ONLY $100 WORTH OF CLOTHES EXEMPT
Passengers To U. S. From Europe Will Have To Pay Duty On All Wearing Apparel Over This Amount.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17.—Surveyor of the Port Jeremiah J. McCarthy has received instructions from the United States treasury department rigidly to enforce the law which allows transatlantic passengers to bring in but $100 worth of foreign-purchased goods. This law contemplates that the $100 worth of goods are brought ashore without the payment of customs duties and shall pertain only to personal costumes.

Passengers coming from European ports hitherto have been permitted to bring in trunks, bags and boxes which themselves are valuable, if purchased abroad, and are subject to duty. The receptacles under the new regulation, if purchased in Europe are to be charged under the customs laws in connection with the contents.

Asked if the new regulation was the result of the right examination of goods at New York, Mr. McCarthy replied that the instructions came directly to him from Washington.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE DISTRICT DIVISION
Newcastle, Oct. 15.—Kent, Northumberland District Division, S. of T., representing 14 divisions in those counties met here yesterday afternoon. D. W. P. Rev. R. H. Stavert in the chair; H. H. Stuart, secretary. G. W. P., E. P. Hennigar, of St. John, was present and assisted in deliberations.

Membership of the 14 divisions was found to be on September 30 about 615.

The committee on the state of the order—James Falconer, ex-sec., S. J. MacArthur, Sterling Wood and Frank Curran—brought in the following report, which was adopted and ordered sent to the province:

"We have examined the reports before us and find them correct. But we regret that the measure of growth, which we could desire, is somewhat wanting. We are pleased to note that in Kent county the number of licenses have been reduced by three in Richmond and none are granted in Harcourt. In Chatham the Scott Act is well enforced, and there seems to be a marked improvement. Many outsiders, we learn, who formerly went to Chatham for their liquor supply, now go to Newcastle. In Newcastle the Scott Act is not being enforced. Not for years has drunkenness been so much in evidence on the streets of Newcastle as at present."

The delegates were welcomed by James Falconer, Rev. R. H. Stavert presided.

The chairman said that when the churches stopped bickering over non-essential differences of creed and women turned their attention from bridge etc. to moral questions, the liquor traffic could easily be banished.

Rev. Dr. Constans had found Newcastle no temperance paradise as Scott Act towns had been represented to him in England. He was not satisfied with the present town council. They showed timidity. He hoped at the next election to see elected aldermen who would stand to their guns. Drinking conditions here were disgraceful. A change was needed badly.

Rev. S. J. MacArthur said that he had seen the Scott Act carried out but that was not in Newcastle. Drunkenness was frightfully rampant here. Conditions were worse during the last three months than in any other Maritime town. Evidently the people wanted this thing; although one of the aldermen who was now in a position to do a great deal towards suppressing the liquor traffic had had canvassed

WOMEN MISSIONARY WORK THE TOPIC

Speakers At Congregational Council At Boston Criticize Methods in Vogue At Present—City's Challenge.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 17.—All sections of the United States came in for searching criticism as to its method of carrying on home missionary work in the sessions today of the Congregational Home Missionary Society which contributed some of the more interesting and important of the sessions of the 14th triennial meeting of the national council of Congregational churches in the United States.

The leaders of local missionary work in every section and department made their reports and a wide variety of topics developed while many new and valuable suggestions for the extension and broadening of the work were brought out. Tonight the challenge of the modern city to the missionary was ably and eloquently treated by Rev. Henry Stiles Bradley, D. D., of Worcester and Rev. Charles Steidle, superintendent of the church and labor departments of the board of home missions of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. Hennigar gave an eloquent appeal in behalf of temperance divisions and legislation.

H. H. Stuart urged every voter to pay his taxes and qualify to cast his ballot next election. He said that as 325 died last April, fail to pay up and so miss their chances of influencing legislation.

LARGE CROWS FLOCK TO HEAR MR. BOOTH

Congregation at Main Street Baptist Church Hear Powerful Address on the Healing of the Blind Man.

A large and inspiring congregation awaited Mr. Booth's night as he entered the pulpit. The service was preceded by an uplifting praise service, in which some of the new and beautiful hymns of Mr. Booth's collection were sung.

Revs. B. H. Nobles and Dr. Hutchinson took part in the opening exercises. Mr. Booth announced as his text Matt. 20: 29-34. The theme of his sermon was the pathetic narrative of the two blind men whom Jesus healed while passing through Jericho.

Mr. Booth first read the narrative in its entirety. He said he liked to read the audience for the powerfully descriptive sermon which was to follow.

The sermon was expository in its character. He said he liked to read the narrative for the reason it holds the preacher to his text. The Gospel like the red thread which runs through all the verses of the British Navy binds the whole Bible together. If we want to understand the Bible we must read it as believers in Jesus. Apart from theology the narrative were telling illustrations of the power of Jesus Christ in blessing and saving men.

The narrative begins with a "Behold" word intended to arrest attention, to fix thoughts. Behold what! Two blind men. The loss of sight next to the loss of reason, is perhaps the most serious affliction a man can suffer. A man whose eyes are open is practically in possession of all the gifts of this and other worlds. He can see. What wonders present themselves to the vision of the man who has eyes to behold! Is there any man who has eyes to behold? Is there any man who is deprived of physical sight? There is, it is to be without spiritual vision.

To have eyes to see is to own everything. You can only hear half a mile, but you can see a hundred and fifty million miles.

Not only blind, but begging, were these two men. Blindness and begging do not always go together. One of the most distinguished lawyers in England today is blind. A man may be blind and yet be a most celebrated musician.

But in the moral and spiritual realm, blindness and begging are never separated. The man who is blind to the eternal realm of God's kingdom is a beggar, even though he be a millionaire. Why are people of the world always looking for a new sensation?

They are blind, and because they are blind they are beggars.

In a dramatic way, for which Mr. Booth is distinguished, he pictured the two men crying to Jesus for mercy. The proud Pharisees rebuked them. They did not like even to hear two blind men address Jesus as the Messiah. These men, however, were earnest. "Son of David, have mercy on us." It is always the earnest, sincere cry of the heart that causes the Son of God to stand still. That man rebuked, but Jesus said, "Some one appealed to me for mercy, where is he? I never allow any one to cry to me for mercy, but I will give it to him if he is earnest."

The point of the whole story was that these two blind men, even if they did not have their eyes, had their ears to stand still. That man who has left, got back the things they had lost.

That is one of the great principles upon which God works. What God requires of us is to repent. We have the power to do it and if we would be forgiven and saved we must do it.

Supper was then served. Mrs. D. R. Willet and Mrs. G. Wilford Campbell presided at the tables.

The hall was decorated for the occasion with bunting and colored lanterns to add much to the beauty of the scene.

CLUB EXECUTIVE ARRANGES MEETINGS

The resignation of J. N. Harvey as treasurer, was read and will be dealt with at the club meeting on Oct. 26th. President Agar said he was sure he would voice the feeling of the executive when he said that Mr. Harvey's departure would be a distinct loss to the Canadian Club and to the city.

He referred to Mr. Harvey's earnest work for the benefit of the club ever since it was organized.

Those present at yesterday's meeting were President M. E. Agar, Secretary H. A. Porter, Ald. Hayes, C. B. Allan, Geo. A. Henderson, Ex-Mayor Bullock, J. N. Harvey, D. R. Jack and A. M. Belding.

ST. JOHN MAN DEEPLY IMPRESSED

With Future of the Country, but Decides to Remain in the East.

H. A. Powell, K. C., who returned on Saturday from a trip to the Pacific coast taking in the western Canadian cities en route, speaks in glowing terms of the growth of the western country, a growth which must soon be duplicated in the eastern portion of Canada.

To a standard man yesterday he talked interestingly of his trip and of the great progress which he noticed all through the western country.

"This was not my first trip," said Mr. Powell, "I visited the west in 1902 and on that occasion spent five weeks there. That time I was in Victoria and all the leading towns west of Lake Superior and on this trip I could not but notice the great progress made in the country in the last eight years."

"The first thing which impressed me was the great improvement in the Canadian Pacific railway. It has been practically rebuilt from North Bay to Vancouver and is now a magnificent railway. The section from Fort William to Winnipeg had been beyond for miles has been doubled tracked and this portion is the equal of any road in America. It herring bones the southern portion of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. It has three transcontinental trunks daily, leaving Vancouver, one of which is by way of Moosejaw, St. Paul the Soo and Sudbury Junction. Its resources equal that of the government of Canada."

"The cities in the western country have grown enormously since I was last there. Fort William which in 1902 was a small town of about 2000 inhabitants is now quite a large city. Winnipeg, which in 1902 had a population of 45,000 today has nearly 50,000. Calgary which had 38,000 in 1902, is estimated to have 43,000. Vancouver which showed in 1902, 26,000, has today a population estimated at from 120,000 to 150,000."

"Vancouver's Growth."

"The growth of Vancouver is simply startling and the amount of business done there may be judged from the fact that the Royal Bank of Canada has in the city eight branches, the largest of which employs about 45 clerks. Calgary also is a beautiful city and its banking statistics indicate that much more business is done there than in either St. John or Halifax. Its bank clearings are much larger than in either of these cities, and I was informed by an influential member of the board of trade that it receives more than 500 commercial travellers."

"British Columbia notwithstanding its feverish spirit of speculation has more money deposited in its banks. It is said, than in any other province in the west, and of its monies is brought east of the Rockies."

"This seems to be some difference of opinion as to the future of the west. Mr. Powell said, 'At the present time the increase in side and importance is about the same in both cities, and it is difficult to tell which will outstrip the other. British Columbia is rich in forests, fisheries, minerals and mines, and has a cheap water power in unlimited quantities, and is, or will be, the great port for trade with the Orient. At present there is little manufacturing done, but enormous developments must be looked for in that line in the future. It is the chief, in fact I might say the only business city in the richest province of Canada—a province which has over $6,000,000 of public money in its banks. On the other hand I have not the support of the fast and rich agricultural country which supports Winnipeg."

In reference to the western farms Mr. Powell said that along the main line of the C. P. R. the agricultural development has not been so marked as in the parts of the Northwest. Still there is a great improvement. The irrigation schemes of the C. P. R. will be completed in about five years, and this will convert the red soil into productive ordinary farms. The irrigation of the Rockies into a great garden.

N. B. Men Wealthy.

Did you see any New Brunswick men in the west?

"Yes, a very large number, and they all seemed to be prosperous and full of faith in the future of the west. Of course one hears only of the successes, not of the failures of the west, but the number of men who have amassed fortunes is astonishing. One man who had been a farmer in Westmoreland county, and who returned to Vancouver four or five years ago, with little to the good when he got there showed me three bank deposits there aggregating over $40,000."

How is the money made there?

"As far as my information goes, the money is chiefly made through the increase in real property values. This applies to the cities and not to the prairie, or the lumbering or mining districts, although prices have advanced there greatly also."

"What about the crops? Did they not have a rather serious shortage this year?"

"In some parts of the country the crops were a failure, in others they were better than the average. Mr. MacArthur, the director of the government farm at Indian Head, Saskatchewan, told me that on his farm the wheat crop had been better than ever before." Some parts of the prairie will periodically suffer from drought, which have been laid broad and deep but the land is so productive ordinarily that the farmers can afford to lose a crop occasionally.

The railway development in the west is tremendous, is it not?

"Yes, the C. P. R. is now planning for another freight line through the Rockies by way of Norway House Pass. The route would have a lighter grade than the present one, and of course this would prove a great advantage in the haulage of heavy trains. The Canadian Northern and the G. T. P. are rushing their lines. In fact the whole country is becoming a network of railways."

West vs. East.

What about the belief that Vancouver and other Pacific ports of Canada might become a serious competitor with the Atlantic ports in the matter of grain shipments?

"This cannot be until the Panama
