ALBERT COUNTY MAN SUCCESSFUL IN WEST

News of Interest—About Lovett M. Wood—Gets Appointment in Orient

New Brunswick people remember Lovett M. Wood, formerly of Albert county and publisher of a paper called the Albert Maple-Leaf. He went to the western states quite a number of years ago, and the following from the Seattle Post-Intelligencer of Feb. 20, shows that he has been very successful:

Lovett M. Wood, editor of the Seattle Trade Register, who was recently appointed States commercial agent to the Orient, has just returned from the east, and is now arranging his affairs in order to leave for the Far East about March 15 for an indefinite period.

Mr. Wood stated yesterday that he looked forward to being able to accomplish a great deal for the commercial interests of the United States and that he proposes to leave no stone unturned in promoting close business relations between the United States and the Far East. Mr. Wood said:

"I hope to be able to get my private affairs settled so as to be able to leave by the middle of next month. I shall serve under the direction of Mr. A. H. Baldwin, chief of the bureau of manufacturers."

"I can see before me a field of operations that should permit of marked results beneficial to the manufacturers of the United States, and I shall do my best, under the direction of Chief Baldwin, to make a thorough investigation of trade conditions in the extensive, wonderful and fast developing Oriental countries."

"I have received scores of letters of congratulation and hundreds of personal earnest wishes for success, that will be taken with me as an incentive and pleasant remembrance while far from home. My son-in-law, William R. Saunders, will be in control of my printing plant and the Trade Register during my stay abroad. I have accepted an invitation from the Seattle Commercial Club to address them."

Had a Distressing, Tickling Sensation in The Throat.

COULD NOT SLEEP AT NIGHT.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is rich in the lung-healing virtues of the Norway pine tree. It is pleasant, and effective. I had a very bad cough and could not sleep at night. I had a very bad cough and could not sleep at night. I had a very bad cough and could not sleep at night.

It will stop that tickling in the throat which causes the dry cough that keeps you awake at night.

Mrs. J. A. Smith, Marquette, Ont., writes: "I had a very bad cough and could not sleep at night. I had a very bad cough and could not sleep at night. I had a very bad cough and could not sleep at night."

Do not be humbugged into buying the so-called Norway Pine Syrup but be sure and insist on "Dr. Wood's." It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three plus trees the trade mark; the price 25c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

THERE is a certain woman whom I know who prides herself greatly on the fact that she sleeps with her chamber window wide open even in the dead of winter.

"My sleep wouldn't do me half so much good," she says, "if I didn't have all that good oxygen."

This woman is also very careful about the airing of her bed—pulls all the clothes off and lets them air at least until the middle of the forenoon, and thinks the woman who makes up her bed before breakfast a sort of hygienic Puritan.

All of which, except the harsh judgment of course, is most praiseworthy.

BUT—here's the rub—what I don't understand is why she doesn't extend her interest in fresh air to the day time, why she thinks she needs oxygen when she is asleep and not when she is awake.

For I have visited at her home and I know that this is the case. That is, I know that the living room and dining room and kitchen where she and her family spend much of their fourteen to sixteen waking hours are not treated to any such systematic daily airing as the bedrooms, where they spend their eight or ten hours of sleep.

Isn't that a queer inconsistency?

In the average household I don't believe that the living rooms are given a systematic all-the-windows-wide-open airing once a week in the winter, except on sweeping days.

And I think they should be treated to one at least once a day—better twice.

One housekeeper I know, who believes as I do about this, always opens all the windows downstairs as soon as she gets up and leaves them open for a few minutes, no matter how cold. The fresh air heats so much more quickly than the stale air that she says by the time the rest of the family are down the rooms are as warm as they would have been if she had not done this, and are filled with fresh air instead of the stale air of the night before.

So every night before she goes to bed she goes about the living rooms and puts all the shades that have been pulled down for the evening up to the very top notch so that if the sun is up before she is none of the sunshine will be lost from her home.

Modern housewives are beginning to realize the value of manufactured germs as weapons with which to fight disease and dirt.

That is good, but they ought not to fail to realize also the incomparably greater value of those germs which the greatest wealth cannot buy nor the most absolute poverty deprive one of—sunshine and fresh air.

Daily Hints for the Cook

DRIED APPLE CAKE. Take two cups of dried apples, stew just enough to cut easily, about six minutes as raisins, and boil in two cups of molasses; drain off the molasses for the cake; then add two eggs, half cup sugar, one cup sour milk, two teaspoons soda, one cup butter, four cups flour, mix and bake in a loaf pan for one hour. Put a spoonful of apples last thing.

HONEY DROP CAKES. Take one half cup of butter, one-half cup of sugar, and blend them; then add one cupful of strained honey, the beaten yolks of two eggs, three tablespoons of lemon juice, and the whites of two eggs beaten dry. Mix well, and add three cupfuls of flour and a half spoonful of soda. More flour may be added, if needed, and often is, for the dough should be stiff, so that it will drop by spoonfuls on a buttered baking-pan. Shape round and bake in a moderate oven about 15 minutes.

KATIE GRAHAM'S PUDDING. Mix together two and one-half cups of Graham flour, one cup of milk, one cup of molasses, and one cup of raisins, seeded; then add two eggs, half cup sugar, one cup of milk, and one cup of molasses, a pinch of salt and a half teaspoonful of ginger. Steam two hours and serve with hard sauce, a lemon as a garnish.

CRANBERRY TARTS. Cut rounds from flaky paste and fill each with a spoonful of cranberry jam. Put a spoonful of jam in the center of each round. Cut out small rounds from the paste to be used as covers, but retain them in place. Put a spoonful of cranberry jelly on the flaky rounds, brush the edge with cold water and press the puff-paste rounds above; dredge with granulated sugar and bake in a rather hot oven about 15 minutes.

FOR BALD HEADS

A Treatment That Costs Nothing if it Fails

I want you to try three large bottles of Rexall "30" Hair Tonic on my personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of my faith in this remedy, and it should undisputedly demonstrate that I know what I am talking about when I say that Rexall "30" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the scales closed and grown over, and the hair is dead.

Remember, I am making no statements upon what has been accomplished by the use of Rexall "30" Hair Tonic, and I have the right to assume that what it has done for the heads of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on my liberal guarantee. It costs nothing, and if it fails, it is never spoken of.

Mr. Spencer's Poem

To the Editor of Times.

Sir—No doubt the Times is sufficiently interested in the work of our local poet, Mr. Spencer, to publish the following extracts, and is richly entitled to the authorship of "A Hundred Years to Come," has appeared in the Query and Answer department of the New York Times, and in each case it has been stated that the author is William G. Brown, also that the poem may be found in Harper's British and American Poetry. The issue of this paper for January 29th last contains the entire poem. The first time the poem appeared your correspondent wrote the ruler stating that the poem was the author's, but for some reason this information was never inserted in the query column. Perhaps someone else would be interested in taking the matter up with the Times, in which case it is to be hoped he will be successful in obtaining honor for whom honor is due.
