THE LATE JOHN CUDAHY.

John Cudahy, Chicago Board of Trade operator, banker and pioneer packer, who died at his home in Chicago last week, had never completely recovered from an operation for appendicitis which he underwent four years ago.

He sought to renew his health in California several months ago and then had been in the care of physicians. He is survived by his wife, two daughters and two sons.

No other men bore a higher reputation on the Chicago Board of Trade or in commercial circles there than John Cudahy. He was born in Ireland on Nov. 5, 1844, and in 1849 moved with his family to Milwaukee.

There he was educated and as a boy entered the packing industry, being employed in turn by Edward Rodda, Layton & Co., and John Plankington, large packing house firms. He was the first appointed general provisions inspector for the Board of Trade of Milwaukee.

He became a partner of Chapin & Co. in Chicago, in 1875, the firm becoming Chapin & Cudahy in 1877 and later the Cudahy Packing Company. As a speculator he had hardly an equal. He controlled with his brother the largest packing house in Milwaukee, and the principal packing houses in Louisville, the Stock Yards Company there, and a large plant at Nashville.

ADDRESS IN TORONTO

Mr. Justice Riddell Speaks at Veterinary College Commencement—Speaker Disgusted by Crowds of Young Men at Hockey Games

(Toronto Star)

A stirring and powerful address, the dominant note a call to arms, was delivered at the commencement of the Ontario Veterinary College by Hon. Mr. Justice W. R. Riddell, of the supreme court. Commencing with a review of the great advances made in veterinary surgery during the last few years, the speaker urged upon his audience that duty as leaders of men.

The speaker dwelt upon municipal politics, declaring that "Some one must do this work; if you think you can no better, say so, state your reasons and try your hand. There is no disgrace in being a municipal politician, but the disgrace is in not being one."

He compared the divine right to rule as claimed by the Kaiser with the right of parliament to take or give power representing the people. The Prussians were content to apply their principles to their own land and would have no complaint. Summed up, the speaker said that the ideal was that they should take who have the power, and they should keep who can.

"This is a war of aggression, a war of conquest, conceived in greed and brought forth in avarice. It is a war of a brutal invasion of a peaceful and neutral country." The speaker charged that the attack was the "most disgraceful" of the English-speaking world.

"It is our glory and our pride," said the speaker, "that our Canadian boys are at the front in this war. It is where the greatest drama of all time is being played, and we hope and pray that they will not be the only ones to be successful. But more men and more men, and still more men are needed. They are impatiently waiting for us to give them the material out of which soldiers can be made."

Those of that age who remain behind and fail to fight for the Empire should be of two classes only, the cripple and the coward. It is shameful to see in some places the crowds at hockey matches and the like, of hale and strong young men, whose life has been one of ease under the flag, and who now cannot recognize their duty to fight for it.

In England it is the custom in some parts for young women to present those young men of their acquaintance who should, and do not, volunteer, with a white feather. Is there any need of the maidens of Ontario doing that? If so, the white feather will be a burning badge of shame forever to those who wear it.

"Some there are who cannot go; some are too old or too feeble! This is at least open to all who cannot go by reason of age or infirmities; they can give what they can towards the better arm of those who do go.

If any man's decision is based upon the thought that by remaining at home he may make more money for himself, do more good to himself, be as bad as a coward, he is a shirk, and will richly earn the contempt he is sure to meet. He will not be able to look in the face the returning heroes in khaki. Heaven grant that there are none such here."

NEARLY TWO MILLIONS INCREASE IN DEBT OF THIS PROVINCE

(Chatham World)

It appears by an article in Friday's Globe, evidently dictated to the editor by the provincial secretary, that we are together to consider when we interpreted the minister's hazy statements to mean that he had sold the $2,282,800 of 8 per cent bonds instead of an equal amount of bonds he had authority to issue at 4 1/2 per cent. It appears by the

THAT TIRED FEELING

Relieved by Hood's Sarsaparilla, Which Renovates the Blood.

That tired feeling that comes to you in the spring, year after year, is a sign that your blood lacks vitality, just as pimples, boils and other eruptions are signs that it is impure; and it is also a sign that your system is in a low or run-down condition inviting disease. It is a warning, which it is wise to heed.

Ask your druggist for Hood's Sarsaparilla. This old standard tried and true blood medicine relieves that tired feeling. It cleanses the blood, gives new life, new courage, strength and cheerfulness. It makes the rich red blood that will make you feel, look, eat and sleep better.

Be sure to get Hood's, because it is the best. There is no other combination of roots, barks and herbs like it—no real substitute for it—no "just-as-good" medicine.

ministerial editorial that the minister issued all the authorized bonds, $2,276,979, except $28,000, and that he sold the $2,282,800 of unauthorized 8 per cent bonds in addition. Against his issue there is $282,000 of bonds held over, showing an actual increase of $1,889,900 in the

The effort to get from the provincial secretary a lucid statement of the provincial debt is still in progress. Mr. Stewart has asked for a detailed statement of all interest-bearing obligations of the province, but, judging from previous replies of the minister, it is not at all likely that his questions will be properly answered. The government does not want to confess that Mr. Stewart's charge, that it increased the debt $1,600,000 last year, is correct. It has made no denial, and it is now apparent that the increase is even greater than the amount mentioned by Mr. Stewart.

ANXIOUS TIMES FOR PARENTS

Children Often Seem Pining Away and Ordinary Medicine Does Not Help Them

The health of children between the ages of twelve and eighteen years, particularly in the case of girls, is a source of serious worry to nearly every mother. The growth and development takes so much of their strength that in many cases they actually seem to be going into a decline. The appetite is feeble, brightness gives way to depression; they are often nervous, headache, fits of dizziness, or occasional fainting and a complaint of weariness at the slightest exertion. Ordinary remedies will not bring relief. The blood has become thin and watery, and the child must have something that will bring the blood back to its normal condition. At this stage no other medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Their whole mission is to make new blood, which reaches every part of the body, bringing back strength, strength and energy. Mrs. James Harris, Port Rowan, Ont., says: "The age of thirteen my daughter began to look very pale, and seemed listless and always tired. She did not take interest in her school work, and she would not eat well, and did not sleep well at night. I took her to our doctor who said she needed more iron, and he gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She took the Pills for nearly two months, when she was all right and lively as any girl could be, gained nicely in weight, and has since enjoyed perfect health. I am quite sure that the Pills did not do it, but my daughter will do for other pale, weak girls. I have also used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills myself, and with best results and can only speak of them in terms of greatest praise."

HOUSES FOR WORKERS.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mossy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-made product called "Wyley's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyley's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft, leathery and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

Dear Sir:—The enclosed cutting from an Ontario paper may stimulate the common council to devise a plan for relief of congested parts of the city.

That large city-covered acreage on the Gipsy road, west of Fairville, is still unoccupied. Surely we ought to take a lead out of Toronto's book.

This is the cutting to which Mr. Hatheway refers:—The Housing Problem. Toronto has recently been taking definite steps in regard to better housing. It is now nearly three years since the Toronto City Council, the Civic Guild, the Manufacturers' Association and the Board of Trade met and formed what is known as the Toronto Housing Company. The one idea of the organization was to make living conditions easier for those in humble circumstances. After considerable land had been purchased, not too far from the centre of the city, the "cottage flat" type of building was decided upon. The cottage flat is a modern apartment with its own front door to the street. Each house contains two cottage flats, one downstairs and one upstairs. All the flats are heated by steam from a central plant which also furnishes hot water the year round. There are no dark or poorly ventilated rooms, because the buildings have free exposure on all sides, and all rooms are outside rooms with no other buildings facing them to obstruct the light. The rentals range from fourteen dollars to twenty-five dollars a month, and include heat and hot water. Even with these low rentals the money invested pays six per cent. These model flats are proving such a success that they are springing up in many outlying wards, and the outlook is that within a few years' time the slums in the centre of Toronto will pretty well be abolished.

HIGHLANDERS LUCKY. Few Casualties Due to Their Good Behavior.

The good management of the 48th Highlanders is commented upon in a letter from Pte. Stuart James, of Toronto, writing from France as follows: "I am glad to say that our battalion has come off with very few casualties, which is due, I think, to good management and the behavior of the boys. At times we had some hard trials in the trenches, which were by no means very dry and most of the time very cold. "It is no great fun when they are shelling you, and the best thing is to duck and take your chance of the shells throwing mud and sand bags into your face, while through it all we seem to keep up a good spirit, and only remark, "That's a close one." The third time in the trenches one shell landed right into our dugout. Then we had no home until we got busy and built it up again. You have read in the papers where the Germans destroyed churches and hospitals, and it is too true."
