OUR NEW SERIAL - "The Nurse's Story"-begins with this issue. The human side of the great war in Europe is the disinguishing feature. The silent battles for life, the love and devotion of those who nurse the wounded and the dying, are told of in this most unusual story They are told by Adele Bleneau, the nurse in "The Nurse's Story," who was on the firing line. And there is a sweet romance in the tale, too. It is no exaggeration to state that no novel of the war yet written gives a better idea of the actual conditions at the Front than this story, much of the material being obtained by the author from influential friends in Eat Willoughby's Bread.

It is good news to hear that Douglas Dunnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Dunnett, of this place, has been promoted to the rank of lieutenant. Douglas enlisted with the 18th Battalion as a private, and after almost a year of constant service on the field, is certainly to be congratulated on his promotion. One thing obvious, there is no red tape in connection with his advancement; it has been earned by bravery and a full sense of his duty to his King and Country. Lieutenant Dunnett is the first East Elgin man to be made an officer on the field.
