The Serbians are prosecuting their forward march 'vigorously up both banks of the Cerna River, east of Monastir. They made considerable progress towards Grunishte on the eastern bank of this river, while one of their divisions has carried a crest to the north of Iven. The Serbians have also repulsed counter-attacks of the enemy in this area.

Further west in the Cerna Bend the France-Serbians made fresh progress towards Yarashok. The attack just made on the line Iven-Yarashok has apparently broken that line by the carrying of a hill north of Iven on the western bank of the Cerna, inside the bend.

* WAR SUMMARY * THE DAY'S EVENTS REVIEWED

T appears from the direction taken by the advance of the allies into Macedonia that they are directing their principal efforts to the securing of both banks of the Cerna River from beyond the bend at Iven to Krivolak, where it discharges into the Vardar. The Serbians have now advanced far enough to compel the Bulgarians, it is believed, to evacuate Monastir, but the main movement of the allies is not on Monastir. It is for much bigger stakes, including the pushing forward rapidly enough to seize the Babuna Pass to the north before the disorganized Germans and Bulgarians have time to rally and to post fresh forces to defend this defile. In the fighting reported of his majesty, the emperor, to reayesterday by the French War Office, the Serbians made further pro-gress in the piercing of the Iven-Yarashok line by carrying a crest generous initiative taken by the govgress in the piercing of the Iven-Yarashok line by carrying a crest north of Iven Village, and they and the French also moved towards of Russia, in favor of a people to Yarashok by capturing Monastery Hill. On the road to Monastir the French cavalry carried a village in the region northwest of Kenali. The French took 400 prisoners, three machine guns and a howitzer.

In order to obtain maximum results by reaching Nish and Sofia and cutting the line of the Orient Express, rapid action is necessary on the part of the allies to take advantage of the confusion wrought in the ranks of the Bulgarians by their defeat. But in order to carry forward their offensive without pausing, the allies require good roads. Doubtless some of these have been provided by the Germans and the Bulgarians, but farther north, between Macedonia and old Serbia, the bulk of the communications consist of bridle paths. Plenty of pack mules, with mountain artillery, will be required for the coming
