Honor to Honesty.—A very elegant tea service of rich plate was presented, on New Year's day, with appropriate ceremony, to a merchant in this city, who had been unfortunate in business; but, on his return to prosperity, paid all his creditors principal and interest. The inscription on the Tea Urn, as follows, records the honorable testimony:—

"Presented to WILSON G. HUNT, by John Haggerty, William Adee, and Joseph Corlies, in behalf of themselves and his other creditors, who, in the year 1832, satisfied that his insolvency was occasioned by misfortunes in trade.) accepted a compromise of their claims, and gave him a complete release from all legal liability; at a testimonial of their high respect for his just sense of the moral obligation of contracts, as evinced by the payment, in the year 1839, of the balance of their respective claims, principal and interest—an act reflecting honor on kinnself as a merchant, and proving him one of the noblest of the Creator's works, an honest man."—N.York Obs.
