More Direct Evidence.

CHICAGO, November 10 .- Yesterday Cap tain Shuttler cleaned a piece of the muddy carpet raked out of the sewer in Lakeview Friday, and found it was exactly similar to the carpet sold to J. B. Simonds by salesman Hatfield, of A. H. Revelles & Co. The police view the finding of the carpet as of very great importance. It serves to identify the valles sold to Simonds. The carpet also serves to locate Dr. Cronin in the Carlson cottage.

CHICAGO, November 9.—The Cronin trial was continued to day. But little of interest was developed. Walter S. Haines, a professor of chemistry, testified that he had examined pieces of wood, paper, etc., taken from the Carlson cottage, and that they bore blood stains.

Prof. Talman and Dr. Belfield, migroscopists, testified regarding their examination of epselmens of blood taken from the Carlson cottage and from the trunk, and of the hair taken from the Carlson cottage and from Cronin's President Harrison formally opened the Southern Exposition at Montgomery, Ala, on Wednesday, by touching the key of a telegraph at the White House, Washington, connected blood corpuscies of certain lower animals couldn't certainly be distinguished from those of human beings.

KNELL OF THE SUGAR TRUST.

Created for an Uniawful Object, it Has No Legal Status.

NEW YORK, November 8 -The sudden drop in augar trust stock on Wall street yesterday morning, was due to one of those mysterious premotions that so frequently affect the quotations of the Stock exchange just befole an important decision is rendered by the courts. The General term of the Supreme court handed down a decision in the case of the People against the North River Sugar Refining company affecting the validity of the sugar trust. The North River company had been dissolved by Judge Barett on the application of the Attorney General, on the ground that the Sugar Refineries company, or Sugar Trust, as it is more properly known, was an unlawful combination. A receiver was placed in charge of the company's busii snita were heune soul members of the trust. An appeal was taken from Judge Barnett's decision, and pending the result no proceedings were preseed for the directation of the other companies

The hones of the trust were ruthlessly shattered by the action of the General term. which sustains the judgment of the lower court. The opinion is written by Judge Daniels, who says :-

"A jury certainly would be fully justified in concluding from the agreement and the other facts in evidence in the case that the governing object of the association was to promote its in terests and advance the prosperity of its associates by limiting the supply when that could properly be done, and advancing the prices of the products produced by the companies. To conclude otherwise would be to violate all the observations and experiences of practical life This is a controlling feature in this controversy. And that it was intended to be secured by the organization provided for, and which actually took place, is reasonably free from doubt. And where that appears to be the fact the agree ment, assecciation, combination or arrangement. or whatever else it may be called, having for it which it is denounced as a criminal enterprise. The law at this time, as it has for many years in this state, has made it a misdemeanor for two or more persons to conspire "to commit any act injurious to the public health, to public morals or to trade or commerce, or for the perversion or obstruction of justice or of the due adand associations of this form have been held in this and other states to violate these provisions of the statute so far as they prohibit acts in inrious to trade or commerce,

As the facts have been developed the assotion r combination into which the defendant has in this manner entered was created for an unlawful object. And it has, by making itself a party to that association, renounced and abandoned its own duties for the transaction and management of its business, and placed its interests and affairs under the dictation and control of a board which legally have no power over it and ren-dered itself liable to the judgment which has terprises in the same pursuit may be set on foot to counteract the effect of this combination will not relieve the defendant from this result. That, in view of the large capital and extended combination already secured, is a very remote probability. For other manufacturers brought in competition with this combination could easily be driven from the field of trade by it and its paramount control still maintained and perpetuated. And the probability that its power would be used in this manner is so decidedly fortified by experience that capital would be reluctantly placed at the risk by other persons with so formidable a competitor to be encountered.

Judge Daniels finds that the utility of the North River company as a manufacturing competitor has been terminated by the nower of the trust. Franchises are given with the condition that they shall be used for the benefit of the public, and when they are subverted they may be annulled. The company has become a party to monanoly, and conse-

A CLEVER ARREST.

TORONTO, November 16.-On the 27th of July has, Kaneas City, Mo., was greatly exercised over the flight of Andrew C. Drumm, confidential secretary for his millionaire uncle, Major Andrew Drumm, a stock broker. The nephew had been missing but a few days when the Major reported to the police that his nep-hew had forged his name to several notes amounting to several thousand dollars and also embezzled the sum of $58,000. The furitive was traced by the Pinkerton agency to New York, where it was learned that he had embarked on the City of New York for Liverpol. Circulars were at once sent by the detectives to all parts of Europe and Canada, one of which fell into the hands of Sergeant Reburn, of the Toronto detective department, who instructed the members of his staff to keep a sharp lookout for the man. The circular stated that there might possibly accompany the fugitive a man of about 22 years of age and a lady of 24, of saw a lady answering the descrip-tion. He followed her to the Arlington hotel and saw her addressed by the two men described in the circular. At 11 o'clock the tric were arrested in their rooms. The alleged forger had arrived in Toronto on Monday and registered at the Arlington as from Piqua, Ohio. The lady was registered as the wife, and the gentleman accompanying him was registered as Oscar J. Drumm, Piqua, Ohio. The prisoners were searched by Sergt. Reburn upon their arrival and $305 was found upon Andrew C. Drumm, $870 upon the brother and $255 upon the wife, who was handsomely dressed and loaded down with diamonds. Besides the money found were also deeds of property evidently purchased lately at London, Canada. At first, the fugitive denied has identity, but when confrented with the circular, his photograph and the hotel register he stated that last Sipiember he returned from England and by engagement with his brother at the Tecumseh house, London, Ont., purchased some $20,000 worth of real estate. After communicating with his present wife, then in Kansus City, the pair went to Montreal, where they spent a few weeks, and then repaired to Bracebridge, Ont., where, on the 1st instant, according to a marriage cert.ficate in the possession of the lady, they were married by a Methodist minister and started for Toronto. Sergeant Reburn wired Detective Pinkerton at Chicago, acquanting him of the arrest, and received an answer that Andrew C.
Drumm be held but that there was no charge
