Christmases With Dickens

"Kit," in December Canada Monthly

When the mighty Spirit of Christmas descends to the earth he carries tucked under his vast wing the spirit of Charles Dickens—that bright and great and cherry-pitit who made Christmas twice the merry feast it is. No one will deny that a certain warmth glows in the heart at Christmas time—a delightful feeling of affection, towards all humanity, of brotherly love, of human interest in the very poorest brother of them all; there is, in fact, a feeling of light-heartedness abroad, a royal, a generous feeling as though we would snap a merry finger at all the year behind and that to come, and care not a jot what it brought us one way or the other.

It is good and wholesome and wise to spend an old-time Christmas with Dickens if only to make us forget the modern mercenary spirit which has crept into the grand old feast. And how many sorts of Christmases you can spend with him!

Walk right up, masters, and take your choice.

Will you have it with surly old Gabriel Grub in the churchyard under the light of that very young moon who was more than half afraid to shed a ray of her pale light on anything so un-Christmas-like as an unfinished grave?

Sour enough was old Gabriel as he sat on a flat tomb stone and made a job of a coffin as a Christmas box as he drank deep from his wicker bottle. But Gabriel was not "watching out" so the "Gobblins" got him. You remember him, that terrible little Goblin that suddenly popped up from somewhere, with the long legs and the short body and the inquisitive nose that smelled out Gabriel's bottle and wanted to know what was inside it. But what of it when the Goblin with a fearful laugh which made old Gabriel's last few hairs stand up straight upon his head and set his old teeth chattering in their sockets, ordered Gabriel to be held by the throat by a smaller goblin while another—small, but vicious—poured down the old sexton's throat such a draught of flame-like liquid as made him gasp again as he wiped the tears from his eyes.

A Christmas draught that to make the Devil himself chuckle.

EIGHTEEN POISONED

Berlin, Dec. 27 — Eighteen people in the Berlin municipal shelter for the homeless, died during last night from poisoning, and another considerable number are dying or seriously ill from the same cause.

The number of destitute men who took refuge in the institution last night, was 4,414. Some of them brought with them scraps of extra food in order to give a Christmas touch to the frugal meal of bread and soup served cut to them by the authorities. This extra delicacy consisted in many cases of spoiled smoked herring, of which a large number partook.

Soon after midnight groans were heard in the dormitories, of which there are about forty, and the officials, on making an investigation, found several men dying and others in convulsions. The physicians attached to the institution at once applied emetics and at the same time telephoned for help from the city hospitals, but the state of many of the men was hopeless, and the eighteen of them died in a short time.

SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION GETS CANADA SPECIMENS

Four Naturalists Explored Wild Country Surrounding Mount Robson for Months.

The Smithsonian Institution Washington, gets nine hundred specimens from the Canadian wilds. The Smithsonian party which accompanied Dr. A. O. Wheeler, president of the Alpine Club of Canada, on his topographic survey of the British Columbia-Alberta boundary line and the Mount Robson region, has just returned to Washington after a successful tour.

The new collection is quite complete, and covers practically all the birds and animals inhabiting this previously unworked territory.

The party, consisting of four members, included the assistant curator of Mammals and Mr. J. H. Riley, of the division of birds of the National Museum.

Assembling at Edmonton, Alberta, early in July, the party proceeded on the Grand Trunk Pacific railroad to the end of the line, where they found it necessary to take pack horses to penetrate the Mount Robson region. The land to be surveyed included the territory lying about this mountain in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, comprising the most rugged and broken country imaginable.

Amid this wonderful scenery Mount Robson rises in titanic outline the highest peak in the Rockies, probably between 14,500 and 15,000 feet, and surrounding it for a distance of fifty miles in all directions lies the field of survey.

In this wild and unclaimed country the party of naturalists remained nearly four months protected by special permits from the Canadian Government. The natural history work was divided up, Mr. Holister and Mr. Riley collecting the birds and small animals, while the other two collectors hunted big game.

The collection includes some 900 specimens of birds and mammals, the latter ranging in size from mole-like creatures called "H. H. Rews," to full grown caribou and bears. One enormous grizzly bear was obtained by a fortunate shot. Much fine material for exhibition groups was secured, including a series of caribou, mountain goats, mountain sheep, beavers, and many varieties of small animals.

Besides birds and mammals, a large number of plants and insects were collected. All the specimens have been turned over to the National Museum, where they will be put on exhibition.

THE OPTIMISM OF THE CONSUMPTIVE

Perhaps there is no disease, whilst often fatal in its outcome, is yet viewed with so much optimism by the patients themselves. It is well that it is so, for all know to what extent one's own feelings, whether cheery or the opposite, influence both mental and physical conditions.

"I was certainly impressed with this thought," remarked a newspaper reporter, "in interviewing a patient of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives. She was a pretty girl of 24, brown hair and dark gray eyes, who had come all the way from Saskatchewan. She said she felt pretty sick when she first arrived at the Hospital, and for two days the nurses had to personally feed her. 'I have been in bed all the time,' she said. 'I have been well cured for while I have been here. I am sure I am going to get well, and feel better now than before I took sick. Everybody seems so happy and bright, and tells me when I get up I am sure to like it. Everything is done to please me and make me happy. One may well wish that so bright a patient should soon be restored to health.'

Be Fair. Buy a sack or barrel before judging PURITY FLOUR

SOME people have attempted to judge PURITY FLOUR before knowing the facts about it—before using it. So we ask you to be fair and to buy a sack or barrel of PURITY FLOUR and give it a thorough try-out before attempting to arrive at a judgment.

Look at the beauty and loftiness of the golden-crust, snowy-crumbed loaves, fit for a king. Count them and see how many more of them PURITY yields to the barrel than ordinary flour does.

Taste the creamy, flaky pie crust, and the deliciously light cakes PURITY FLOUR rewards you with. My!

How they make your mouth water!

Such high-class results can only be obtained when using a flour consisting exclusively of the high-grade portions of the best Western hard wheat berries.

And remember, that, on account of its extra strength and extra quality, PURITY FLOUR requires more water when making bread and more shortening when making pastry, than you are accustomed to use with ordinary flour.
