

There is another thing. If we love God we are to grow like him. We are to be gracious to others. How will the grace that God gives to us show itself in our lives to-day?

The other day I saw a big, colored picture in a magazine. Perhaps, you saw it, too. It showed a soldier in his khaki uniform, and helmet. He was sitting beside a little Belgian boy and feeding him. How thin the little fellow looked and how big and sober his eyes were! He looked as if it had been a long time since he had had a good meal, and a long, long time since he had laughed like other happy boys.

That soldier had saved the little Belgian boy. GOD'S GRACE had put it into his heart to do it.

If we try to mind God's rules, some of God's wonderful grace will come into our own hearts. Then we shall be able to do brave and kind deeds as did the soldier.
