"materiel broad cloth on his back. Having "sold the Yankees so cleverly, he gave the "finishing stroke by disposing of his rifle for "$5." The paragraph, as it appears in the 'Gazette,' is headed "Sambo too cute for Uncle Sam." Its whole tone is one of tri-umph and admiration for this scoundrel, who, by committing perjury, has succeeded in de-frauding the United States Government of a large and of money. The Gazette' is a large sum of money. The 'Gazette' is very fond of talking about "honour." The Conservatives are "the honourable people" par ezcellence; the Reformers are the re-verse; therefore the 'Gazette' is Conserva-tive. As Mr. John A. Macdanda J. Burgham, do; T. Hawkins, do; J. How different the opinion of the officers and gentlemen of the English army with re-spect to rascals like the "clever" idol of the 'Gazette,' is well shown from an incident A mon decord decord for the formation of the state of the st 'Gazette,' is well shown from an incident which occurred last week. A man deserted from the 30th Regiment and enlisted in the United States army. Having got the green-backs he returned to his regiment. Did the court-martial, in consideration of the "cute "way in which he cheated Uncle Sam," for-give his desertion? Not at all. They sen-tonced him to a long term of imprisonment.
