The Closing Reception in the Ladies College Saturday Evening.

BACKVILLES, N. B., May SI.—The guad reception which is one of the rest events of the college year was ald in the parlors of the Ladles' Col-ure last night, and was attended by bout five hundred people. The Mono-on orchestra furnished a particularly me programme, and the function was ne of the most brilliant ever field are.

The morning dawned cloudy and cold, with little wind. At 11 o'clock the innual series of the Theological Union was preached by Rev. J. C. Berrie of Jacksonville, N. B. The, ad-dress gave evidence of much thought, and was greatly appreciated by the arge congregation present. The choir of the Methodist church, amisted by several students from the institutions, rendered special mugo for the occasion. The solo by Miss Few was one of the most pleasing fea-tures of a highly interesting and im-pressive services. This afternoon the farewell meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held in the College chapel. Excellent music was furnished by the united choirs of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., and the service was a grand one.

innished by the united choirs of the M.C. A. and Y.W.C. A., and the serice was a grand one. Long before the hour of meeting to-ight the Methodist church was crowd-d to the doors. Fully eleven hundred eople were present, many being oblig-d to stand during the entire service. tw. G. M. Campbell of St. John deliv-red the Biaccalaureate sermon, which reas an eloquent and powerful effort. On Saturday morning, as per the nnual programme, an exhibition flu-minal programme, an exhibition flu-minal programme, an exhibition flu-mer were present. The work was par-leularly good and reflects credit on L. d. Colpitts, the instructor, and on hose who took part. The ring and nattress work was especially good. dessrs. Jakeman of Halfaz, Brooks of Chatham, and McKeen of Newcastle being the stars. Those winning prizes ire: Gold medal, H. Jakeman; sliver medal, H. Brooks; callsthenics, Thos. land." THE LAST OF HER FAMILY. Mrs. E. J. Fairbanks, widow of Whit-tomb Fairbanks, who died in 1878, and daughter of Thomas Plummer of the old, firm, of Noyes and Plummer, re-membered by some of the older resi-dents of this city, died at her home, 187 Wright street, N. E. city, on Sun-day morning, at the age of 78, the last of her family. Mrs. Fairbanks had been in fairly good health until the fil-ness which carried her off came on about three months ago, since which she has suffered severely, but bore it patiently. The deceased has been a member of the Cangregational Church almost since its inception, and was al-ways interested in its welfare. Interment will be at Fernhill on Tuesday afternoon.

Stocks $50,000 in a Year and a Day. (Gloucester, Mass., Times.) Soh. Catherine and Ellen, of Boston, arrived at T wharf Wednesday with one of the largest shack fares of the season, 130,000 pounds of fresh fish. Up to this trip, the Catherine and Ellen had made the wonderful stock of $49,100. Her year ended May 11, se that in a year and a week she has put over $30,000 to her credit. a record probably never equalled by any fishing schooner, and all made in fresh fishing. Her trip of Wednesday will bring in over $1,300, so that she will have a safe margin of a few-hundred dollars over the $50,000 mark. The Catherine and Ellen is owned by Capt. What the poorer classes have to com-plain of is not lavish expenditure, even in bad taste, but in the methods by which property has often been ac-quired. The tich mother of an Ame-rican girl has been severely criticised because she settled upon the mar who was about to become the girls hus-band, a yearly income stated at $50,000. While the folly of purchasing a title for a girl may be admitted, the dis-tribution of $50,000 a year by a man whose credit was based on his title is a benefit to the people at large. It enables the titled man to pay his cre-ditors, who in turn were enabled to pay their creditors. It is better that some very rich men make fools of themselves than that they live econo-mically and hoard their surplus In-comes. LONGEVITY OF ENGLISH MIL-LIONAIRES. (London Standard.) Not long since Dr. Alfred Russel Wallace remarked apon "the compara-tively short lives of millionaires. As everything that comes from his pen commands attention, this statement was taken to be the true result of statistics till, a few weeks since, an English writer went back to the data. He finds that the phrase is not justi-field by recent statistics. During 1800 nine English "millionaires" died, leav-ing in the aggregate 105.000.00. The average age for these nine testators was 74; the youngest was 50, and the oldest 51 years. During 1001 the deaths of eight millionaires were recorded whose joint estates were valued at $62. 500.000. In this case the average age was 73, the youngest was 63, the old-est 90. In 1902 five millionaires died and their average age was 78. Long-evity, and not brevity, is a sticking fact in the lives of very rich men. There is a good reason why this should be so. The wealthy-by their wealth -can and do secure the advantages of change of scene and of climate, and command all the resuits of scientific progress, including the aid, skill and advice of the greatest of our doctors and surgeons. They, therefore, should live long; and as a matter of fact they do 30. itt, 1b...... ayes, e..... hnson, 2b.... ckney, r.f.... hite, s.s... Dermott, p. ... ANDREW CARNEGIE'S DANGER. (New York Tribune). As the various members of the Board of Essimates and Apportionment were assembling for the last meeting before Mayor Low went away on his vacation last week, the mayor asked Controller Grout this question: "If a man has an income of twenty million dollars à year, and gives away even millions a year, how long will it take him to dispose of his entire for-tune?" The controller, with an amused ex-pression on his face replied that it would take "forever and the day atter." "That is the way I figure it, too," said the mayor, "but I wanted the confirmation of the chief "figurer" of the city before expressing my opinion on the subject." There was a pause in the conversa-tion as the others waited for the mayor to continue. He said nothing. Thaily the controller asked Mayor Low what he wanted the opinion for. BIG BILL DEVERY TALKS. (New York Paper.) Mr. Devery made another important contribution to the literature of the day when he freed his mind in regard to the voracity of Murphy: "He's goin" through the bluff of being decent, but look at his record in the old dock board! Does that look as if he's dyin' for his feller man? He's for Murphy, an' he ain't satisfied to use his hands. He wants to get in and use, a steam shovel. He's one o' them fellers that wait for 10 or 40 years to do the people, and these do 'em good and plenty."
