Says an Upper Canadian Exchange:
Alf. Smith, who spent three or four weeks in Moncton coaching the Maritime League team of that city, figures that Sydney has not a chance against Quebec.
"I don't say that they haven't good men win there," remarked Alf., "but the good he are scattered, two or three to a team, and the rest bush leaguers. The hockey would hardly compare with any of the N. H. A. teams, because the poor players spoil the work of the good men to a great extent. Quebec will beat them away worse than they beat Moncton last year, because the Moncton last year, because the Moncton last year, because work she had not not man last year was a much better team than the Sydney outfit."

The ex-Ottawa star does not take much stock in the tales of rough-house work spread about the Maritime League. He says they do a little bit of it and then talk for a week. Outside of Sydney, none of the teams play a rough game, and the Sydney club are not as bad as painted.

Next year Moncton will have a new arena which will seat 3,500, and McMullen, the club owner, intends to collect a winning team. Alf. will probably go down to coach the Victorias in 1913-14.

Will Jose Rivers and Tommy Come Together for the Title?

By TOM ANDREWS

WO of the hardest light weight battles seen on the Pacific coast in years, occurred on the same day—Washington's birthday—when Ad Wolgast, former light weight champion, fought a terrific 20-round draw with Harlem Tommy Murphy of New York before Jim Coffroth's club near San Francisco, while Jose Rivers, Spanish-American 133-pounder, put Knockout Brown, New York light weight, to sleep in ten rounds. Both were near championship battles, as the winners are expected to get together to determine which one will meet Willie Ritchie next July for the American title.

Wolgast put up a wonderful battle, considering that he had not a great deal of time to condition himself. For the first half of the battle Tommy Murphy gave the Michigan bearcat, as many call him, a fierce beating, and had him in bad shape, but remarkable endurance came to his aid again in the thirteenth round and he fought with renewed courage and ambition, but was near collapse at the final bell; in fact, according to all reports both were ready to shout enough.

Murphy showed the better form and the more cleverness during the greater part of the battle and if he could have staved off Ad's constant body punches he would no doubt have gained the referee's decision. There seemed to be no doubt in the minds of the critics that Murphy earned the right to fight Ritchie for the title, even though he has not met and defeated Jose Rivers. Wolgast also proved that he is far from being "all in" as has been reported, but it was also evident that while he showed wonderful endurance, still he was not there with the punching powers that characterized some of his former battles.
