Kuropatkin Sends Czar "Rusi Troops" Order Japs Seize Liaoyang, Russians in Full Retreat

Another Stand Being Made 18 Miles North of Evacuated Town. But Flanking Movement of "Little Fellows" Still in Progress, Carrying With It Grave Danger to the Whole Russian Army.

WAR BULLETINS.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 4.—Emperor Nicholas this afternoon received a telegram from Gen. Kuropatkin, asking for the immediate despatch to the far east of the Sixth Army Corps.

Tokio, Sept. 4.—(1 p.m.)—Field Marshal Oyama, telegraphing at 9 o'clock this morning, says: "After the fighting of last night, the Russian army has fallen into our hands. Our casualties are believed to be very heavy. No report has been received concerning conditions on the right bank of the Taitse River."

Tokio, Sept. 4.—(10 a.m.)—Fighting in the vicinity of Liaoyang is continuing to-day.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 4.—The Russian losses before Liaoyang, on Sept. 2, as officially computed, were 3200.

Salon, Sept. 4.—The commander of the Russian cruiser Diana has received orders from the admiralty to disarm his vessels.

Oyama Owner of Liaoyang Stakenberg Comes to Own

At 9 o'clock Sunday Morning Japs Take Possession of Town. Their Losses Are Heavy—Cessation of Fierce Fighting Is Reported.

The only direct news from the seat of war that bears the Sunday's date came from Tokio, in a report from Field Marshal Oyama, saying that Liaoyang fell completely into the hands of the Japanese at 9 o'clock this morning. The Japanese casualties were believed to be heavy, and that nothing was known to the right bank of the Taitse River. The only comfort for the Russians at home was the news conveyed in a report from Gen. Kuropatkin, dated Sunday afternoon, saying that Gen. Stakenberg's first Siberian army corps of 25,000 men, reported Saturday as having been cut off, to the westward of Liaoyang, had been safely extricated, and that the corps has succeeded in joining the main Russian body on the right bank of the river, but no news of the escape of Stakenberg are known. Gen. Kuropatkin also reported that the greater portion of his army, at the time of filing the report, south of Yental, ten miles northeast of Liaoyang, where fierce fighting had been in progress, it is indicated that the Russian army, Kuropatkin reporting that his men were not being driven from the neighborhood of his army.

Yesterday's telegram proved more favorable to the Russians, as they announced that General Stakenberg and the 25,000 men of the Russian command had succeeded in rejoining the main body of the Russian army. How he escaped is not clear, but it is not unlikely that the Japanese were too exhausted after five days' continuous fighting to follow up their advantage. It is on occasions such as this that the Russian government's successes on several cases might have been much more conspicuous.

General Kuropatkin's retreat seems to have been of a more orderly nature than the first reports of the last night's battle gave reason to anticipate. It will be necessary, however, to await the Japanese official reports before an approximate idea of the character and result of the long conflict can be formed. Enough is known to make it clear that the St. Petersburg story about the withdrawal from Liaoyang was a compulsory one, rendered necessary by Kuropatkin's crossing of the Taitse River, and was effected under severe pressure.

The Russians are making another stand immediately south of the branch railway from Yental to Yental Mines, about 18 miles north of Liaoyang, with the Japanese forces in close touch. Kuropatkin is therefore still in danger of being outflanked, and his retreat is therefore a difficult and dangerous one. The failure of the Russian government to reinforce him and thus save the immense stores concentrated at Liaoyang rather discounts the circumstantial evidence recently published of a great Russian force at Harbin. Japanese will now be fully posted regarding the "luring" strategy attributed to Kuropatkin, and in view of the caution they have hitherto shown are not likely to fall into the trap so openly described if it has really been set.

THE REAL MEANING OF LABOR DAY

"Marks a New Epoch in the Annals of Human Industry," Says President Samuel Gompers.

No martial glory or warlike pomp signals Labor Day. The marching host of workers manifest their growing intelligence and unalterable determination for the effacement of the unnatural and brutal causes that impel man to raise his hand against his brother.

Organized labor in its essence presents a rational, hence a peaceful, means for the introduction of normal, fair and just conditions.

FOURTEEN BURN TO DEATH IN GOTHAM TENEMENT FIRE

Work of Alteration Left Building a Veritable Death Trap for 12 Families.

New York, Sept. 4.—Fourteen persons were killed and nearly a score were injured in a five-story double tenement in Gotham-street at an early hour this morning. It was one of the worst fires in the loss of human lives that have occurred on the east side in several years, although the property loss was slight.

The fire occurred about 3 o'clock in the morning, and there was considerable delay in sending in the alarm. The dead included four women, one man and nine children, ranging in age from three months to twelve years. Many of the injured were taken to hospitals, and it is thought that several of these will die. Among the injured were five firemen, who were on the fourth floor balcony when it fell with them.

Several of the firemen were killed and wounded. The fire was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen of one of the tenements. The fire spread rapidly, and the building was completely destroyed.

BEAR YE ONE ANOTHER'S BURDENS

Men Cannot Be Christians by Mere Tradition or Respectability, Says Preacher.

NO OVERCROWDING IN CATHEDRAL

Seating Capacity Only Was Allowed and Many Hundreds Were Turned Away Disappointed.

"In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, Amen." The voice of the solemn words that rang out over the pews and galleries of St. James' Cathedral yesterday, while the sunshine peered thru the deep-hued glass and the vine leaves trembled at the open windows, and the absorbing of the church, ninety-five of his line, stood in lawn and crimson, the consecrated head of the Church of England, to preach the comfortable words of the gospel of Jesus.

"Our citizenship is in heaven," he read from Philippians iii. 20. The voice was rich and full and confident. "In the society and kingdom of our Lord Jesus Christ a week has passed since I first set foot on your—our Canadian soil. Such an experience to a thoughtful man is a stirring thing. But the peculiar privileges and opportunities of the gospel, and the absorbing of the church, ninety-five of his line, stood in lawn and crimson, the consecrated head of the Church of England, to preach the comfortable words of the gospel of Jesus.
