

trim our lamps and be ready, that when the summons comes we may receive it without fear, and its execution without shame.

There is one ever ready to hear, ever ready to help our infirmities. Sweetly has it been said of Him, that "In the posture of prayer he ascended up into Heaven, where those blessed hands still remain clasped, and will so remain interceding with the Father for us all till he comes again in glory."

KINGSTON, CANADA WEST,

July, A.D. 1845.