

ested. Mr. Edgar Ogilvie who is graduating from that College next Summer and aspires to be employed by the C. P. R. His father <sup>now retired from active</sup> <sup>to service</sup> is Colonel Ogilvie of Kingston who had an extremely raw deal from the late Sir Sam Hughes in his worst days. Both he and Mrs.

Ogilvie were very good indeed to my boy who was killed in the War. Their house in Kingston was a second home to him all the time he was at the R. M. C. I would therefore do anything in the world for them as you well understand.
