Do you remember my telling you there were frumors? Well, it seems that Watson of the steel mills got tired of waiting for the men to come to his terms, and he's been getting a force of non-union men together on the quiet. He has them quartered at the works tonicht ready to open at daybreak, interference or no. The strikers got wind of it and naturally that meant trouble. There'it be lively doings at the plant before morning. I'm afraid, but, thank God, our young medoman is safely out of it." "What are they going to do?" "What are they going to do?" "Can't say. High on the Weather Side All the party were perched high up on the weather side as the sloop cut through the waves with the water al-most coming over the gunwales on the lee side, when Captain Haskell gave a shout of warning that he was going to tack, and then threw over the tiller. Just at this moment the boat rose high up on a wave exposing her to the full brunt of the wind. An unusually heavy gust struck her, and in a twinkling the sloop was over on her beam ends and the party of ten was in the water. For one brief moment it was every-one for oneself. Captain Haskell, how-ever, took in the struction in one quick glance. He had been clinging to the sheet and his tenacious hold had not "St. John, by virtue of its geographical position, is the natural winter port of Canada. The wind was too high and the sea too rough for them to handle the small boat. They were in grave danger themselves of be-ing thrown once more into the water. The upset, however, had been seen from Eagle Island, not far from the accident, and as soon as possible a sloon was sent out to pick up the sur-

Mr. Castle again emphasized the op-of this port and said he hoped no effort would be spared to place the proper tacilities here in St. John. "You simply must have better fac-lities and have them right away," he said, "if you hope to see the western grain pass through your port. It is idle to talk about anything else. It may be costly, but it seems to me that it is money well invested." "So far as the elevators are con-cerned," said Mr. Castle, "their speed capacity for handing grain is far too Imited. At Sand Point it is claimed that the elevators can load grain into the steamers at the rate of 10,000 bushels."

"As a western man," Mr. Castle re-marked, "I want to impress upon you that the port of St. Joho must be sup-plied with facilities not only to handle the grain which will come here this winter and next winter, but to take care of the increased output that the West will make five and ten years from now, for at present we are only on the fringe of the agricultural belt.
