Next to the excitement over temperance matters here is the great interest centering in St. Andrew's church affairs. The "organ question" has agitated that congregation for some time and, although those the forest medically the purished parties of the forest of mederalising the purished parties of the here is the great interest centering in St. Andrew's church affairs. The "organ question" has agitated that congregation for some time and, although those in favor of modernizing the musical portions of the services succeeded, some years ago, in having a fine organ placed in the church, those of its members who composed the anti organ party thought hymns a sin, chants an abominatiot and voluntaries a desceration. The congregation, by a good majority and after due debate, voted in favor of having voluntaries, but the elders ordered the precentor to keep the music down to some sober performances, both vocal and instrumental. The choir didn't like this and its best material followed the precentor into retirement. The matter of music has, therefore, divided the congregation into two parties, and really prevented an agreement as to who should succeed the late pastor, Rev. E. W. We are all much interested in the attempts that are being made by Rev. Mr. Crisp and Mr. D. G. Smith to keep things straight on the temperance question. Mr. Crisp holds that the Scott act is superior to the license act as a means of lessening the liquor traffic, and Mr. Smith takes the opposite view, but Mr. Crisp has been stepping somewhat over the lines of legitimate argument in the matter, and Mr. Smith has been pretty severely reprimanding him therefor.
