

London Rejoices

How the News of the Relief of Ladysmith Was Received.

Scenes of Enthusiasm Have Never Been Equalled Before in Metropolis.

Irish Affairs—A Magistrate Murdered at Bantry—The Pope and Britain.

(Associated Press.)

London, March 3.—A duke, an earl, a peerage for Kitchener, and a peerage for Buller. Thus say the papers, already busy at this occupation, in the marvellous wave of enthusiasm which has swept over the country since the news of the relief of Ladysmith was received. The scenes accompanying this change equalled the wildest delight that ever rushed through the streets of London. In a certain extent they were quite unique.

The change that has come over the spirit of Great Britain is a dream, a dream of peace, a dream of joy, a dream of triumph. The scenes accompanying this change equalled the wildest delight that ever rushed through the streets of London. In a certain extent they were quite unique.

The characteristic of the British Race, yet it must be borne in mind that Great Britain had been sentimentally "bottled up" for so long that there was bound to be an outburst. Kimberley was relieved, and scarcely a stir was noticeable in this densely populated United Kingdom. Robert's by "excellent" strategy, caught General Buller in a vice and forced him to surrender, and the nation said "Well done."

It was still Napoleon's race of shopkeepers and clerks, and not of warriors. Ladysmith was relieved. Then came a desire to publicly exhibit rejoicing which would no longer be restrained. Some of the demonstrations quite outdid those of the people of Paris. It takes an effort of imagination to picture ordinary middle-class English girls marching in bands, singing and shouting and waving flags, but this is what occurred. About 1,000 male and female students of Kensington Art Schools, the girls, and wearing their modelling gowns, and the men, wearing their military uniforms, marched in bands, singing and shouting and waving flags, but this is what occurred.

Refused This Strange Band Admission. The knights of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, who had been invited to the banquet, refused to admit the "strange band" of students. The knights of the Order of St. Michael and St. George, who had been invited to the banquet, refused to admit the "strange band" of students.

A number of boys of the Westminster school demonstrated somewhat similarly in front of the offices of the Canadian High Commissioner and other colonial agents. The scenes after the battle of Waterloo, as described by the writers of that day, are as nothing to the scenes witnessed this week. The king came to the window almost unnoticed. Who cared for the dead except to sing their praises? The king came to the window almost unnoticed. Who cared for the dead except to sing their praises?

Intoxication of Victory. Coming after months of reverse, pervaded the length and breadth of the land. The cry of Great Britain's military weakness, the rottenness of her army organization, and the menacing acts of other powers, was stilled, and the tears of those who had become widowed or fatherless because of the great thing, were only too much more intense to the triumphant wargod.

Since the strife began, almost everyone has said "There is no doubt about the result, we are bound to win," but it was not until this week that a large percentage of people could actually convince themselves of the certainty of the phrase. Small wonder that the war is the sole topic of the week.

The recent murder of a land agent and magistrate named Baird, at Bantry, though failing to attract general interest, is held by the best informed to indicate a serious condition of Irish affairs.

The Standard, commenting on the affair, draws attention to the fact that Mr. Wm. O'Brien only a few days before the murder, inaugurated at Bantry a branch of the United Irish League, urging his audience to "get rid of landlordism," and referring enthusiastically to the example of the Boers, "who took down their guns."

The Standard denies the insinuation that Mr. O'Brien or the league actually instigated the murder, but it compares the occurrence to the course of the Gladstone League whose footstep Mr. Gladstone declared were "dogged with crime."

The Standard urges Mr. Balfour, chief secretary for Ireland, to reconsider his refusal to put the United League under the Ban of the Crimes Act, saying "sterner measures are now necessary. The sentiments of the Irish in parliament do not matter so much. What they say on the hillside is of serious importance."

The Morning Post takes similar views of the position. The Pope's attitude toward Great Britain and the British Catholics, and the attitude toward the war were interestingly exhibited at an influential meeting of the British Catholic Union this week, when the president, the Duke of Norfolk, read some correspondence exchanged between himself and Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state. The unionist requested the Duke of Norfolk to interrogate the Holy See in relation to the Anti-British Tone taken by Observatore Romano in commenting on the Boer war. The paper is supposed to be the Pope's official organ, receiving a financial subsidy from him. The Duke of Norfolk wrote: "To me it seems very grievous that an opportunity should be given to anyone to make the British people that the Holy See regards them with hostility or dislike. I cannot deny that an impression of this sort is creeping into the public mind. It is a matter of great importance that Catholics are in the minority in Great Britain. It will, we think, be admitted that in the freedom of our religion in the great question of education and in matters of religious observance, in matters of dress and sailors, etc."

Need Not Fear Comparison with other countries in which Catholics form the great majority. To this, Cardinal Rampolla cordially replied that the Observatore Romano had only a price of course as an official, and this was devoted to religious news, adding his refusal to accept the responsibility for any political views it might express, and declaring that "the Holy Father always cherished for England that lively special interest which he has already found many occasions of displaying," and that "as the vicar of the God of Peace, he desires nothing more earnestly than a cessation of actual state of things which costs the English so many victims."

Dominion Parliament

The Debate on the Canadian Contingent Still Dragging Its Weary Length Along.

Some of Sir Charles Tupper's Supporters Disapprove of Government's Action.

Ottawa, Feb. 29.—The debate on the appropriation of two million dollars for the expenses of the Canadian contingent sent to South Africa, holds the floor of the House of Commons. Some of the French members had an inauspicious start, and a couple of the speeches were considerably above the average in point of excellence. The discussion will go on next week, when the government's business is again taken up on Tuesday, and it is expected that the subject will be disposed of at that sitting.

Rev. Brooks Rotten Egged

The Zionite Apostle Meets With a Rough Reception in Bruce.

He Attacks Church Members and Clergymen and is Paid in Kind.

The Paisley Advocate of Feb. 22nd refers to Rev. Eugene Brooks, who is attracting as much attention there as he did upon the occasion of his visit to Victoria.

"Last Thursday evening Brangelina O'Connell, of Zion Tabernacle, Oshawa, Ontario, gave a series of meetings to propagate the doctrine of faith healing, and incidentally to induce his converts to take stock in the New Zionite Church, which is to be built on the shore of Lake Michigan, and which is expected by its promoters to depopulate Chicago, London and all the great commercial centres. Elder Brooks has a strong Yankee accent and has fairly good delivery."

"There were very few out on Thursday night, but those who were present reported that he was not very choice in his language, and on Sunday afternoon and evening there were a great many present in the Zionite Church, which is to be built on the shore of Lake Michigan, and which is expected by its promoters to depopulate Chicago, London and all the great commercial centres. Elder Brooks has a strong Yankee accent and has fairly good delivery."

The Tees Returns

How a Party of Railway Men Made on the Crest of an Avalanche.

Stomach Tees, which arrived from the North after a fast trip last night, had a small complement of passengers, but eleven in all. News was brought by him of the unique and startling adventure of the party, who were on the summit of the Tees, which was a very high mountain, and they were on the crest of an avalanche.
