

In June we held our annual Open Missionary Meeting when we were addressed by Rev. Mr. Winchester of Berlin ; financially this meeting was not a success, but spiritually it was the best we ever held.

In September we held our Annual Praise and Mite Meeting when the attendance and collection were both good.

The proceeds from sale of our Missionary Calendar of Prayer for 1891 were handsome, and we believe this blessed little monitor has had something to do with the increased attendance throughout the year.

In June we had an Open and Informal Social Meeting, when a lantern exhibition was given showing views of our Mission Stations in India.

In May it was announced that the work of preparing gifts for the scholars in India had been allotted to the Mission Bands, and we at once set about doing our share. By August 128 dolls had been neatly and prettily dressed. In this we were helped by a few who are not members of our Society, and to them we owe our kindest thanks.

And now we desire with grateful hearts to take courage and go forward ; we are far from being contented with present attainment.

We feel that our report would be incomplete if we failed to renew our pleading for more workers. We will not venture to say how many of the young women of our Church should be interested in this work, but surely there should be more than 44. We cannot all join the laborers in the foreign field, but here is a share of the work at our very door. It is not all giving either, we would remind you there is he that scattereth and still increaseth, and the little acts of self-denial we are called upon to practice make our lives richer and better, and win for us the approving smile of Him who sits over against our treasury and watches as the gifts are brought.

Amount handed Treasurer Presbyterial Society, $84.95 ; value of contribution to box for India, $50.00.
