Tublin, Feb. 12.—It is said the informers in the case of the Phoneix Park Kavanagh then saw Fitzharris with a caboning from the opposite direction. Four men alighted from the cab, which stayed a long way up the road with the horse's head towards Dublin. Soon afterwards he saw two men approaching and heard a cry, and saw one fall. Did not see the other fall, but the four men whom he drove to the park jumped on the case of the Phoenix Park murderers in the case of the Phoenix Park murderers in the case of the Phoenix Park murderers have given sufferent evidence to secure the conviction of the assassins. The car in which the murderers of Cavendish and Burke rode has been identified by Kavanagh and others at a pawn-broker's, where it was pledged for thirty shillings.

as the driver of the cab. He deposed that when he saw Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke approaching somebody among those he drove said the tall man was to be assassinated. Kavanagh said subsequently that he drove by way of Chapelizon and Roundtown to Palmerston Park. Kelly alighted at the terminus and Brady paid him £1. Kavanagh also said that after the men he drove to the park had alighted there, he put a nose bag on the horse, and while waiting he heard a per-son speak to Jas. Carey. Delaney after-wards instructed Kavanagh to look sharp and be ready to start, and upon this he drove nearer to the waiting group, which included persons he did not know. Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke were approach-ing arm in arm, and James Carey and Delaney, who had come back on the car from the place where it was waiting jump-down and joined the group. "IT IS THE TALL MAN."

Kavanagh was ordered to go further away by some of the conspirators. As he did so he heard somebody repeat, "mind 'tis the tall man." As the gentlemen came along, Carey or Delaney raised a white hapdkerchief. While witness was waiting, a car man nick-named "Nowts" passed, driving a passenger named Nolan toward Dublin, and some byciclists also passed. Witness thought he only saw one gentleman fall, and saw the other, who had an umbrella, lying on the ground. When driving from the scene of the murder they took to the left and crossed the bridge to the right along the Inchicore read. Delaney directed him where to drive, and he drove rapidly until he reached Roundtown, three miles from the park. Here Tim Kelly alight.

PAID AND DISMISSED HIM.

On Sunday morning he met Brady again at Townsend street, and received £2. Brady afterwards bought him harness. He allowed the car to remain as it was for some time, but afterwards had it painted. His mare was a dark brown. On the night that Field was attacked witness was on College street stand. Joe Brady again engaged him, and they drove into Fleet street. Delaney then got on the car and they drove to Hardwicke street where they alighted. They told him to wait, and while waiting Kelly and Lawrence Hanlon came up.

Kawanagh's evidence makes it certain that Mr. Burke was first murdered, and that the plot was primarily against him. As the examination progressed the prisoners appeared IN SHEER DESPERATION, and not one looked towards the court ex-cept Hanlon On Kavanagh identifying Delaney and James Carey there was such a commotion that the magistrate threatened to clear the court. Brady afterwards somewhat recovered his composure and endeavoured to smile. Kavanagh said he was so near that he heard one of the victims cry, "Oh." The tall victim (Burk) was lying on the road after this exclamation. The other victim, who was standing with an umbrella in his hands, Kayanagh afterwards saw

Rev. Father Wilds EXPERIENCE.

The Rev. Z. P. Wilds, well-known city missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachu-missionary in New York, and brother of the late eminent Judge Wilds, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, writes as follows:

"75 E. 54th St., New York, May 16, 1882.

Misses, J. C. Aver & Co., Gentlemen:
Last winter I was troubled with a most uncomfortable itching humor affecting more especially my limbs, which itched so intolerably at night, and barne too intensely, that I could searcely bear any clothing over them. I was also a sufferer from a severe catarrh and eaterrhal cough; my appetite was poor, and my system a good deal run down. Knowing the value of Aver's Sarsapalitia, by observation of many other cases, and from personal use informer years, I began taking it for the abovenamed disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose, After a shiert time the feverand itching were chayed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My catarrh and cough were also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred percent stronger, and I attribute these results to the nee of the Sarsaparilla, which I recommend with all confidence as the best blood medicine ever devised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, less than two be thes. I place these facts at your service, hoping their publication may do good.

Yours respectfully, Z. P. Wilds."
