The Directors of the Nfld. Savings' Bank
AND RAE ISLAND PROPERTY.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—A correspondent in your issue of Thursday last drew especial attention to an advertisement which has been appearing in the daily newspapers for some weeks past over the signature of "F. C. Bertheau, Acting Cashier," Newfoundland Savings Bank, and made some very pertinent observations respecting the manner in which the Directors of the Newfoundland Savings Bank propose to deal with the Rae Island property, which is one of the assets of the Bank. While there may be room for difference of opinion as to the best use to which the property may be applied, I think there can be no difference of opinion as to the sale by tender by which the Directors of the Savings Bank propose to part with the property. The desire of the Directors should be to obtain the highest possible price for the property.
This they are not likely to obtain by tender. Out of the three Directors two are business men, namely, the Hon. John Harris and the Hon. John B. Ayre, and they certainly should be able to realize that sale by tender is likely to defeat their object, which must be to obtain the highest possible price for the property. Let me state a case. A. B. and C. are anxious to become possessed of this property, and each tenders at a figure that he considers fair value for the property.
But B is prepared to go a higher figure than his competitors in order to secure the property. Under the tender system he has no opportunity to increase the amount of his bid, and the Savings Bank is consequently the loser. Then as Messrs. Harris and Ayre really desire to obtain the highest price for the Rae Island property, they have adopted a method of disposal that is likely to defeat their desire. There is another view to be taken of the matter. The tender system opens wide the door to favoritism, and even something worse than that.
Two or more of the tenders may be equal, and in such event the Directors have to determine who shall have the property; or, supposing the tenders are not equal, the advertisement does not bind the Directors to accept the highest or any tender; they can do as they please. Rumour says that a member of the Government wants to get hold of the property, and that certain prominent supporters of the Government are also desirous of acquiring it. As Messrs. Harris and Ayre wish to keep aloof from all suspicion of political jobbery and favoritism they should direct that the present notice be cancelled and that the Rae Island property be sold at auction to the highest bidder. Public trustees should not only be pure but above suspicion. The conduct of the Government in the matter of the non-appointment of a Cashier to the Savings Bank has already opened the eyes of the public to the fact that that important institution, like all other public interests, is being prostituted to personal and political ends. The Directors of the Savings Bank are not altogether blameless in respect to that scandal, for, as the parties directly responsible for the management of the Bank, they should long ago have insisted upon the appointment of a suitable Cashier, and have resigned rather than become parties to a piece of political chicanery calculated to shake public confidence in the Bank.

The Directors have shown themselves deplorably weak in that connection, and their conduct affords no guarantee that under the tender system proposed to be applied to the sale of Rae Island that property will not be sacrificed in order to meet the Government's political exigencies. I hope, Mr.
Editor, that what I have written may commend itself to your judgment, and that you will aid in preventing an other Savings Bank scandal by insisting, so far as you are able, on the proper course being adopted in the disposal of Rae Island property.
Yours truly,
DEPOSITOR.

A Residence Looted.

Sunday evening Mr. Alan English and his wife left their home on Hamilton Street to go to prayers in one of the city churches, and locked the door of their residence. When they returned later in the night they were stunned to find that some person had forced the door, and in going into their home they found further evidence that some intruder had been there. The place was ransacked and it was found that a new dress belonging to Mrs. English and other articles of apparel had been stolen.
The matter was reported to the police, who are working on the case.

C.L.B. Meeting.

The past and present members of the C. L. B. held a meeting last night at the Armoury when the subject of the celebration of the 20th anniversary was discussed. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm was manifested. The programme of events for the occasion proposed at last meeting was adopted. The holding of a big concert at a later date was also spoken of and this, no doubt, will take place also. Lt.-Col. Rendell occupied the chair, and whilst expressing his approval of the proposed programme hoped that all would unite in making the celebration, the success that the occasion merited.

A BIG FREIGHT.—The S. S. In-

Cascarets Surely
Straighten You OutNo Headache, Biliousness, Upset Stomach, Lazy Liver or Constipated Bowels by morning.

Are you keeping your bowels, liver and stomach clean, pure and fresh with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage through these alimentary or drainage organs every few days with Salts, Cathartic pills, Castor oil or Purgative Waters.

Stop having a bowel wash-day. Let Cascarets thoroughly cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the undigested, sour and fermenting food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poisons in the intestines and bowels.
A Cascaret to-night will make you feel great by morning. They work while you sleep—never gripe, sicken or cause any inconvenience, and cost only 10 cents a box from your druggist. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never have Headache, Biliousness, coated tongue, Indigestion, Sour Stomach or Constipated Bowels. Cascarets belong in every household. Children just love to take them.

American
Bison IncreasingBut Still Only a Sorry Remnant of Once Great Herds.

Coincident with a report that the number of buffaloes in this country is rapidly increasing and no longer in danger of total extermination, Prof.
Thomas D. Eason, of the Oklahoma State University, has sounded a note of alarm regarding the narrowing circle of wild animals in the United States within recent years, says "Popular Science Monthly."

The bison, or buffalo, has been taken care of barely in time to insure its preservation, and Prof. Eason says that unless measures are taken for the preservation of other wild animal many of them, particularly the wapiti or American elk, the moose, caribou deer, prong-horned antelope, Montana goat, black bear and California grizzly, will soon disappear completely.

"Within the past twenty years," says Professor Eason, "the snowy heron has practically disappeared. Twenty years ago there were in the region about Charleston, S.C., at least three millions of these birds; now less than a hundred remain. There is but one small colony of the American egret left in this country, and that one is on the coast of South Carolina. This colony was fired into last year, and again this year, so that twenty birds remain. It will be but a few years unless some drastic measures are taken, before the history of this bird will be the same as that of the passenger pigeon."

Between 1880 and 1890 3,800,000 alligators were killed in Florida. Twenty years ago it was a common occurrence to find alligators of great size in man-of the streams of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi Florida and Louisiana. In all these states, excepting Florida and Louisiana, the alligator representatives are very scarce to-day.

Government figures show that the herds of bison in this country in 1885 numbered about forty million head.
From 1850 to 1883, a period of thirty three years, the number slain was more than two hundred and fifty million, or eight million each year; a record which has few parallels. Ten or twelve years ago there were very few American children who had ever seen a bison. In 1890 the total number remaining in the United States was estimated at about a hundred and it began to look as if another year or so would witness the death of the last surviving bison. Steps were taken to save the bison from extinction with such good results that, according to the figures of the American Bison Society, there are now 2,108 of their distributed among three government herds and various private ones.

"Lost Chord
of Boyhood."

After distributing the prizes at Wakefield Grammar School, Dr. John Mitchinson, master of Pembroke College, Oxford, advised the boys to enter fully into the corporate life of the school.

"I am myself the melancholy example of the home wanderer, and I feel to this day what I have lost through ab-staining from the corporate life of a school. I never was at home in the playground. There was a 'lost chord' to my happy boyhood. I am devoted to boys. I love having them about me; yet I cannot enter into the conversations that go on among them. I cannot interest myself in the talk which goes on about games; it is a language I have never yet learnt to understand.
I feel I have a right to warn boys against being like me."

GOOD FISHING.—The fishermen of Lamaline, St. Lawrence and Burin are doing well with the fish lately; they are selling it green to American buyers.

Sidewalk Sketches.

By H. L. RANN.

THE EASY MARK.

The softest proposition of which ancient or modern history makes any record is the man who kisses a prosperous business good-bye and hooks up with a $1,500 office in the country building. After a man has held a country office for two years, he will be in just the frame of mind to bite off stock in a proposition to dam the Mississippi river with a few well-chosen words.

If he refuses to head every subscription paper that floats into the village, an outraged constituency will meet him at the polls bright and early and make him look like the by-product of a corn shredder. By the time a salary of 125 bones a month has been filtered through a few tag days, thirty or forty church suppers, a dozen firemen's dances and a neat sprinkling of charity balls, there won't be enough left of it to flag a bottle of condensed milk. Whenever they want to start anything in town, from a circulating library to a 5-cent barber shop, an open-faced committee will head for the county building with a fountain pen and a jolly that is calculated to be good for five bucks per job. We have yet to hear the first instance of a county officer turning down a sheet of foolscap headed "We the undersigned," and escaping with his life and his nomination papers. He is the original easy mark.

The October
Rod and Gun

On the eve of the opening of the big game hunting season, Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Publisher, Woodstock, Ont., is to the fore with a plentiful supply of good game hunting stories, covering Canada from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The opening story by Mr.
Bonnycastle Dale is particularly good, consisting of a fine description of the gallant efforts of a little fawn to escape, its rescue by the sportsman whose best instincts were aroused by its hopeless struggle, and its capture and revival by the petting showered upon it. The whole narrative makes an irresistible appeal to the highest ideals of sportsmanship and proves a capital opening for a number which includes hunting of many varieties and under widely different conditions.
Mr. Starratt's paper on Woodcock Shooting in Nova Scotia is another article which stands out prominently as one which cannot fail to stir the feelings and the memories of all bird hunters and make them live many of their experiences over again. Big game hunting, however, is given the pride of place in this number, and it is a foregone conclusion that in many a camp throughout this broad Dominion Rod and Gun will prove not only an acceptable but an indispensable companion. Many an important article of the outfit would be less missed than this number. Those who have the arrangements for the hunting parties and camps so general next month throughout the Canadian woods will please take notice. A wet day in camp can be passed most pleasantly with a copy of the big game hunting number of Rod and Gun in Canada.

Clean It Up.

The condition of Garrison Hill at the present time is disgraceful. The place is traversed by thousands of people coming and going from the R.
C. Cathedral, and it is full of rocks and pebbles which are very trying to the feet. The place should be quickly cleared up.

You can scarcely tell what—it may be Hysteria, Insanity, Nervous Collapse.

You can only throw off this depre-ssant when the nerve cells are restored to health by such treatment as Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food. Your digestive system has failed to supply proper nourishment to the nerves, and you are compelled to seek aid from other sources.

It will take some patience and persistent treatment, but there is no way by which you can so certainly restore health and vigor as by the use of Dr.
Chase's Nerve Food.
The best time to restore the nervous system is long before such a critical condition is reached. Such symptoms as sleeplessness, headaches, nervous indigestion, muscular weakness, loss of energy, failure of memory and powdiscouragement tell of a failure of the nervous system and warn you of the approach of serious trouble.
