Dear Sir,—

My farm, being the northeast half of lot 13, concession "A," Township of Camden, which I placed in your hands for exchange a short time ago, has been exchanged for property in the City of Chatham by your agents, Messrs, John E. Burgess and Norman Stirling, and which they have made a very satisfactory one. I believe your method of advertising, selling and exchanging farms to be a good one to both buyers and sellers. You are at liberty to use this letter in such way as you think best. Yours truly, (Signed) mantel bed, bedroom suites, bedsteads, front of the Sturtevant House. Nine shots were fired, and one of the principals and a bystander were wounded. cipals and a bystander were wounded. Neither wound is serious. The battle, which caused tremendous excitement along Broadway, was started by Philip Black, a Harlem poolroom proprietor, who opened fire on Jules Formel, a retired saloonkeeper, as the latter walked out of the hotel. There had been trouble between the men. Formel was more courageous than most of the Broadway strollers, for he stood Live Dry Goods and Fancy his ground, drawing a pistol and returning the fire. During the exchange of shots a couple of spectators were seen to drop, but it was found only one of them had been hit. Then a Central office detective took to hand in the encounter, and with the aid of other officers dragged the combatants to the police station. Black was shot in the left arm. The spectator was Wright Kershaw, a postal clerk. He was shot in the foot. Both Formel

and Black were held by the police for further examination.
