BC Gas International Inc. is a wholly owned subsidiary of BC Gas Inc., a major Canadian natural gas distribution utility with annual revenues in excess of $ US 600 million. BC Gas International promotes the expertise and experience of BC Gas in international markets in all aspects of natural gas distribution. Specifically, the company offers wide ranging consulting services and strategic partnering in the long term management of projects related to natural gas. BC Gas International draws on technical, management and marketing experts at BC Gas to provide its clients with the benefits of hands-on operational experience.

BC Gas International offers unmatched expertise in natural gas transmission systems, distribution systems, engineering services, metering and measurement methods, gas purchasing and storage, gas utilization programs, industrial, commercial and residential marketing, training programs and project management. In addition, the company carries out privatization and merger/acquisition studies.

BC Gas is the world's largest expert in Natural Gas for Vehicles (NGV) industry. As a result, BC Gas International has the technology and experience to develop and provide the full infrastructure for NGV, implementation of the custom designed program, marketing and training programs and customer service programs. The company also offers customized computer software for NGV refuelling programs and other advanced technologies. BC Gas International is interested in developing business opportunities in the natural gas field in the Middle East and North Africa.
