

Sees Happiness In Industry If Golden Rule is Applied

Ernest Inglis, trade union official, holds the opinion that the golden rule is workable in industry, but that so far, it has too often worked out in the interests of capital.

This was his statement on Sunday morning at the meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, when he presented the labor man's view of the subject of "The Golden Rule in Industry," introduced the previous week by A. E. Silverwood.

In the course of a brief address, the speaker dealt with two questions that had been sent in to be discussed, the first, "Should the manager or working director represent not only the investors but the employees?" The answer was a decided affirmative.

The question dealt with the subject of absentee control. The labor organizer strongly emphasized the desirability of human contact wherever possible. In a large concern, it was difficult, he admitted, for the management to know all the employees, but there should be some system which insured not only justice, but mutual understanding.

An illustration of injustice that may be done, leaving an aftermath of bitterness incompatible with the best interests of employers as well as employees, was that of an employee of a large firm who was dismissed for posting up a notice that, according to law, he would have been privileged to do the next day.

"Had there been the human touch," said Mr. Inglis, "and complete understanding, this would not have occurred."

Stating as his hypothesis that the sum total of human endeavor is happiness, the speaker expressed the conviction that if the golden rule were worked out in industry, there should be happiness for all concerned.

While recognizing that capital and material are essential to constructive work and achievement, Mr. Inglis illustrated the point that the human factor, labor, is indispensable for "supplanting" a pile of poles, wires and other equipment for building an electrical line. Lay beside it a great pile of money. How far would the materials and money get in constructing the line without the labor?

If labor is indispensable to achievement, the lessor he drew was that it should receive equal consideration with other factors.

Mr. Inglis was introduced to the Brotherhood by James G. Hussey.

Mr. Silverwood, president of the Brotherhood, states that so much interest has been aroused in the subject of "The Golden Rule in Industry," that it is proposed to continue it for another week, to afford time for general discussion next Sunday. This week, copies of twenty or more questions which have been sent in to be answered, will be sent out to all members, that they may have an opportunity to give thought and study to them.

EGGS IN DEMAND ON CITY MARKET

Potatoes Sell at $1.50 to $1.65 Per Bag.

One load of new oats was sold for $1.20 per cwt on the local market on Monday.

A load of straw was sold for $11 a ton.

Wheat was selling at $1.10 per bushel. Hay was a sharp drop in price and is now quoted at $15.00 per ton. There were 12 loads offered for sale.

Eggs are selling at 45c a dozen by crate, 47c by the basket, and from 50c to 55c retail.

If previous Dollar Days are any criterion, there will be a record attendance at the local market on Thursday.

The roads are in good condition, and it is believed that the farmers will kill two birds with one stone, selling their produce on the market and then taking advantage of the bargains offered by London merchants.

The Dollar Day market has been as large as any market during the year.

Chicago, Jan. 30.—Although the stock market made something of an upturn at the opening today, prices soon underwent a decline. Initial gains were absorbed by the influence of higher quotations at Liverpool. On the bulge, however, holders here showed a decided inclination to realize profits, and circumstances in some degree to reports of rain were needed in the Southwest. Opening prices, which varied from 1/2c off to 1/2c higher, were followed by a setback all around to well below Saturday's finish.

Hedging sales against purchases of corn to arrive were more or less responsible for a sag in values of corn and oats. After opening unchanged to 1/2c lower, the corn market continued to weaken.

Oats started unchanged to 1/2c higher and went downward in line with other grain.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Jan. 30.—The initial session on the local stock market this week was a dull affair, with only five stocks showing an upward movement on the opening quotations, and in only one did the stock rise above 100 shares.

Portland Railway was weak, losing 14 points at 68 1/2. Steel of Canada sold off from the high point to its close at 55. Mackay lost 1/4 at 82 1/2. Steamships preferred was unchanged at 42 1/2.
In the banking section a good demand sprang up for Imperial Bank, and sales were freely made at 15 1/2.
War loans were very quiet, with prices steady. The dullness extended to the unlisted section also, and the session, altogether, was one of the quietest for some time.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Jan. 30.—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—Buying of shipments, metals and Chain Store shares strengthened the general list at the opening of today's stock market. Mercantile Marine preferred, United Fruit, Utah Copper, National Lead and Kresge gained large fractions to 1 1/2. Otis Elevator and American Ice common and preferred, and Hide and Leather preferred also were substantially better.
Further realizing sales caused moderate recessions in Corn Products and May Department Shares. Union Pacfic was the one prominent exception to the higher trend of rails.
