late Mrs. Macnamara was an eqtive and useful member of the Meth-edist. Church for the past 25 years. At the early age of ten she was organist in Pickering Village Church, and later, moved to Toronto. For several rears she occupied a similar position in Annette-street Methodist Church, and afterwards at Davenport Methodist Church. She was an accomplished musician and her rare musical talents were devoted to the cause of God, and freely given to the church of her ly given to the church of her

Mrs. Macnamara had gathered together a class of young men, number-ing between 40 and 50, known in the Sabbath school as "The Tri-Mus." Her faithful teaching and wonderful influence over these young men's lives will never be forgotten.

Deceased was widely known and greatly beloved in West Toronto, and her death comes as a great shock to the members of her family and the community at large in this city.

She is survived by her husband and two little boys, father, mother and one brother, Edgar, Deceased was an only daughter of J. R. Hoover, inspector Queen City Fire Insurance Company

The funeral will take place from her ate desidence on Monday at 2 o'clock o Davenport Methodist Church, and thence to Prospect Cemetery.

The speaker said: It is very customary in our day to speak of buildings such as this in which we are meeting as churches, but which we are meeting as churches, but this is contrary to the Scriptural usage and, we believe, has its disadvantages. The word church, as Scripturally used, signifies a congregation of the Lord's people, and has no reference whatever to the place in which they meet. Whenever two or three meet in faith in the name of their Lord and Redeemer, He declares that He is in their midst; and the Apostle assures us that they would constitute an Ecclesia, a church, a congregation of the Lord.
