THE LAW AND THE FORT.

Editor World: It is well-known to most citizens that the express purpose for which the city applied to the government for possession of the old fort and grounds was its preservation as an historic relic. It is not so well-known that the act of the Ontario government authorizing the city to acquire these grounds specifically defines and limits the uses to which these grounds shall be put. It was the hope of the patriotic and historical societies that when the city's proposed object was known to the board of control and when it was known that the heroes who gave up their lives in the defence of this fort, buried in and around this enclosure, the board would heed the public demand that the sanctity of the place as a mausoleum of patriots should be respected.

But as none of these claims seem to have influenced the board of control, it will be necessary to point out to them that the Ontario legislature itself took the precaution to guard these public rights. Sub-section 36 of section 10, chapter 36, of the statutes of 1903, reads as follows: "Any lands acquired within the City of Toronto by the corporation of the City of Toronto, under the authority of this section, shall be used for park or industrial exhibition purposes only."

Thus the reader will see that it is out of the power of the city to run a street car line through these grounds, and if the extra line to the exhibition is to be built it will be along the lake front or by some other route.

GRAND STAND BURNED

The stand was filled with its thousands at the time of the review of troops from all over the province by H.R.H. the Duke of Cornwall (now the Prince of Wales) on his memorable visit here. Under the stand, too, have been displayed the famous Queen's Jubilee presents, the Windsor plate and the government models of royal naval war vessels. The dairy exhibits were for years under the stand, too. At the last fair the Ontario government, Cobalt exhibit was displayed there.

IRISH GOVERNMENT.

Liverpool, Oct. 18.—In an address delivered here to-night, Richard Robert Cherry, attorney-general for Ireland, announced that the government would introduce a measure for the establishment of an even more extended system of constitutional government for Ireland, thus giving the Irishmen a great degree of management of their own affairs. This could be done, the speaker said, without tending towards separation, which would be more injurious to Ireland than to England.

ITALIAN AND HEBREW RIOT

streets, where the sons, Louis and Joseph, were in. Louis was in, starting an announcement. "Your father is being murdered," yelled the boy. Louis grabbed an old revolver, which is kept in the postoffice and hurried to the rescue. Nearing his father's house he encountered the large crowd of Italians and Hebrews who had gathered and who were jostling among themselves. Louis brandished his weapon but was set upon by the Italian trio and knocked down. Somebody bit the hand which held the revolver and secured it. He was battered on the head and chest with stones and bricks behind the right ear. Luckily it was not a deep stab.

Hebrews flocking to the fray gave him a chance to recover himself and he hurried up to the house. The Italian who began the trouble then took possession of the street and paraded it with a revolver in his hand. He scared everybody away but his compatriots, one of whom took the arm from him, but later returned it.

Then Louis thought he saw a policeman and started out to get him to make an arrest. He reached the corner, the Italian saw him and started for him. Joe to the rescue. Then Joe came up. He had been down a block and had wheeled to the bank where he got a mixed up story in which it seemed to him that Italians had endeavored to rob the bank and had nearly killed his relatives. He secured one of the revolvers in the bank, of which he is manager, and set off.

Hurrying up Chestnut-street he saw Louis the centre of a fresh attack. He fired four shots in the air. Then according to stories—he saw a knife flash and the Italian run. He thought Louis was stabbed and he fired. The bullet struck his mark.

Then the wounded man dived thru the front door window of Nicola's grocery store. In doing so he lacerated his legs badly. He was arrested without trouble. He was taken to St. Michael's Hospital in an ambulance. The doctors there had to probe for the bullet in his left thigh. His legs are badly gashed with the glass. He is 35 years of age, and a big muscular fellow.

Gurofsky was also arrested and taken to No. 2 police station. He is charged with "shooting with intent." He was refused bail and will appear in court to-day. T. C. Robinsonette will defend him. Gurofsky is one of the best known residents in the ward. He is prominent among the Jewish fraternity, and an enterprising young fellow, with quite an inclination toward political activities.

Feeling among the Hebrews is strong about the police. The young lady in the postoffice telephoned to No. 1 station, repeatedly for police, stating that there was shooting and stabbing. She was told there was no one there who could be sent out. Toronto hasn't yet reached the state of the police reserve system. Even the patrolman on the beat didn't show up, and the arrests were made by men who came on duty on the 4 o'clock shift. One boy even ran as far as the city hall to get a policeman. He didn't.

P. C. Dan Robinson, who was on duty at College and Yonge-streets, was told by a boy on a bicycle of the trouble, and was the first officer to arrive on the scene. To get thru the crowd he had to use his baton. He arrested Gurofsky, who still held the revolver.

A riot call was sent in to No. 1 police station, and a posse of officers was sent out by Inspector Davis. They had no difficulty in handling the crowd.

Acts of Terrorism. Hebrews state that the Italians' use of knives in the ward is "awful." A month ago a woman customer who in some way offended the young Italian clerk in the store had her cheek slashed open with a knife, which the lad picked from the counter.

Nicola's grocery store is accused of having yesterday provided the Italians with broom handles with which to continue the fight.

A fierce one. For ferocity there has never been a fire to exceed it in Toronto. The strong gale blew the big bonfires into roaring volcanoes. Here and there, where copper wires or sheeting were consumed the flames were of a bluish-green. The heat was terrific and near the buildings the flower beds burst into fiery blossom with the intense temperature.

At the transportation building the constant falling of the interior structures produced a near state of universal thunder, while the timbers crackled like rattling volleys of musketry. No such pyrotechnics ever graced the exhibition as distinguished the night of Thanksgiving Day, 1906.

The World of Sept. 11, speaking of fire protection at the fair, said: "An effort may be made to increase the number of firemen next year. It is said that there should be a hook and ladder truck on the grounds, and also an engine. The water mains are small, and the pressure in case of a serious emergency not to be too strongly depended upon. The suggestion has also been made that a permanent fire station be located there, in view of the value of the property now represented."

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS

HAMILTON HAPPENINGS.

Corner Stone of New Barton Street Methodist Church Laid.
Hamilton, Oct. 18.—(Special).—The cornerstone of the new Barton-street Methodist Church was laid this afternoon by Thomas W. Watkins. Others who took part in the ceremony were: Rev. H. G. Livingston, the pastor; Rev. R. J. Trevelyan, Rev. Dr. Williamson. The building will cost $14,000. John McKeever was arrested early this morning on the charge of being disorderly. He had a lively encounter with P. C. Hill, who made the arrest. An unknown man, supposed to be a barber at the Commercial Hotel, was found in what is feared to be a dying condition in an excavation for a new building near the hotel. He had a deep gash on his head, and it is thought that he is suffering from concussion of the brain. He was discovered about 10 o'clock, and was taken to the City Hospital.

The Toronto Daily and Sunday World delivered to any address in Hamilton before 7 a.m., daily, 25c a month; Sunday, 35c a copy. Hamilton office, Royal Hotel Building, Phone 965.

McGill Denies the Story

Of Taking of Securities

None Were Kept In Office, He Says—No Losses In August Either—Shareholders May Move To-day.

President Cockburn and ex-manager McGill of the Ontario Bank will be formally arraigned this morning in police court, and a remand for a fortnight is expected by those interested in the case. It will be several weeks before any definite statement of the bank's condition may be looked for. The shareholders are still indignant at the transfer to the Bank of Montreal for $100,000. It is said that the matter had been properly handled, the good-will and connection might have brought $1,000,000. The sudden panic of the directors, which led to the slaughter, arose from the necessity of making a return to the government on the 15th. To avoid this, the transfer was hurried thru on the 15th, the 14th being Sunday.

A. E. Ames intimates that the shareholders may begin some proceedings to-day. This would mean that the directors are being asked of the court by certain shareholders to sue for the benefit and in the name of the bank.

Mr. Knight, secretary of the Canadian Bankers' Association, is quite annoyed by a statement, credited to Inspector Caldwell, that it is not the custom to examine the head office of a chartered bank.

"The reverse is true," said Mr. Knight, "in every well-regulated bank. The Bank of Montreal, for example, they call in to aid their inspectors the managers of nearby branches. Don't these managers naturally go after any irregularities like ferrets? The head office is always thoroughly inspected."

Mr. McGill declined to be drawn into the controversy, but said, "You will understand," he said, "that while I ordered inspections, and received reports therefrom, from the branches, I could not order myself to be inspected, or ask to have the result of such inspection submitted to me. It was for the president or the directors to have the general manager inspected, and any reports would go to them."

"By the way, please deny the absurd report that I took $1,000,000 of securities from the head office, last August, to New York."

McGill said that securities are kept at the head office, and are deposited in London, New York, or at the various branches. "But, apart from that, there was no drop in the market last August, and I could not lose any money at that time."

to become the party nominee, showing that the name of Laurier is worn out, worn threadbare in French Canada.

Dr. Lecombe, M.L.A. for St. Mary's, has been asked to run, and so has Ald. Mercier, son of the late premier, but both refuse to be sacrificed, for they realize that it means when the election comes that the government that it will take $25,000 to keep St. Mary's division in the Liberal column. In St. Mary's the Conservatives are so hopeful, they claim that the man to be chosen next week will redeem the constituency.

On the other hand, it is pretty well understood that if Amyot goes under in Quebec County, the writ will be delayed in St. Anne's and the impossible pretence will be made of carrying Ald. Dan Gallen's lost cause before the privy council.

Lorenzo Robitaille has, it is said, been offered $12,000 if he will leave the field to Georges Amyot, whom Sir Wilfrid decided to run in the County of Quebec, simply because he is worth the price over a man in dollars and could promise a magnificent corruption fund.

Turn Down in Quebec. The once haughty prime minister of all Canada and sole proprietor of the Province of Quebec, went down to the ancient Quebec, where he was met by a man who refused to support Amyot with political excommunication. What was the result? A county that had returned Hon. Charles Fitzpatrick by 2000 majority, laughed Sir Wilfrid to scorn and Henri Bourassa holds his government up to public contempt and excommunication.

As a matter of fact, if the things that were said of Laurier on nomination day before 5000 cheering and delighted French-Canadians were repeated in an Orange lodge it is certain there would be a revolution in the land. All these happenings point to the fact that if the Conservative party in this province had one ounce of pluck they could work up such a feeling here against which the most powerful efforts of the Laurier party would be as chaff before a winter's wind. Instead of this, however, they prefer fighting amongst themselves and handing over victories to the aborigines and independents.

HAYTIAN INSURGENTS BEATEN
Government Sends Detachment of Troops to Attack Them.
Cape Haytien, Hayti, Oct. 18.—As a result of the refusal of the insurgents to lay down their arms, the government sent out a detachment of troops from Monte Capre to attack them. The insurgents were defeated and took refuge in the mountains. Gen. Navarro, insurgent, has crossed the frontier on the way to Cape Haytien, whence he will embark for a point outside the country. Gen. Guellio, also an insurgent, at the head of a small body of men, is still holding out. He has lost much of his popularity. Several bands of insurgents have surrendered.
