

MICHEL DUPUY

Mr. Michel Dupuy was born in Paris, France, on January 11, 1930. He graduated from Collège Stanislas in Montreal in 1946 with a BA, and from Balliol College, Oxford, England, also with a BA degree. He received a diploma in International Relations from l'Institut des Etudes Politiques, Paris, France, in 1952, and a Doctorate in International Law from the Université de Paris in 1954.

Mr. Dupuy joined the Privy Council Office in 1954. In 1955, he joined the Department of External Affairs, and subsequently held a number of posts abroad. In 1960 he became head of the Western European Section, Economic Affairs Division within the Department in Ottawa. He was later posted to Brussels, Belgium, as First Secretary, and in 1963 became Deputy Head of the Canadian Mission to the European Communities there. From 1965 until 1968, Mr. Dupuy was Economic Counsellor in Brussels, becoming Minister and Deputy Permanent Representative of the Canadian Delegation to the North Atlantic Council until 1969, when he returned again to Ottawa to assume new duties as Director General of Economic Affairs. He was appointed Assistant Under-Secretary of State by Prime Minister Trudeau in 1971, and President of the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) in March 1977.
