

PRICES MAY COLLAPSE UNDER HEAVY STRAIN

Yorkshire Post Warns Canadian Shippers Against Large Shipments.

Canadian Press Despatch.
London, March 15.—The Yorkshire Post publishes expressions of doubt as to whether the agricultural department at Ottawa is not too optimistic with regard to the approximate price of wheat. It is stated that the top price for English wheat was 22s. 6d. (10s. 7d. at the present rate of exchange), and it is suggested that the Canadian wheat, not all of which will be of the quality to make any effect on the price of the Canadian wheat, will be sold at a little less than the 22s. 6d. (10s. 7d. at the present rate of exchange) and that the 22s. 6d. (10s. 7d. at the present rate of exchange) will be sold at a little less than the 22s. 6d. (10s. 7d. at the present rate of exchange).

What is probable, the Post says, is that there will be a considerable break in prices if 25,000 Canadian wheat are landed in the United States in April and May as anticipated.
"Canada will obviously endeavor to make an impression at the outset," the Post continues, "and growers will be glad to get rid of the surplus wheat in order to turn them into home feed stock. It is just as certain that if prices collapse, some observers think the ministry of agriculture if it adheres to its traditional role as guardian of the agricultural interest, will endeavor to prevent the prices from falling to an injurious level, basing this view on their knowledge of the retail price of wheat in the United States if they are showing greater independence in relation to the prices for imported wheat."
