One of the best known
and ablest physicians in New Brunswick has said I regard

GRODER'S
BOTANIC
LYSPEPSIA
SYRUP

as an excellent remedy
and one destined to attain a large sale.

One who has used above remedy
has this to say:

SALISBURY, N. B.,
May 3rd, 1893.

This is to certify that after suffering for about seven years with Dyspepsia, I was induced by a friend to give the remedy a trial.
I had tried so many with such indifferent results that I felt skeptical of its efficacy. However, I am glad to say that I tried your Groder's Syrup to the extent of two bottles and have never had a twinge of dyspepsia since last November.

Yours, J. E. FOSTER.

The harmonious testimony of many witnesses should convince you that GRODER'S SYRUP CURES DYSPESIA.

Executors' Notice.

FAMILY PRIDE.

"I don't believe you love me Leslie," said Roger Stuart, his face flushing with wounded pride.

"That remark is unworthy of you, Roger," was the quiet response.

The young man colored deeper still,
but insisted—
"Women generally marry men whom they love."

"Do they?" smiling a little, "I think you are mistaken. Women quite often marry men whom they do not love."

"As you will, doubtless."

"I will not!" indignantly. "Do you think that I, who refuse to be your wife because your father objects to our marriage, would stoop to wed a man whom I did not love? What right have you to make such an assertion?"

"Forgive me," humbly. "It is so hard to give you up, dear, that I hardly know what I say. Promise that I shall, when I have won my father's consent, you will be mine."

"No, Roger; never! Had I dreamed that because of my poverty he would object, there would have been no engagement between us. You see, with another smile, 'it is the result of my bringing up.' I have been taught that honor, truth and purity are the essentials in the best society and it is a revelation to me that because my father is a farmer, and my mother a farmer's wife, they are not the social equals of a small landowner."

"It is absurd," said Roger; "but our family is a very old one, and father has absorbed the pride of many generations.
Wait for me until he can be made to see things as they are."
