OF INTERCOLONIAL DEAD

MONTREAL, Oct. 2-Alexa rigue MacDonald, stock broker, Que-bec, died at his home in the ancient capital last evening, at the age of 63. Mr. MacDonald, who was a native of Quebec province, began life as a tele-graph operator, but after a few years graph operator, but after a few years started out as a railway contractor. During the building of the Intercolonial Railway he had important contracts. Upon the extension of the road to Levis, he became divisional superintendent with headquarters at Riviere du Loup. He retained this position until the accession of the present government to power at Ottawa when he was ment to power at Ottawa, when he was

The Three Charges Will be Tried Collectively—Public Will be Excluded -Trial Begins Thursday

In the circuit court Tuesday mornng the grand jury came in at 10.20 o clock and returned a true bill against William E. Clarke on all the counts in the indictments. Judge Landry thanked the jury for their careful attention and discharged them.

The prisoner was then brought in and the indictment read over to him. He pleaded not guilty. Mr. Baxter raised a technical objection to the indietment and thought it should be quashed. The objections were an wered by the attorney general. His honor reserved judgment.

Mr. Baxter then objected to having all the charges tried on one indictment. He thought it was very strange that all the counts in the indictment should not have been brought up be ore a magistrate before taking the case to the grand jury. As it is these charges have only come up before the grand jury, and the prisoner does not really know what he has to defend. He thought it is not fair by any means to have all the charges tried under one head. At the least the case of attempted rape should be taken up separately and the other two charges ogether.

The attorney general contended that it was perfectly right to have the two extra charges brought before the grand jury without having them before a magistrate. He thought that Mr. Baxter should feel gratified that the charge of rape had been dropped and the charge of attempted rape put in

Mr. Baxter then moved to quash the count in the indictment charging the prisoner with assault on Mary Tuttle

The attorney general did not see what power his honor had to quash the count. He thought that if the judge wished he might decide that the counts should be tried separately. Judge Landry said that Mr. Baxter had presented his views in a strong, logical manner, but in spite of this fact he was inclined to believe that there should not be three separate trials, as he saw no sufficient reasons for having these trials when one would

Mr. Baxter contended that the count of attempted rape should at least be tried separately, Judge Landry said, however, that all the counts should be tried together.

At 12 o'clock the court adjourned for twenty minutes until Judge McLeod should have time to open the October sitting of the circuit court. Judge McLeod opened the court, and upon the grand jury being called he in-formed them that there was no busi-ness either civil or criminal to bring up. The court was then adjourned

Judge Landry resumed his session and the following jurors were emfollowing jurors were panelled: Hugh Ryan, Chas. H. Col-well, Michael Cain, Reverdy Steeves, James Wilson, A. Nichol, J. P. Willnell, Wm. Hickman, John Martin, Geo. E. Smith.

There was considerable trouble in getting a jury, as a large number were challenged by Mr. Baxter and several by the attorney general. Morton L. Harrison and W. G. Magee were challenged by Mr. Baxter for having expressed opinions on the case. Reverdy Steeves and Michael Cain were appointed to decide whether these men were eligible to the jury or not. They decided that Mr. Harrison was eligible! challenged by Mr. Baxter and several lecided that Mr. Harrison was eligible Mr. Baxter then peremptorily chal-lenged Mr. Harrison. Mr. Magee on being sworn stated that when he was notified that he was to serve as a juror in the Clarke case he made the statement that he thought the prisoner should be hanged, and he was still of the same opinion. Upon hearing this it was decided that he was not eligible as a member of the jury.

MONCTON, Oct. 2.-The election of Rev. Dr. Annand as moderator was the principal business transacted at the first session of the synod of the Maritime Provinces convened at St. John's Presbyterian church this evening. The opening session of the 33rd synod was largely attended, not only by lay and ministerial delegates but by Monctonians generally.

The election of Dr. Annand to the po ition of moderator was unanin the part of the synod. There had been another candidate named for the posi-tion, Rev. A. B. Dickie of Quoddy. Dr. Annand, who is a missionary of Santo, New Hebrides, was nominated by the Presbyterians of Lunenburg, Yarnouth, Halifax and Miramichi, and Rev. Mr. Dickie was nominated by the Presbyterians of Truro. Rev. Dr. Miller, of Yarmouth, the previous moderator, occupied the chair and after the opening devotions addressed the court referring touchingly to the loss sustained by the death of several brethren during the year in-cluding Revs. J. D. McKay, missionary at Demarara, J. D. Murray of the Presbytery of Miramichi, and Ewen T. Cronin's liquor store on Germain Gillis of the Presbytery of Pictou. Many things marked the progress of the church from the year 1825, when the Glasgow Coionial Society began to send missionaries and support to the colonies, until the present time. Particular reference was made to the last thirty years. In thirty years the population of the Markime Provinces has thirty years. In thirty years the population of the Maritime Provinces has practically remained stationary. In 1876 it was 804,000, and in 1906, 900,000, cellar were left open and the contents of the kegs had flowed into the cellar. 1876 it was 804,000, and in 1906, 900,000, this being 12 per cent. of increase. In 1876 there were 172 congregations, Glasses were also left on the counter.

Accordingly Monday night he went the shop instructing the some of them only mission stations.
But last year there were 240 regular on guard in the shop instructing the pastoral charges. In 1876 there were 17 home mission fields. In 1966 there did. The first development was shortly were 41. In 1876 there were 152 active ministers. In 1906 there were 234 ministers with eight church officials and Shortly afterwards again there were professors. In 1876 there were 16,545 footsteps, this time apparently of two families. In 1906 there were 26,222.
