with brake and speed regulator, and may be wound while playing. All the metal parts are nickel plated and it is really a most satisfactory machine for the small price of $27.50.

Victrola IX.

Victrola IX. A most welcome addition to any household, this Victrola of mahogany or oak is most pleasing in design. Moreover, it is fitted with a similar mechanism to that used in the higher priced Cabinet instrument, which means exceptional beauty of tone. Price $70.00.

Books for Boys

Some Hints for Your Book Hunt, by Katharine Hale. THE heart of a boy does not always turn the way that his fond parents, or even the well-meaning publisher would have it turn when it comes to the matter of books. "Give me a lively story," quoth the normal red-blooded youth—and this year "there is quite a choice of such." I should say that "Michael, Brother of Jerry," the latest dog story of Jack London, was decidedly "lively," and full, moreover, of colorful pictures of sailing in the South Seas, of tropic islands, and mariners, told by a master of story-writing. "The Loom of Youth" is a remarkable boys' book, written by a boy himself. Also Waugh is a young Englishman of eighteen, who writes about his own life at a famous public school. He tells the story of the school as it is, or was, in 1915, and there is everything that would interest Canadian boys in the comparison and contrasts with our own school life. "Further Adventures of Nils" is a sort of story by Selma Lagerlof, a Swedish writer, who is the only woman to win the Nobel Prize for literature. To one who loves animals and birds and strange legends, this will be treasure-trove, indeed. There are also fascinating animal stories by Ernest Thompson Seton—"Wild Animals at Home," and "Two Little Savages," the latter full of wood lore and Indian lore. "On the Road to Bagdad," by Capt. F. S. Brereton, would send, with Geoff Keith, a young subaltern, a member of the Expeditionary Force, one of whose interesting journeys is up the Euphrates in a naval patrol boat. "Northern Diamonds," by Frank Lillie Pollock, is a story of three Canadian boys in the woods, and "Red Fox," by Charles G. D. Roberts, is in the best vein of that much-loved Canadian author.

—KATHARINE HALE.
